FOREWARD

Warm weather is pushed aside and the fall of bronze, red and yellow leaves signify the glow of autumn. Winter wisps of fallen snow rearrange the landscape to new dimensions and shapes. Spring brings verdant colors and the taste of distant breezes. ----- The new and untried confront added dimensions. Here the realm of personal relationships expands to include a community of learners: a student body committed to interaction with civic affairs, teams alive in intramural and intercollegiate activities, and a board of administrators, faculty and staff concerned with the destiny of diverse personalities. The individual in his metamorphosis matures in his assumptions and goals through experience with rebirth in faith.

The S.H. Camp Foundation, Jackson, Michigan, provided funds for the new Health Center. Above, Forest I. Yeakey chairman of the Foundation speaks at its dedication during Homecoming weekend.

Dedication

Dimensions are the enormous blocks with which the world is built—dimensions of earth, of sky, of granite and of sea. Millions of years ago, God created them, and at the same time, developed the human spark, giving it the potential to work with those dimensions through the most mysterious and infinite—
THE DIMENSION OF A SOUL.

Not being a vestment for the eternal occasion to be shaken out and donned, the soul of a man is the living, God-inspired essence of his being. Though our faith in mankind as a whole may dwindle, contact with a soul in search of dimensions of God's proportions causes us to pause and declare—A Miracle!

The Hugh A. White Foundation, the merger of two souls of greatest dimensions, has presented to Spring Arbor College not only Dimensions of earth and of granite, but examples of in-fathomable extent of souls. Hugh and Edna White have added action to their interest in students and progress at Spring Arbor College. The result has been 33 years of membership on the Board of Trustees and 10 years of chairmanship to that organization. Fruits of their concern through giving are the Beta and Gamma wings of the Leroy M. Lowell residence halls, Hugh A. White Library, and continuous plans and enactment of campus development.

Because of your service, your gifts and the example you have given us to follow, we thank you and dedicate our Collected Dimensions of the year 1966-1967 to you, The Hugh A. White Foundation.

SPIRITUAL LIFE

As space and time encompass infinity and eternity, so does the soul of man possess a quality of magnitude and timelessness. Hours of a man's life are spent in the adventure of discovering his own soul, and meditating upon the revelation of a moment. How surprising when he first experiences for himself the knowledge that he can only know himself fully when he has considered his relationship to other men, and to the Creator of man, of space and of time.

As the minute seed of man is rooted and grounded in his Creator, through maturity man must branch outward and upward—to know himself and to touch the lives of others. Within man's soul, there develops an affinity to worship his Creator totally, extending to the breadth and length and height and depth of that Creator's being and personality. The ideal adventure of the soul must take place in an environment of academic and spiritual freedom, and among those of similar ambitions. Thoughtful concern and guidance from men and women we admire is often the key to our self-discovery. At Spring Arbor, one finds an atmosphere in which such an adventure is possible, is encouraged and often becomes the keystone of commitments for life.

STUDENT LIFE

To have a complete college experience, social life must be cultivated. Fathoms of memories are brought to mind of a passing year: a new friend, informal dinner conversation, the class program and all-school banquets. Kindling wood in a fire-place, cider and doughnuts in the crisp autumn air, the first winter snow, a skating party, and a corsage haunt the shadow of the past. A warm smile accompanied by an "I remember" radiates and revives the events of the days gone by.

Forward March! The command rang out as boot camp started on Spring Arbor Campus. The incoming Freshmen were quick to salute the Sophomore military officers. But the alert upper classmen reported the girls who forgot to wear a shoebox on their feet and boys who neglected to dress backwards, and the offenders appeared before Kangaroo Kourt to receive their penalties. The night of fun and frolic will long be remembered by the Freshmen, who, after passing the initiation tests, were welcomed as official members of Spring Arbor College.

"FLIBBERTYGIBBET"

Flibbertygibbet is an elfin character, from another world, who is given a last chance to be a helpful friend to a family of Scottish farm folk. He wins their confidence and begins working for them, but when Adam tries to pay him for his work, Flibbetty gets banished again. The warmth and magic of Flibbertygibbet has left its mark however and Adam finally sets out to search for him. After a long search, Flibberty is found and they return home. Flibbertygibbet cannot stay, however, unless all hearts are filled with love and kindness and the little girl, Nannie, is not willing to forgive Adam for his mistake.

When he feels he is not being accepted, Flibbertygibbet begins to be whirled away, but Nannie relents and brings him back to stay with them.

"It was a lucky day he happened on us. Where do you hail from?"

"Grandpop, you shouldn't let this go on. The child should learn to see things as they are."

It's Christmas at Spring Arbor

Christmas is a time to which we as Spring Arbor students look forward with keen anticipation. We love to see the bright red and green colors, the lights and tinsel on the trees, white snow falling to the ground and the sound of Christmas carols in the air. We love to see the new decorations on dormitory doors and windows. We love the parties, the programs and the preparation for a long vacation at home. We love the cheery greetings, friendly smiles, and the warm and happy feeling that keeps growing in our hearts. Yes, we love Christmas, but most of all we love the Christ of Christmas and the joy of hearing the story that never grows old.

ATHLETICS

The mind needs diversions from the onslaught of academic pressures. The enlargement of comprehension can be matched by the enlargement of physical abilities through athletics. With the challenge of tangible objects measured by time and distance, the athlete integrates mental ability from the classroom with physical prowess. Will power, competitiveness and stamina, the products of participation in sports, compliment the characteristics of the intellectual, social and spiritual identity.

Eat? Who could possibly eat!

It's me, I'm a princess! What a thrill for nine lucky girls as they were chosen to represent the true S.A.C. girl. This was just the beginning of a suspenseful weekend filled with cheerful greetings of old friends, lovely white gowns, graceful bows, and sparkling crowns. As the time drew near, Vic Stonehouse introduced each princess and each candidate, and with each introduction hearts pounded harder. "Who will it be—oh, I wish he'd hurry." At last the organ was sounded, the envelope opened, and the spotlight swept to—Fran Hall, our charming queen. Who could forget her look as she turned—her face and crown aglow to greet her school. It was the perfect end to a perfect weekend.

Miss Getsinger, 1965 Homecoming Queen, gave Miss Hall queenly advice before she added the crowning touch.

Basketball

The Bluejays of this year provided some thrilling and exciting basketball for the fans. The team consisting of four seniors, one junior, one sophomore and four promising freshmen played hard in every game. The four seniors playing their last year of college ball were Rocky Kent, Steve Robbins, Mike Dapprich and Gary Myers.

One of the highlights of the season came when Rocky Kent scored his 2000th point of his four-year career in an easy victory over Fort Wayne Bible College.

Cross Country Set New Records

The 1966 cross country team, composed of six freshmen, one sophomore and one junior compiled an 11-3 (78%) won-lost record in dual meets.

The three losses came at the hands of Wheaton College, University of Michigan, and Aquinas College. Against all competition, the harriers won 34 and lost 15 for a 70% winning combination. Among the 15 losses were such powers as University of Toronto, University of Michigan, University of Pittsburgh and Wheaton College.

Jim Sugg finished as the Number 1 runner for the team compiling only 10 points for the season. Jim set the Spring Arbor record at 20:23 breaking Barry May's 1964 record of 20:37. Bob Crocker was the Number 2 runner with 17 points and the second best time of 20:24, also breaking the record. Don Reed was the Number 3 runner with 21 points and a 21:09 time which ranks him the seventh on the list. Don Cowles finished as the Number 4 runner with 32 points and a fine time of 21:38. Sam Nichols was the Number 5 runner and turned a 22:54. Three freshmen, Steve Hughes, Mike Martin and Dick Boyle rounded out the squad in that order. Hughes has shown real promise with a 23:20 time, having never run before in cross country or track. Congratulations to a great team!

Baseball

The Bluejay baseball team this year is built around six solid ball players. Playing together for the fourth straight year are four seniors, who at one time during their careers have all been on the All-State NAIA team. They are third baseman Gary Myers, shortstop Mike Dapprich, second baseman Steve Robbins and first baseman Rocky Kent. Add to this sophomore catcher Nick Smith, and you have one of the best infields in the state. Centerfielder Gary Owen, who is on the current All-State NAIA team, gives the team added strength in the outfield.

ORGANIZATIONS

All forms of nature, whether immeasurable or microscopic, follow structure, order and organization. Man has shaped his life on similar patterns, and consequently nations, states and communities are carefully structured and often made up of a variety of organizations which serve the greatest number of people and meet the most outstanding needs of the community. Spring Arbor College, itself a community, is no exception. It is made up of a number of organizations, some with national affiliations, and others arising out of the interests of the student body. It is the attempt of each organization to meet a community need, allow the expression of a talent, or to engage students in an interaction of ideas and activities.

The ECHO
Staff

In an attempt to measure the scope of Spring Arbor College, I have discovered that there is much that cannot be measured. How can I even begin to measure the worth of a staff member who stays up late hours, a friend who steps in to write last minute copy, a photographer who takes that just right picture, an advisor who gives a word of encouragement, or a person who cares enough to pray. These seemingly little things all combine to make a yearbook what it is. I express my sincere appreciation and give a prayer of thankfulness and praise for those individuals who have helped me in my efforts to measure the year 1966-1967.

WSAE

WSAE from the campus of Spring Arbor College broadcasts five days per week in an effort to serve the campus and surrounding community. We at WSAE strive to serve these needs by broadcasting the highest quality programs possible, including such programming as some of the away basketball games and a top quality news source for our listeners. It is with deep appreciation for our college that we endeavor to express the Spring Arbor Concept by accenting involvement in the Liberal Arts; serving our campus and surrounding community as critical participants in the radio world and by reflecting in all of our broadcasting the resultant standards from our commitment to the redemptive love of Jesus Christ.

ACADEMIC LIFE

The Spring Arbor Experience encompasses all the dimensions of learning. Besides the fundamental acquisition of facts, the students are brought in direct contact with a world which once seemed black and white, but now is viewed from different perspectives, causing the student to search for his own answers to truths. The scope and range of the mind is widened as the student begins to think critically and to apply coherently the information from the classroom. The professors, admired for their deep concern in the development of the individual student, are not stagnant in their learning process, but share with the students the challenges and questions of today.

Students Learn in Washington, D.C.

Mr. Carey holds a briefing session for the Washington trip. Hey! Do we really have to know all that?

With happy but anxious hearts, Mr. Ralph Carey and seven students, Ken Smith, Dee Smith, Walt Sevon, Jim Secord, Pat Pifer, Elizabeth Morris and Pat Hughes, spent the week of February 13-17 at a Seminar on Federal Service in Washington, D.C. Monday was used as a day of sightseeing with Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday filled with planned activities including visits to the White House, Supreme Court, Capitol, Civil Service Commission, Executive Offices, State Department and the Library of Congress.

A deep sense of thankfulness was felt by all as the Appalachian Mountains were seen in the early morning with the sun sparkling upon the snow-covered peaks and then the Lincoln and Washington Memorials seen in the late hours of the evening. Love for an infinite and perfect God and pride in being an American were felt as a tired group returned to Spring Arbor to resume a new semester of studies.

Ken Smith, Walt Sevon, Pat Hughes, Elizabeth Morris, Dee Smith, Pat Pifer and Mr. Carey ready to leave for Washington. Will they all fit?

Yes, they made it and took a picture to prove it to everybody. Dee Smith, Walt Sevon, Pat Hughes, Ken Smith, Elizabeth Morris, Jim Secord, Pat Pifer.

Behind the Scenes: A Capable Staff

Although the "do-it-yourself" interest is at its height today, a college student can be thankful that he is not responsible for the upkeep and services of the institution. The hospitality and efficiency of the kitchen, secretarial, health, and maintenance staffs not only keep Spring Arbor running smoothly but also provide an excellent home away from home. A friendly smile, a short line and fast service, a tidy lounge, and Linda's "sure wonder pills" become a necessary part of college's hustle-bustle world.

A student patient, Rick Muselman, talks to Dr. Bruce Davenport, M.D., Director of Student Health Services.

Senior Retreat

Seniors abandoned their inhibitions for a retreat of fun and fellowship at Angola State Park on September 24-26.

Cycling, horseback riding, tennis, canoeing, hiking, volleyball, co-ed softball, football, a hayride and capture the flag offered a variety to suit everyone's interest.

Sunday's activities of worship unified the class through thoughts from Dr. McKenna, the sacrament of communion and a time of sharing around the fireplace.

Further excitement was added when Vic Stonehouse held the group spellbound in the suspense of his narration, a cast presented a humorous version of Julius Caesar, and delinquent girls were thrown into the lake. Other contributions were class president David Sorenson's overturned canoe in the middle of the lake and the advisors' wholehearted participation.

*I love thy Church, O God!
Her walls before thee stand,
Dear as the apple of thine eye,
And graven on thy hand.*

*For her my tears shall fall,
For her my prayers ascend,
To her my cares and toils be given,
Till toils and cares shall end.*

*Beyond my highest joy
I prize her heav'nly ways,
Her sweet communion, solemn vows,
Her hymns of love and praise.*

Thoughts

from the

Year

When I think of the wisdom and scope of His plan I fall down on my knees and pray to the Father of all the great family of God . . . that out of His glorious, unlimited resources He will give you the mighty inner strengthening of His Holy Spirit.

May your roots go down deep into the soil of God's marvelous love; and may you be able to feel and understand, as all God's children should, how long, how wide, how deep, and how high his love really is; and to experience this love for yourselves (though it is so great that you will never see the end of it, or fully know or understand it). And so at last you will be filled up with God Himself.

Now glory be to God Who by His mighty power at work within us is able to do far more than we would ever dare to ask or even dream of, infinitely beyond our highest prayers, desires, thoughts, or hopes.
