As service in a contemporary world makes strenuous demands upon the members of this race, our campus community contributes to these demands in a very personal way. Our college yields men and women to service in positions great and small of leadership and of responsibility. Our campus contributes to each field of life from the factory to the battlefield, from the classroom to a defender of our nation’s freedom. Our students are serving from the quiet community at home to the foreign shores of battle in Vietnam. Our college and its students—past, present and future—have attempted and will continue to strive for supreme service in the campus community and the contemporary world.
As a year of service ends, there is one individual who will be remembered as the outstanding example of a service-oriented life. To this leader we proudly dedicate our yearbook, thanking him for his service as a husband and father, as a friend to the student body and as the President of Spring Arbor College. To you, Dr. David L. McKenna, we dedicate this Year of Service.

Dr. McKenna and Dean of Students, Mr. McRath, discuss athletics at a soccer meet.

Dr. McKenna and Student Council President, Allen Fisher, discuss future plans for Spring Arbor College, especially the proposed Science Building.
As Christ called his disciples to serve in the field, so our college calls its students to a dedication to Christ. As complete obedience to Christ compelled the disciples to the end of the world so on Spring Arbor's Campus complete submission and obedience to Christ's call will compel the student to areas of love and service in the campus community and the contemporary world.

Rev. James Mannocia, Fall S.E.W. speaker, and his family added to the spiritual growth of many Spring Arbor students.
To meet the need of the student to exchange and interact with ideas and concepts and to evolve with new courses of action, the service groups, clubs and organizations were created. These give the student opportunities for expression and fulfillment. These organizations provide opportunities for service in the campus life and in the community world. They also prepare us for service in today’s contemporary society.
COLLEGE LEADERS

PRESIDENT ALLEN FISHER

The President is in charge of planning and presiding at Student Council meetings and programs. He is responsible to the student body, faculty and administration. His job provides a means to serve the school and community.

VICE-PRESIDENT SHIRLEY ORT

The Vice-President serves in the absence of the President at meetings. She is the chairman of many committees, especially of the National Association of Evangelical Students.

SECRETARY LOIS BARNUM

The Secretary records business conducted at Student Council meetings. She serves by providing a permanent record of student matters which are available to each student upon request.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS

VICE-PRESIDENT SHIRLEY ORT

The Vice-President serves in the absence of the President at meetings. She is the chairman of many committees, especially of the National Association of Evangelical Students.

TREASURER CHARLES PAQUETTE

The Treasurer is responsible for Student Council funds. He directs the budgeting, collecting and spending of the students' money.

Sharon Meads explains her social life ideas to Judy Morris, Jan Moon and Chuck Webb.

The Leader's Retreat was held September 1-3 at Hayes State Park with the Student Council members assembling to discuss plans and hopes for the coming school year. It was a time of fun, fellowship and sharing of ideas with the goal of better service to the school and community during the college year.

A game of rhythm by Jan Moon, Shirley Ort, Barry Jackson and Dale Heimberger ends the night's activities.

Several committees meet for final plans.

The following day a picnic is planned.

Students and faculty join forces on Sunday for worship and dinner.

Who's Who" Announces Appointments

Editor Chuck Vincent

The Academic Affairs Committee has announced the following appointments:

- Dr. Delvin L. Covey in a conference with the
- Academic Affairs Committee

Seniors Retreated

About 30 seniors arrived at the Spring Arbor Park and Spa, after a few days' rest. The group welcomed warm, sunny weather, and enjoyed a walk through the park.

Fellowship Setting Plans

The Ministerial Fellowship of SAC is comprised of full-time students who are considering the ministry as a vocation. The purpose of the fellowship is to provide a supportive environment for spiritual growth, fellowship, and the sharing of experiences.

Letter To The Editor:

Dear Sir:

Spring Arbor College promises to help students learn from the best professors, but most often, students learn from the professors who are not as well known. This is a common occurrence, and it is a testament to the quality of education that students receive here.

The President's Corner

In the past, Student Council has been responsible for maintaining the Student Center, handling student issues, and addressing student concerns. However, the current Student Council is struggling to fulfill its responsibilities, and students are left feeling frustrated.

The Campus Council should take it upon itself to address these concerns and work towards improving the overall student experience.

Student Action Community, a volunteer Student Service Organization, provides some tangible opportunities for Spring Arbor students to become involved in the contemporary world. This involvement has three phases: the tutoring program, the juvenile home, and the Y.M.C.A. Students may tutor or act as teacher aids in several area schools; they may visit weekly the Jackson Juvenile Home, becoming a friend to one or more of the home's children; or they may aid the Y.M.C.A. recreational programs, providing wholesome activities for many Jackson youth.

The active questioning mind of the college student constantly searches for answers to the issues of life. On the Spring Arbor College campus these issues are faced squarely as the teaching faculty guide the student in his quest for truth and knowledge. The dedicated service of the faculty, administration and staff combine forces to create an intellectual tone worthy of academic attainment. With careful counseling and guidance, the faculty shape the minds of the students to meet the issues of life. The classroom instruction, the seminars and the mid-year program attempt to prepare the college student to think for himself in the high-pressured frantic pace of today's society.

The winning goal in the final seconds of the game causes bursts of cheers as the soccer players converge on the hero and coach as they head for the locker-room. The intense heat of excitement cause a chill up and down the spine as the ball is dribbled down center court. He shoots, a hush falls on the crowd as the ball teeters back and forth for that one agonizing moment and finally drops in with a swish determining the championship team. These thrilling moments of excitement and enthusiasm are the culmination of hours of intensive training and disciplined living. Whether in the heat and pressure of intercollegiate competition, or in the fun and frolic of the intramural games, this discipline prepares each participant for conscientious service in our contemporary world.

Coach McCrath surveys the field before the game.

Now, fellas . . .

Oh, who wants the ol' ball anyway!!

Now, follow your nose, guys.
TENNIS,

Wall seems to be having a few problems with the backhand swing.

That's one way to scrape the tennis racquet but good!

GOLF AND TRACK SERVE THE ATHLETE

Oh, but that pole tickles!

Don't laugh... have you ever tried it?

Only one problem—the ball is going backwards.

Part of the tennis team is seen in an afternoon practice.
INTRAMURAL ACTIVITIES

Women's Athletic Director Lucy Mikesell and Men's Athletic Director Ken McRuer.

Class athletic directors:—Seniors—Gary Baird and Pam Milnes, Juniors—Bruce Covey and Sue Snitzer and Freshmen—Jane Mawdesley and Shan Keller. Not pictured: Sophomores—Linda Woolard and Don Smith.

The well-rounded college student finds many opportunities for service in participating in the activities of social life. The All-School Retreat or class program gives him opportunities to be inventive and constructive. The banquets give a girl occasions to express her feminine talents of creativity. In the distant future these memories will return to remind us of the tempo of excitement and stimulation that the college atmosphere provides.
THE BEGINNING OF SERVICE

"Watch out for the Freshmen!" was the cry as they invaded the Spring Arbor campus this year. It was a well-founded cry too, for many a mutiny can crop up during an over-zealous initiation. But these can soon be curbed with the threat of future disaster at Kangaroo Kourt for any known Freshman heretic. Alas and alack—orientation and initiation were over too soon (to suit the Sophomores, that is.)

Spring Arbor welcomes the class of '71.

The pursuit of Excellence.

"Yes, Your Majesty."

The Urban Crisis was brought to the attention of Spring Arbor Students during the mid-year program. Amid the busy schedule of lectures and seminars the students discovered practical ways to make Christianity work in the inner city. Members of the community joined in reading the books The Secular City by Harvey Cox and Inasmuch by David Moberg and participated in the lectures and discussion groups.

Rev. Kelly's prudent remarks enlightened the searching minds of those participating in the seminar.

Mayor Cavanaugh enjoyed a few moments of relaxation before his keynote address.

S.A.C. students awaiting another inspiring and informative lecture.

Oh, Jack! Worms don't taste all that bad!

Where's the water barrel, fellas?

Who ever heard of putting a cherry in flour anyway?

Denny Rinehart and Elaine Mus- ger won the prize for the best cos­ tume. But who is which?

Awe, go ahead, Daryl. You're all wet anyway!

Ain't love grand!!
Shirley and Al are seen during an informal discussion with Len Houser as chief referee.

Dean McGrath is viewed by other faculty members as he examines the finer points of a bull whip.

The first prize goes to the Senior class!

The guys are seen during a football game.

Betty Jo McKinley and Jenny Lano are spending a moment resting before the next activity.

Pat White and Bruce Covey are all smiles as they look forward to the greatest retreat ever.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING

Santa adds cheer to the girls' Christmas party.

Christmas tradition is enjoyed by Linda Smith.

Spring Arbor students gather round for refreshments after decorating the tree in Lowell lounge.

The Snack Bar workers have a Christmas party together.

Merry Christmas, Mr. McCrath!

Students worked together in decorating the Student Union for Christmas.

Hold everything, girls! There are presents for everyone.

Every Christmas party must have music.

Linda, Virginia and Carol worked diligently in decorating the Student Union lobby.
WASHINGTON D. C.

Spring Arbor College's representatives to the Federal Service Seminar sponsored by the National Association of Evangelicals were Willy Davis, Ellen Brady, Sue Ellen Sautter, and Verlin Morningstar.

SPAIN

Lloydine Shreve, a senior from Spring Arbor College, is spending her senior year at the University of Valencia in Spain. The program, which includes a study of the language, literature, and history of the country, is sponsored by the University of Sacramento.

SWEETHEART

Awaiting the big moment—the announcement of the Sweetheart Princess.

Merv & Meela presented humorous, talented, and enjoyable entertainment.

Mike & Sherry await the opening of the banquet at the Punch Hour in the lounge.

BANQUET

Excited S.A. students in line for the annual Sweetheart Banquet.

The Sweetheart Banquet became a memorable occasion for Princess Judy Morris and Louie Diehl.

Beautiful decorations, entertaining music, and fond memories characterized a perfect evening for the Sweetheart Banquet. The announcement of Sweetheart Princess Judy Morris, pictures under the Sweetheart Tree, and a delicious meal combined to make the occasion complete.

The center of our academic life—Sayer Hall, Deen Hall, the E. P. Hart Chapel and the Smith Gymnasium.

The new Science Center, which is as yet only a blueprint, is designed to meet the specific needs that scientific advancement has created for Spring Arbor College and its larger community. It will offer the student the maximum benefits of recent scientific developments and enable him to bring his liberal arts knowledge to bear upon the social and moral questions raised by scientific inquiry.

Linda Wong and Regan Reich working on "Showboat" scenery.

Sharon Hibbard being honored for all her hard work behind the scenes.

One of the more pleasant days of the Student Council President.
Time, time, time; how quickly the year has passed! Academically, there were all those hours of homework (and relaxation) with necessary purchases at the Book Store (especially of those thick $12.50 history books) and then a quick walk to class on a rainy afternoon.

Walking back to the dormitory after class in an early snowfall in September.

Sheryl Houston is busy studying in the afternoon.

Class elections, like this one of the Seniors, were a frequent event.
C'EST LA VIE

From initiation to graduation the social events planned and unplanned make the year memorable.

"Sing along with Denny"

Everyone enjoyed the enthusiastic pep rallies.

Now all we need are two empty hangers.

I present to you Queen Jan.

Watch out, girls; Cecil is just around the corner. (below)

(above) Informal gatherings in the Snack Bar give relaxation to Spring Arbor students.

(below) Empty napkin holders might as well be used for something constructive!

Everyone say "cheese."
Tell us another funny one, Coach.

Dr. Covey and Janine discuss the strategy for the night’s game.

S.A. students cheer the soccer team to a victory.

GRADUATION DAY
It's a time for joy, a time for tears
A time we'll cherish through the years
We'll remember always, Graduation Day.

Though we leave in sorrow,
All the joys we've known
We can face tomorrow,
Knowing we'll never walk alone.

When the ivy walls are far behind,
No matter where our paths may wind,
We'll remember always, Graduation Day.

GOD'S ALTAR

There is in all the sons of men
A love that in the spirit dwells,
That panteth after things unseen,
And tidings of the future tells.
And God hath built his altar here
To keep this fire of faith alive,
And sent his priests in holy fear
To speak the truth—
for the truth to strive.

Ralph Waldo Emerson
1803–1882
COMMENCEMENT

Graduation... this special, looked-forward-to-day, marks the end of an era for you. Yet, it's also the commencement of new, often unknown horizons. For some, it means going on to higher educational levels, for others, the time to seek employment. As one of the largest electric and gas utilities in the United States, Consumers Power Company offers a wide variety of job opportunities. We are always looking for qualified personnel... the well-known "voice with a smile" to give our customers help and information—bright, outgoing, responsible persons to explain our many services—clerks and typists—outdoor jobs, planning and installing gas and electric service, reading meters, driving trucks— etc. Care to join us? If you do, please get in touch with our Division office in your city.
