In Loving Dedication

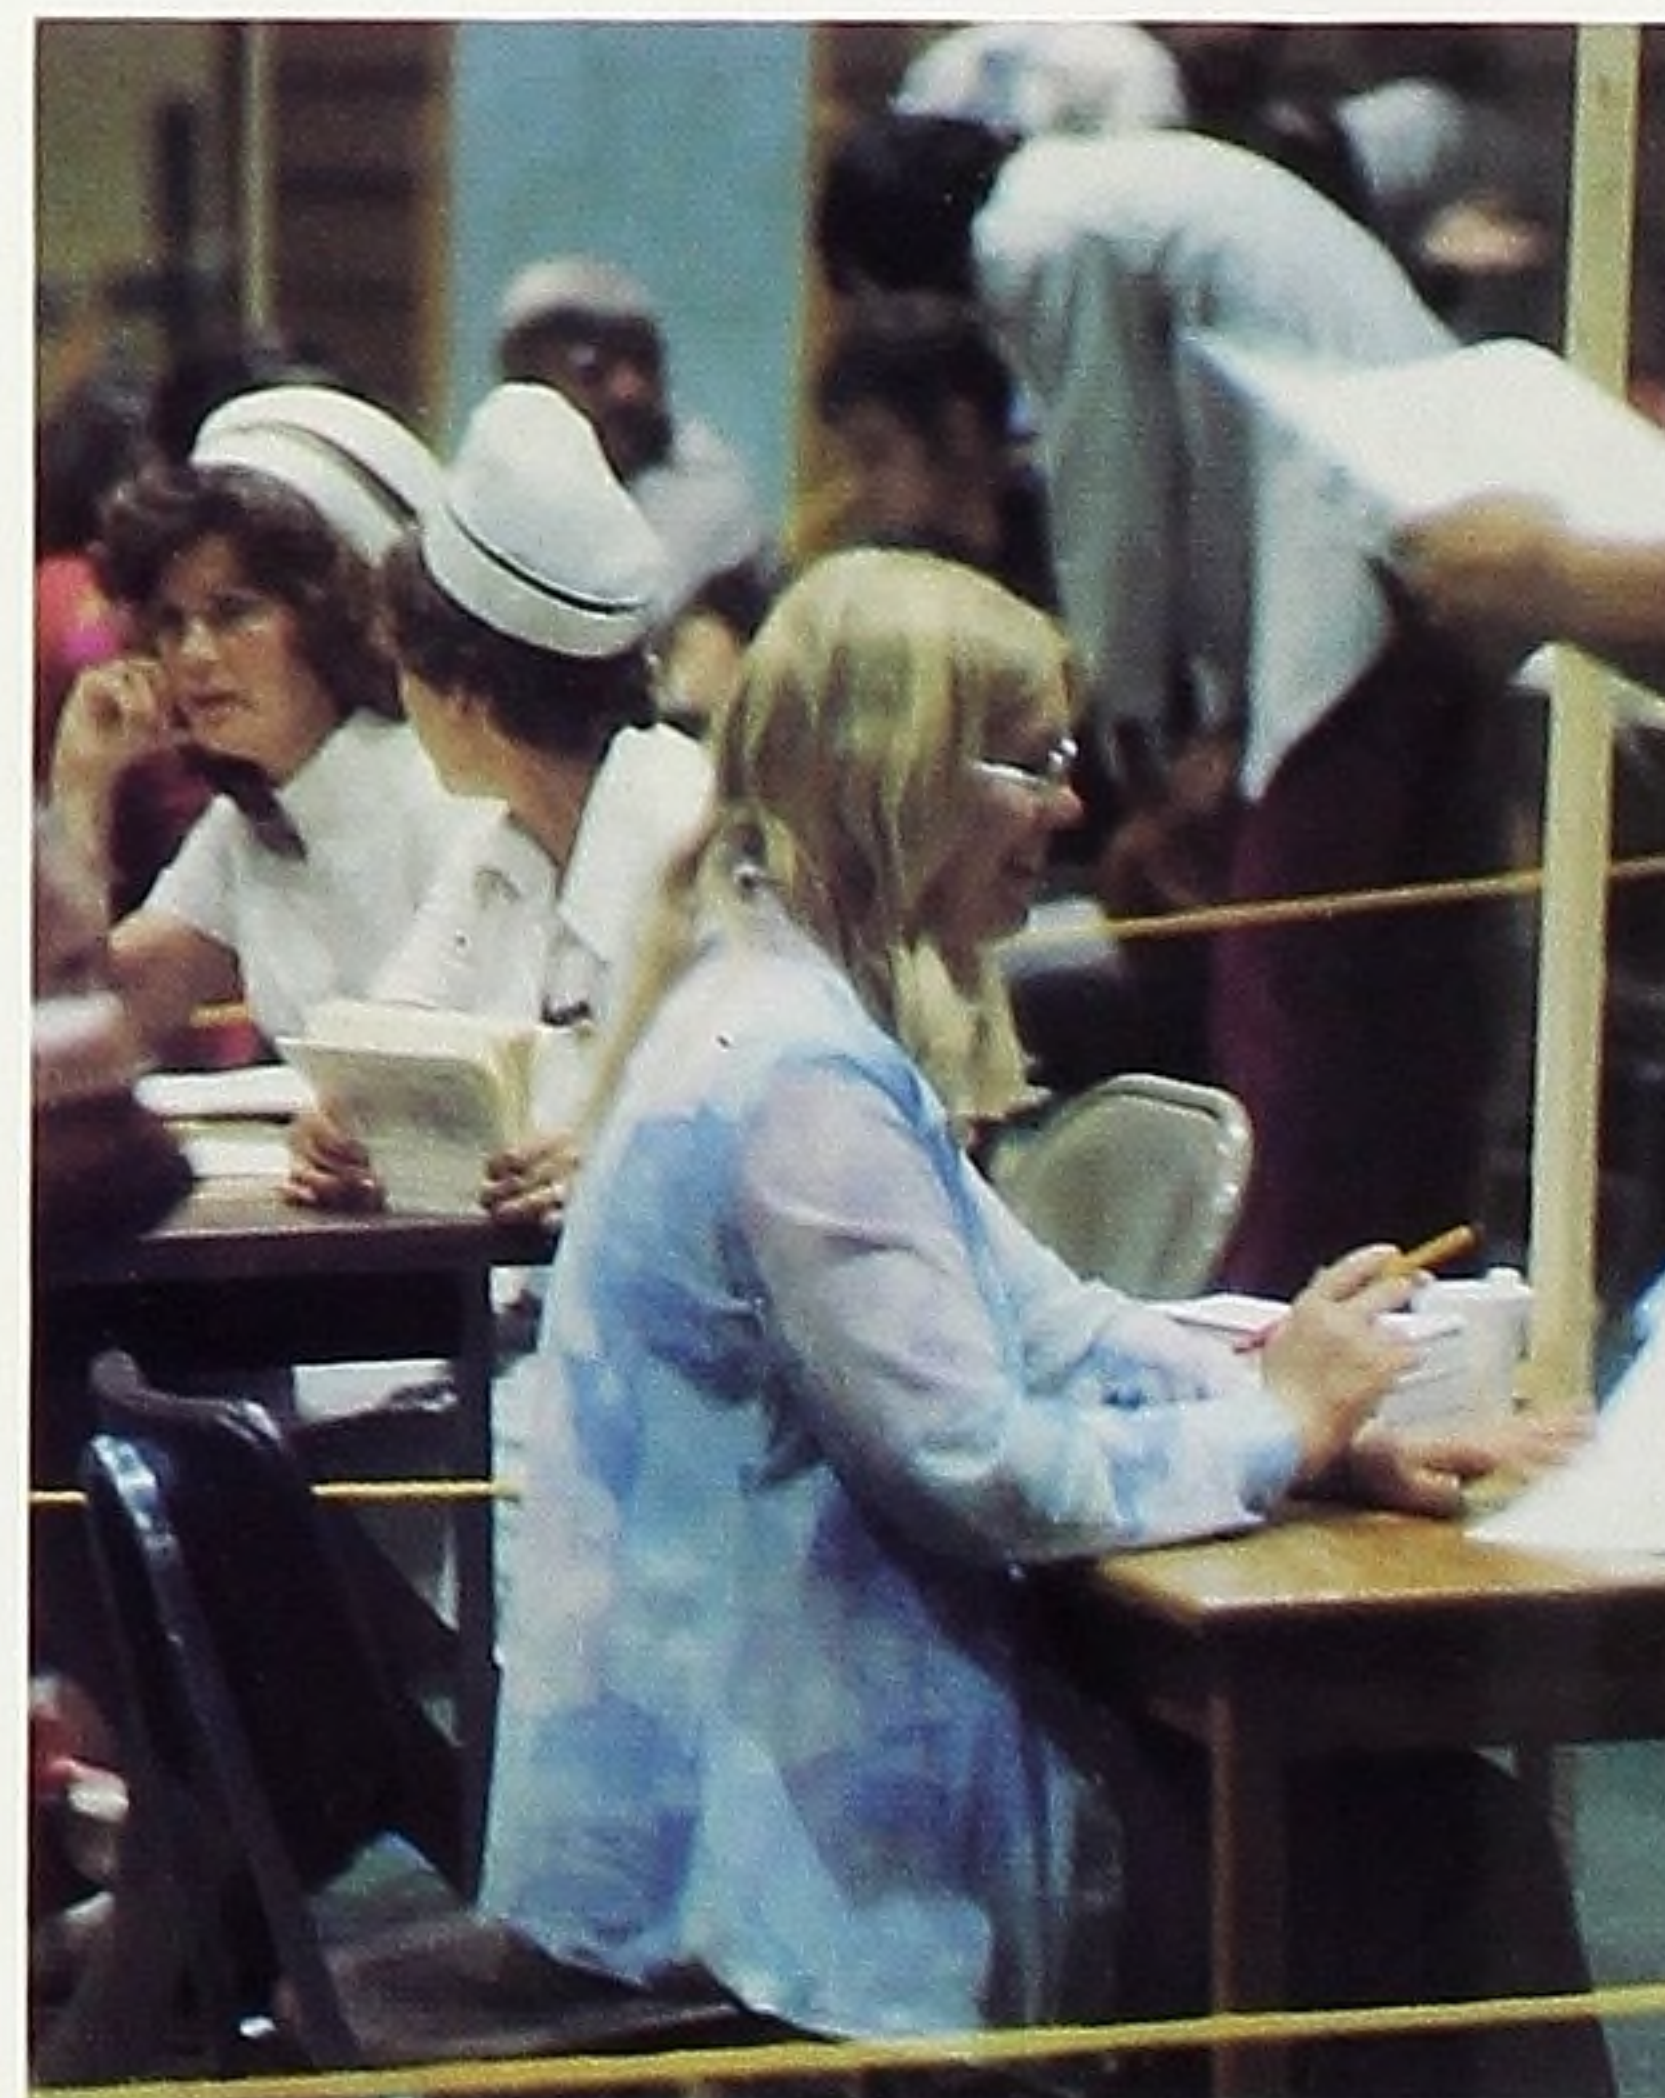

To express our deep appreciation to a well-loved teacher, we dedicate the 1977 Echo to Dr. Ralph Thompson. Dr. Thompson has been a part of Spring Arbor since 1964 and during his time here has proved to be a blessing to all who have come in contact with him. His whole life has been dedicated to the Lord's work. He pastored two churches in New York State before becoming a missionary to the Dominican Republic and then to the Mexican mission in Arizona.

Dr. Thompson taught at Taylor University at two different times, in between which, he earned his Masters and Th.D. from Northern Baptist Institute in Chicago. He and Claribel have three sons, Carl, Stanley, and William. The Thompsons enjoy gardening and travelling. For several years, during interim, it has been their custom to host the Holy Land tour sponsored by the college.

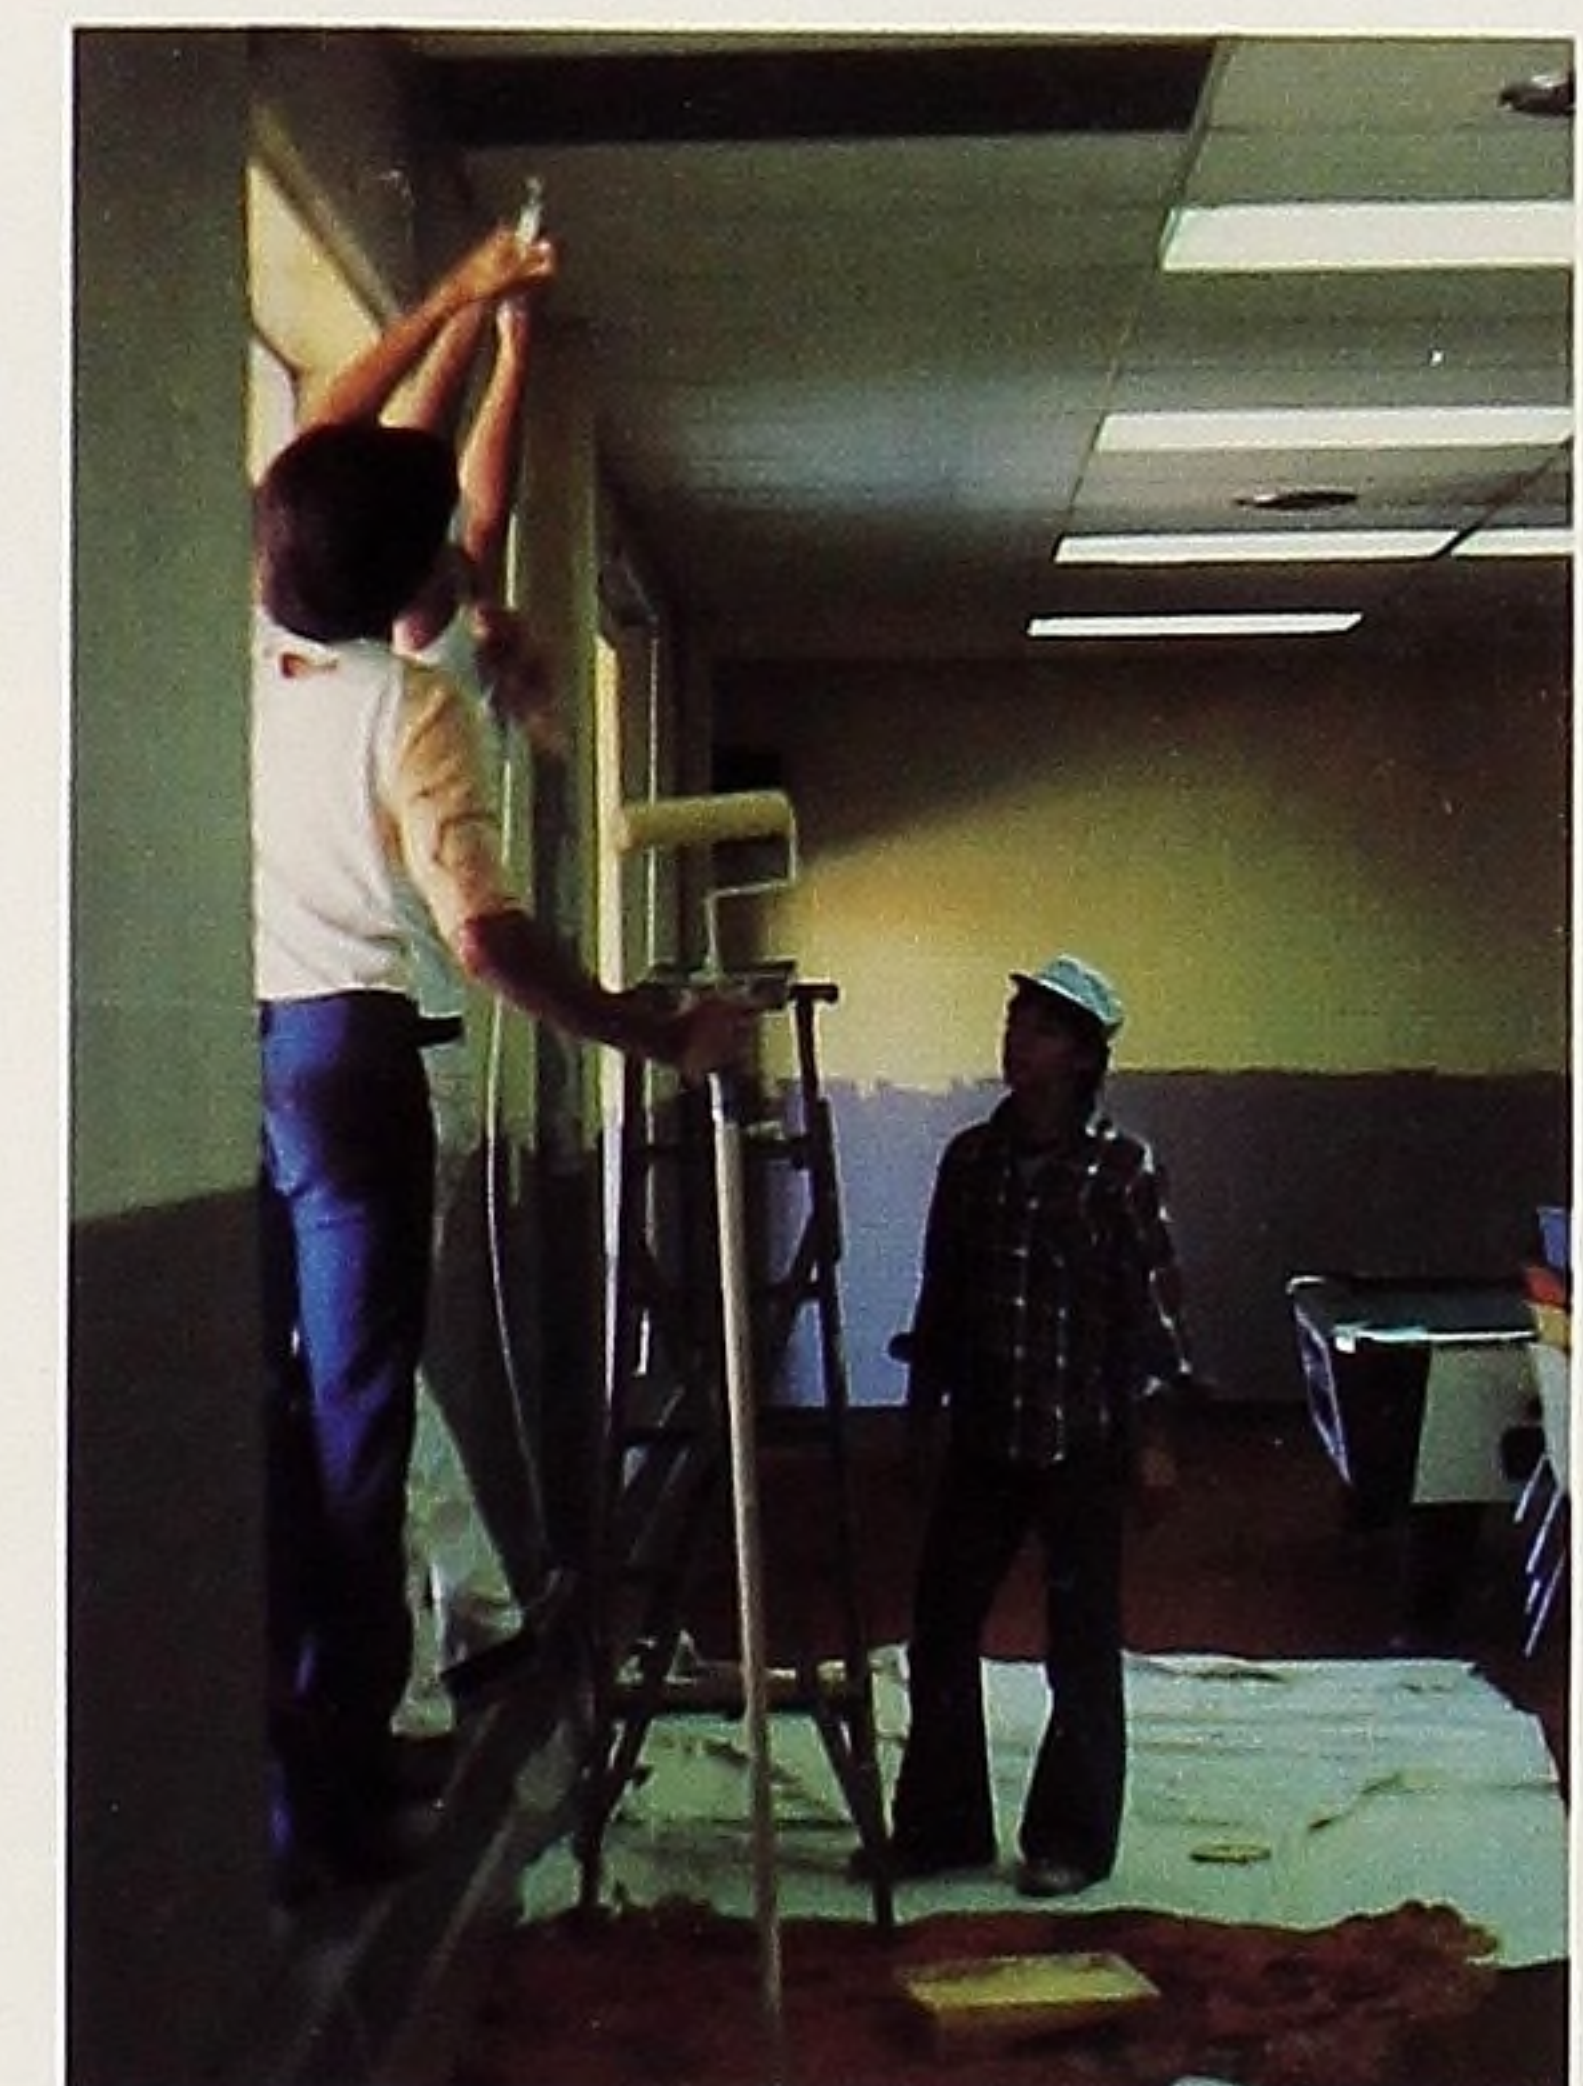

He has been given numerous honors. They include Phi Delta Kappa, Directory of American Scholars, Who's Who in the Midwest, and the Presidency of the Wesleyan Theological Society. It's an honor for Spring Arbor College to have Dr. Thompson direct our Philosophy-Religion Department. It is with much love and respect that we dedicate this book to him.

The registration line took on a new look this year as the computer and the fieldhouse were incorporated into the proceedings for the first time. This proved to be only the beginning of the changes which were to occur, as was soon seen in the gameroom. Its new image was brought about by the hard work of the Cabinet and Union Board members.

New Directions . . .

A spirit of unity was established early in the year largely due to the two fall retreats. The All-School Retreat was reinstated after an absence of several years. It involved a turning back to nature as canoeing, hiking, and outdoor games were enjoyed. It also was a time for informal communication between faculty, administration, staff, and students.

The Spiritual Life Retreat was a great time of refreshment for the soul as a number of the students went north. The highlights focused on the singing and teachings in the lodge, but the nature hike, volleyball, and softball games also contributed to the spirit of kinship.

Through Friendship . . .

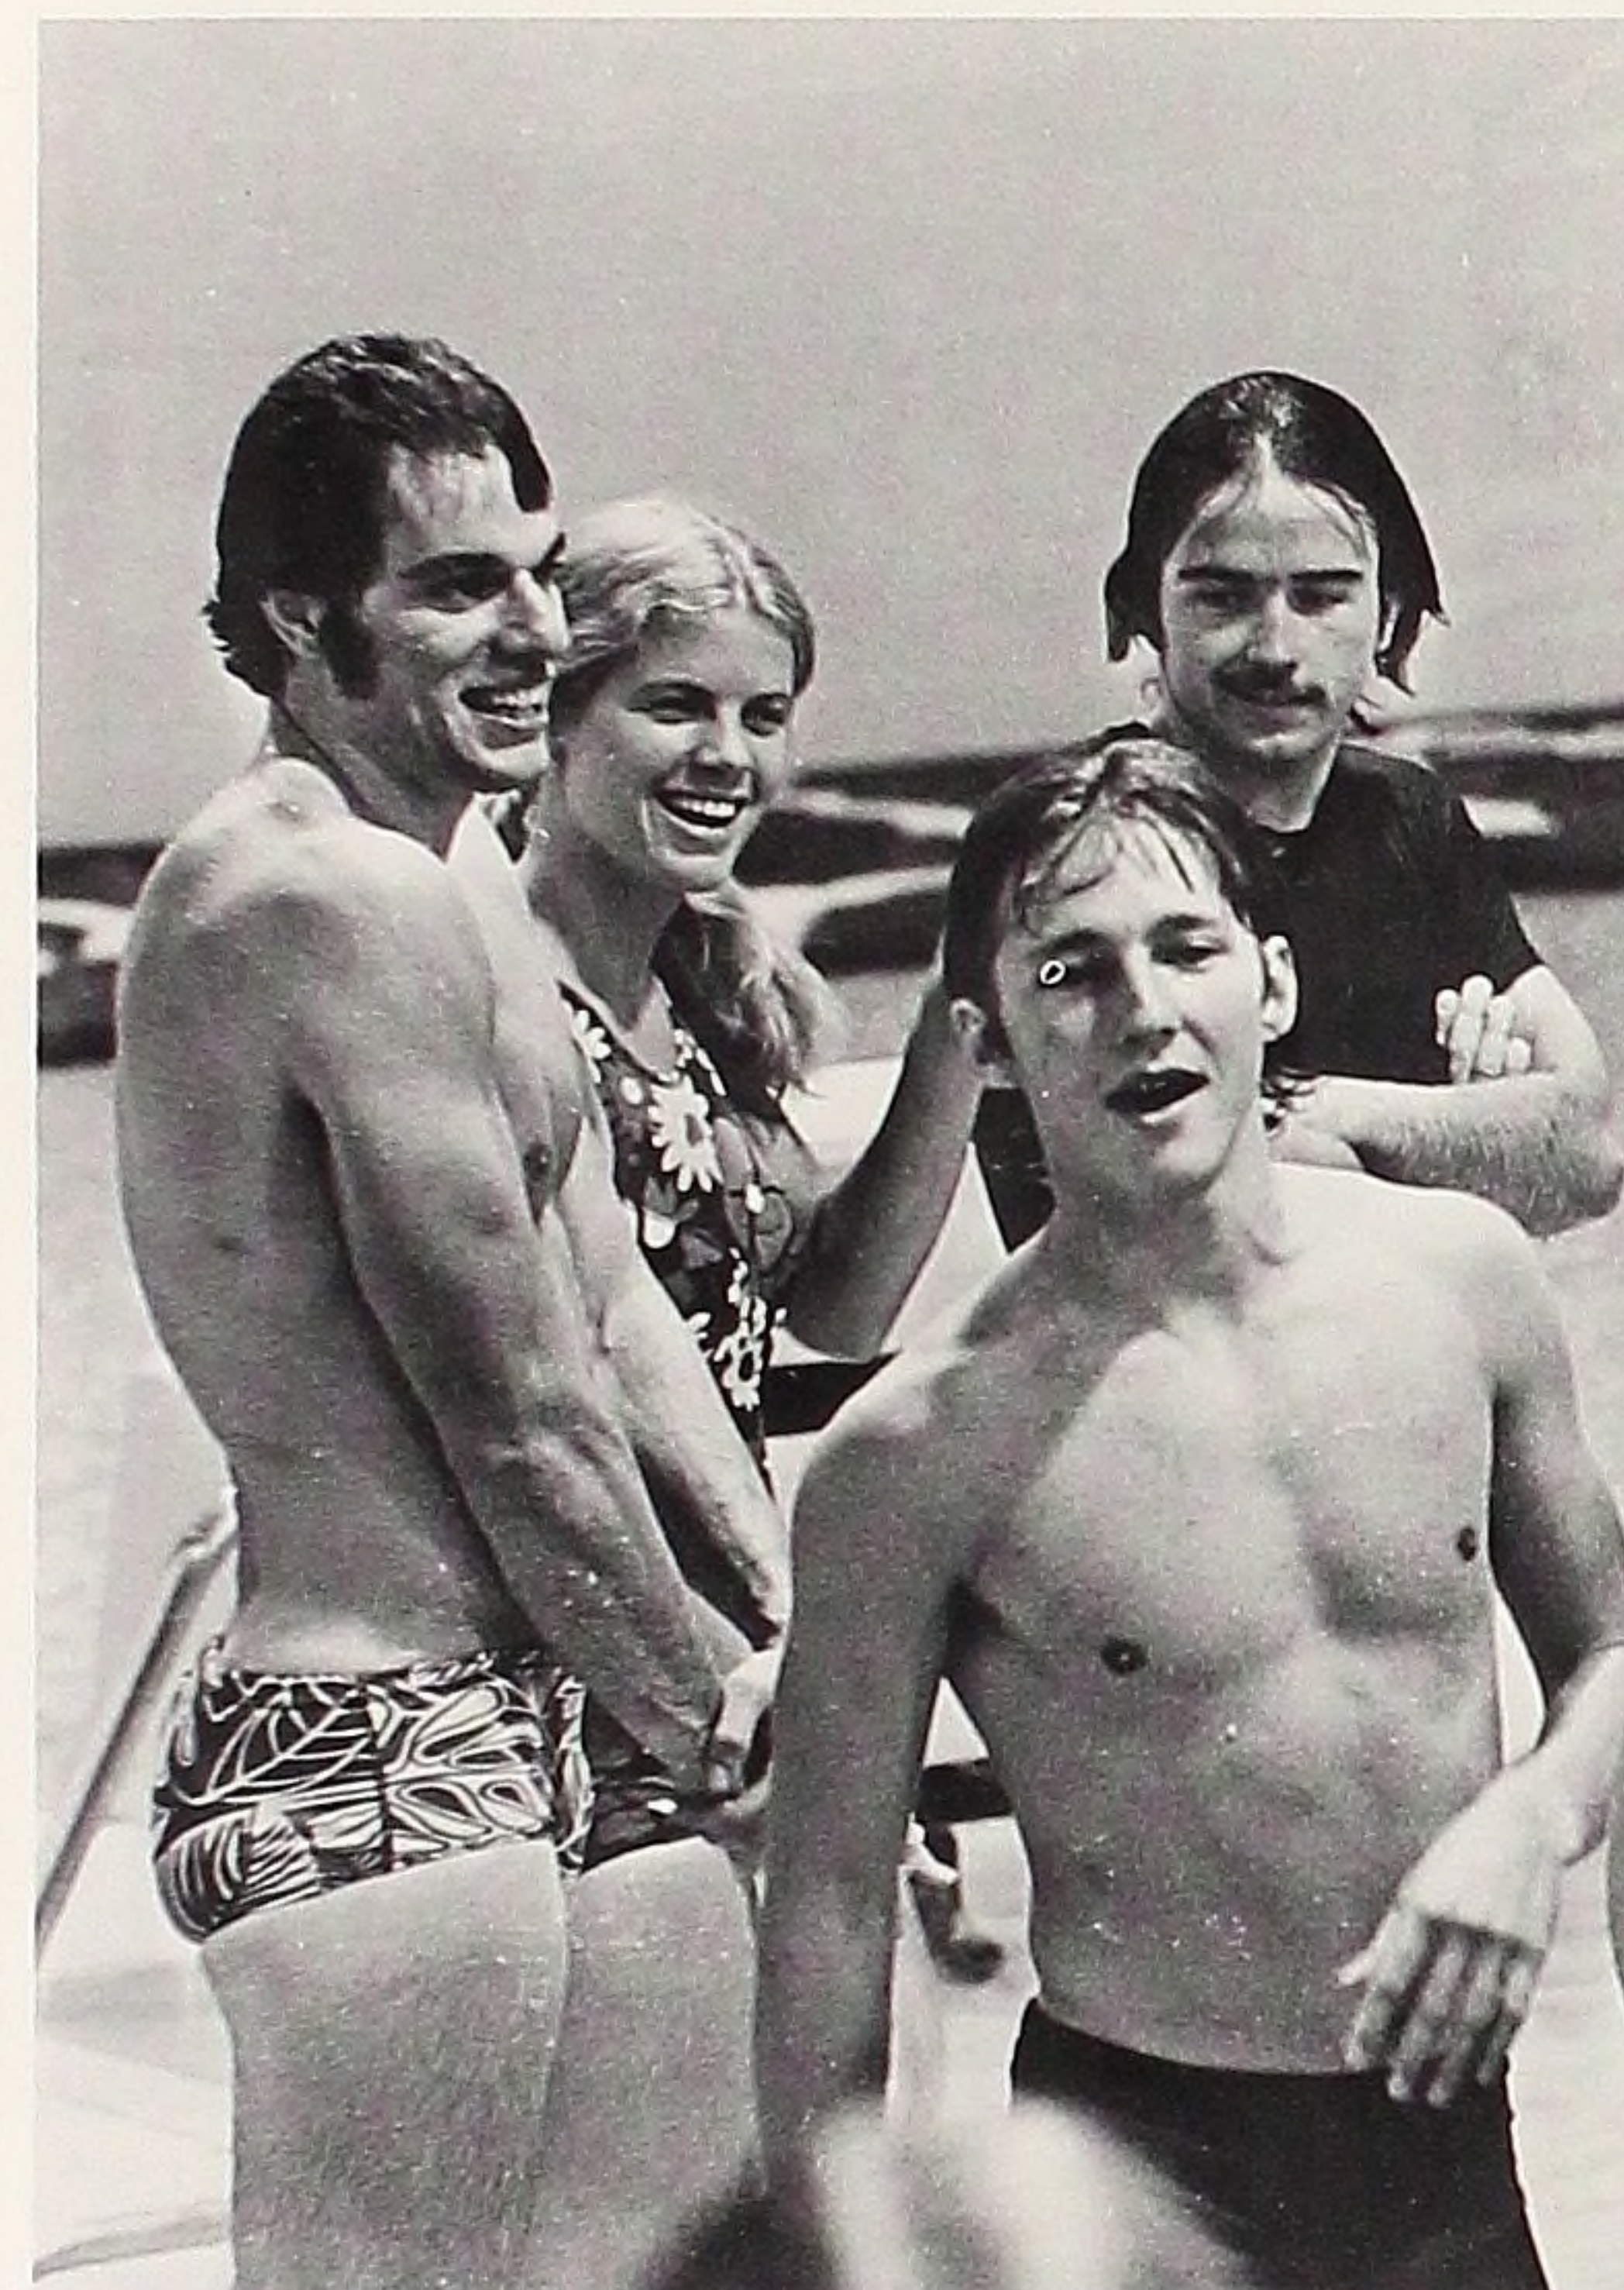

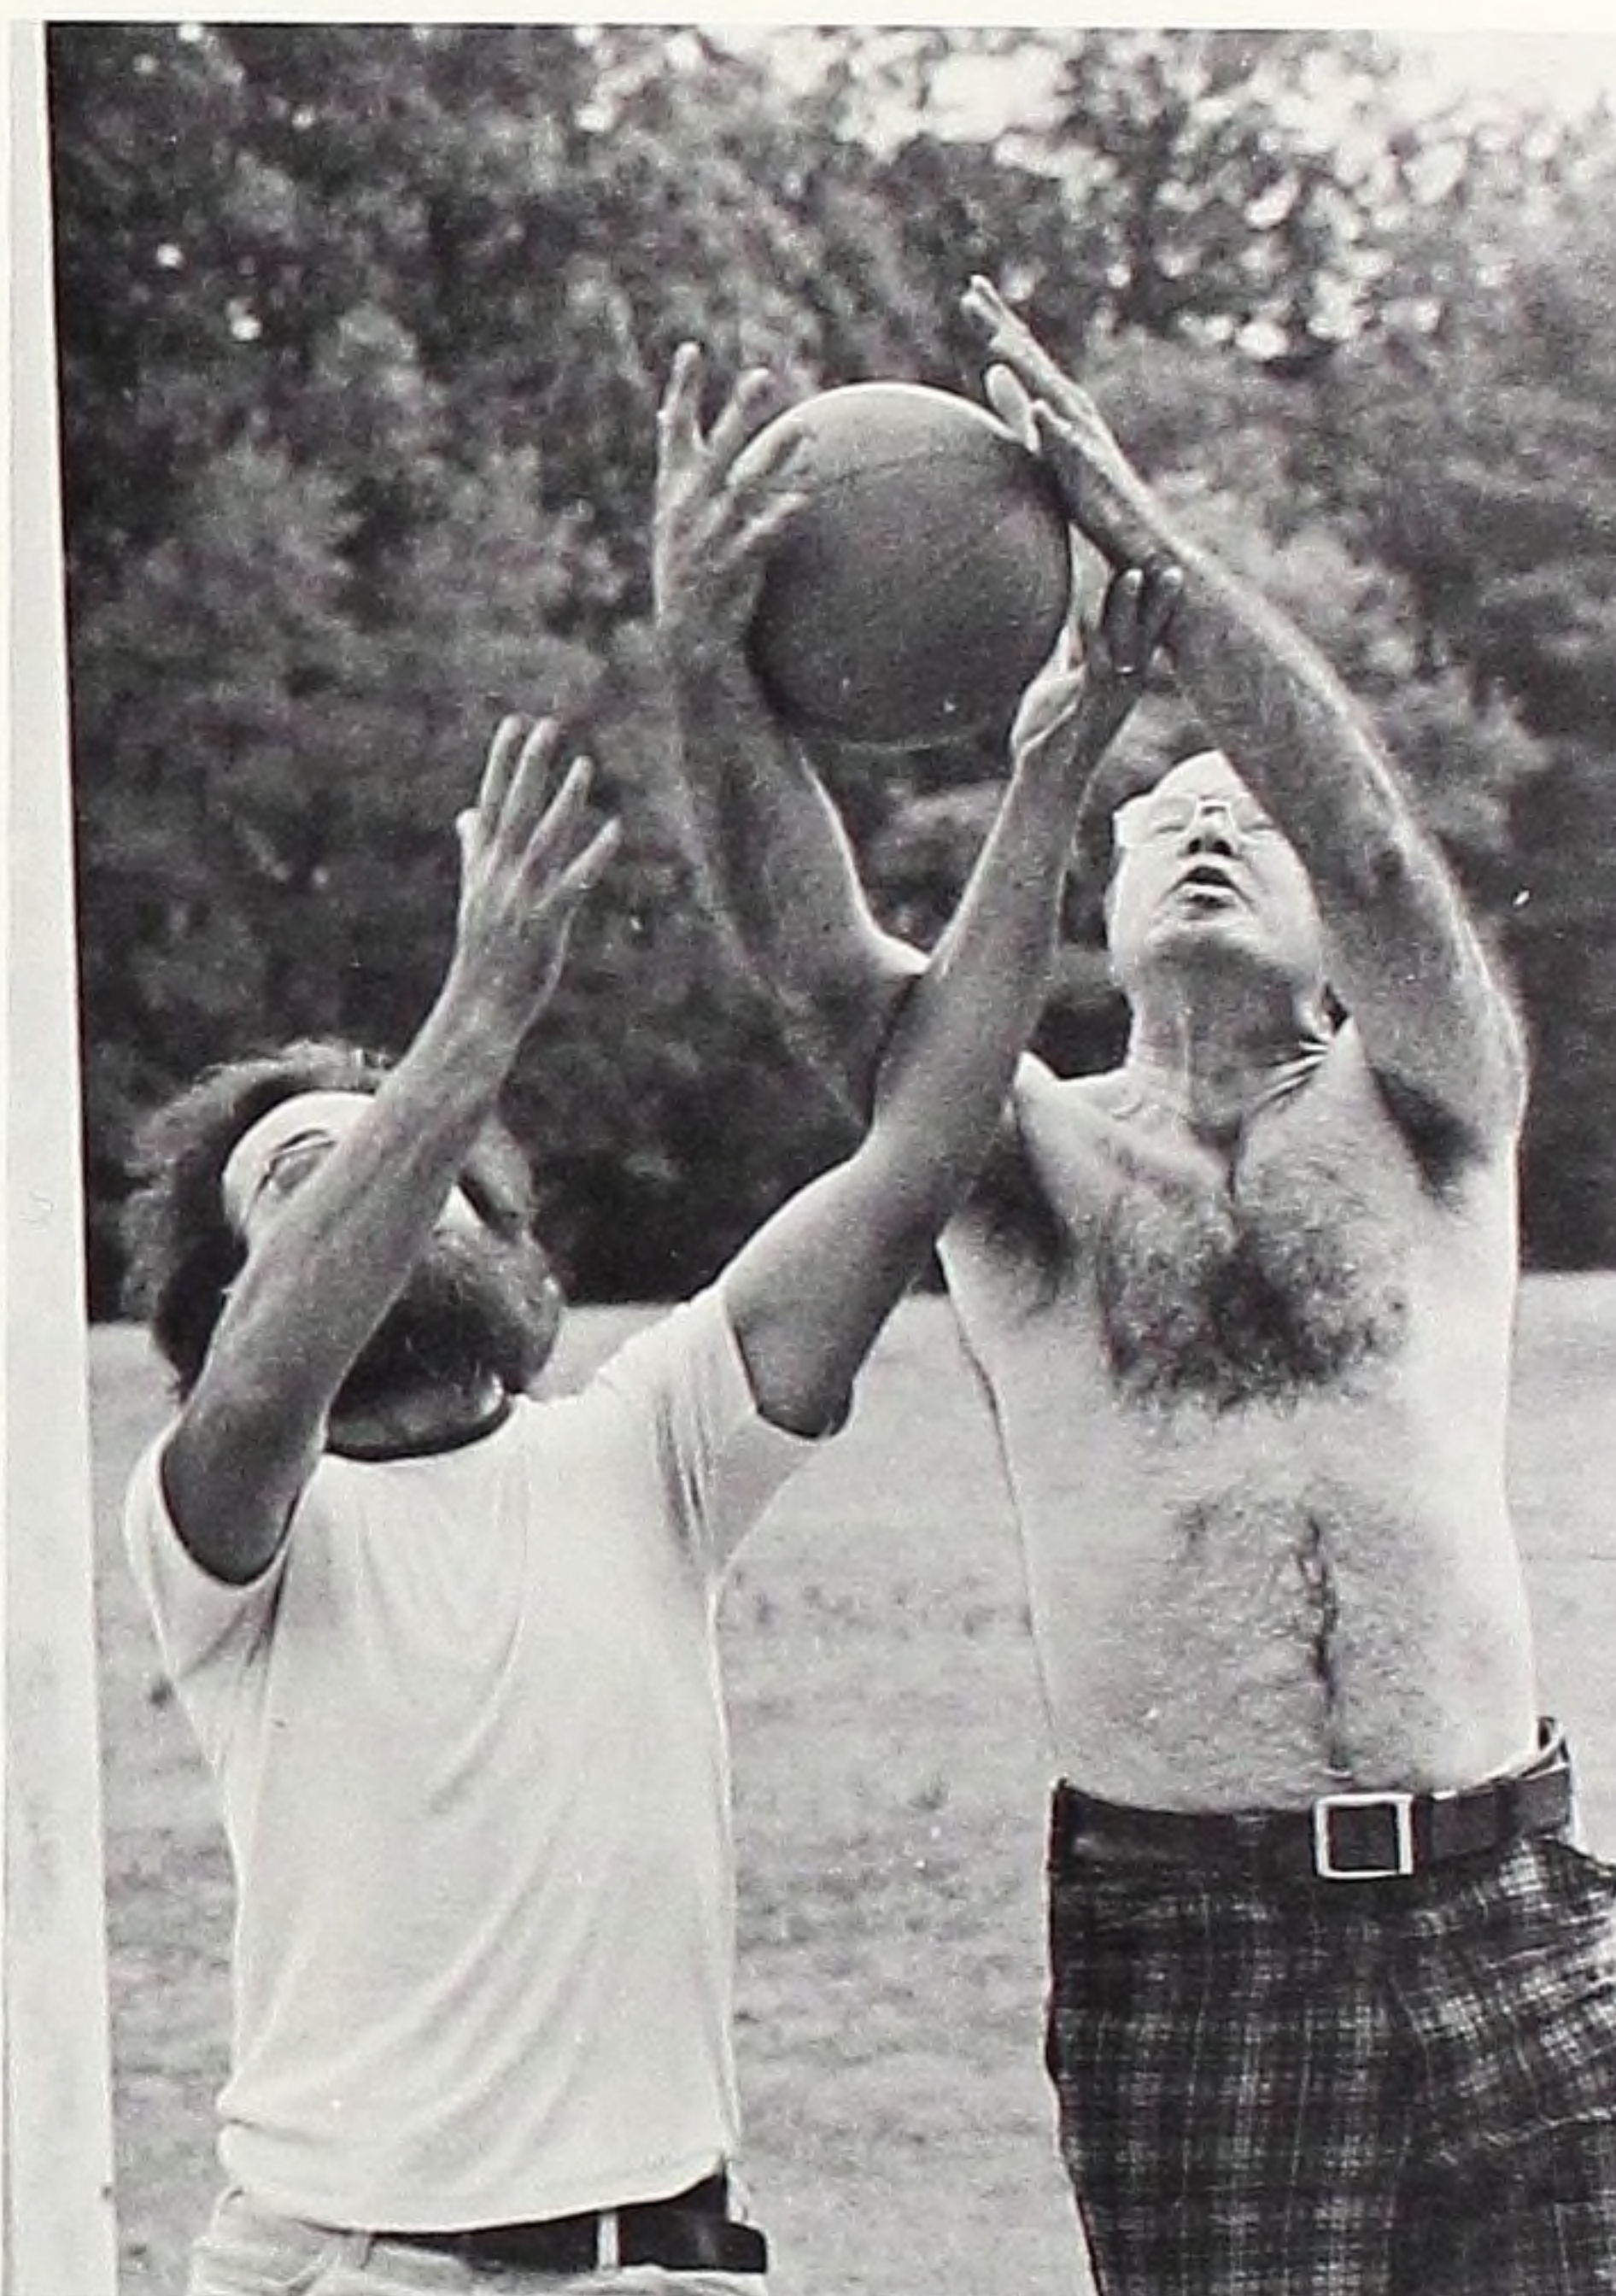

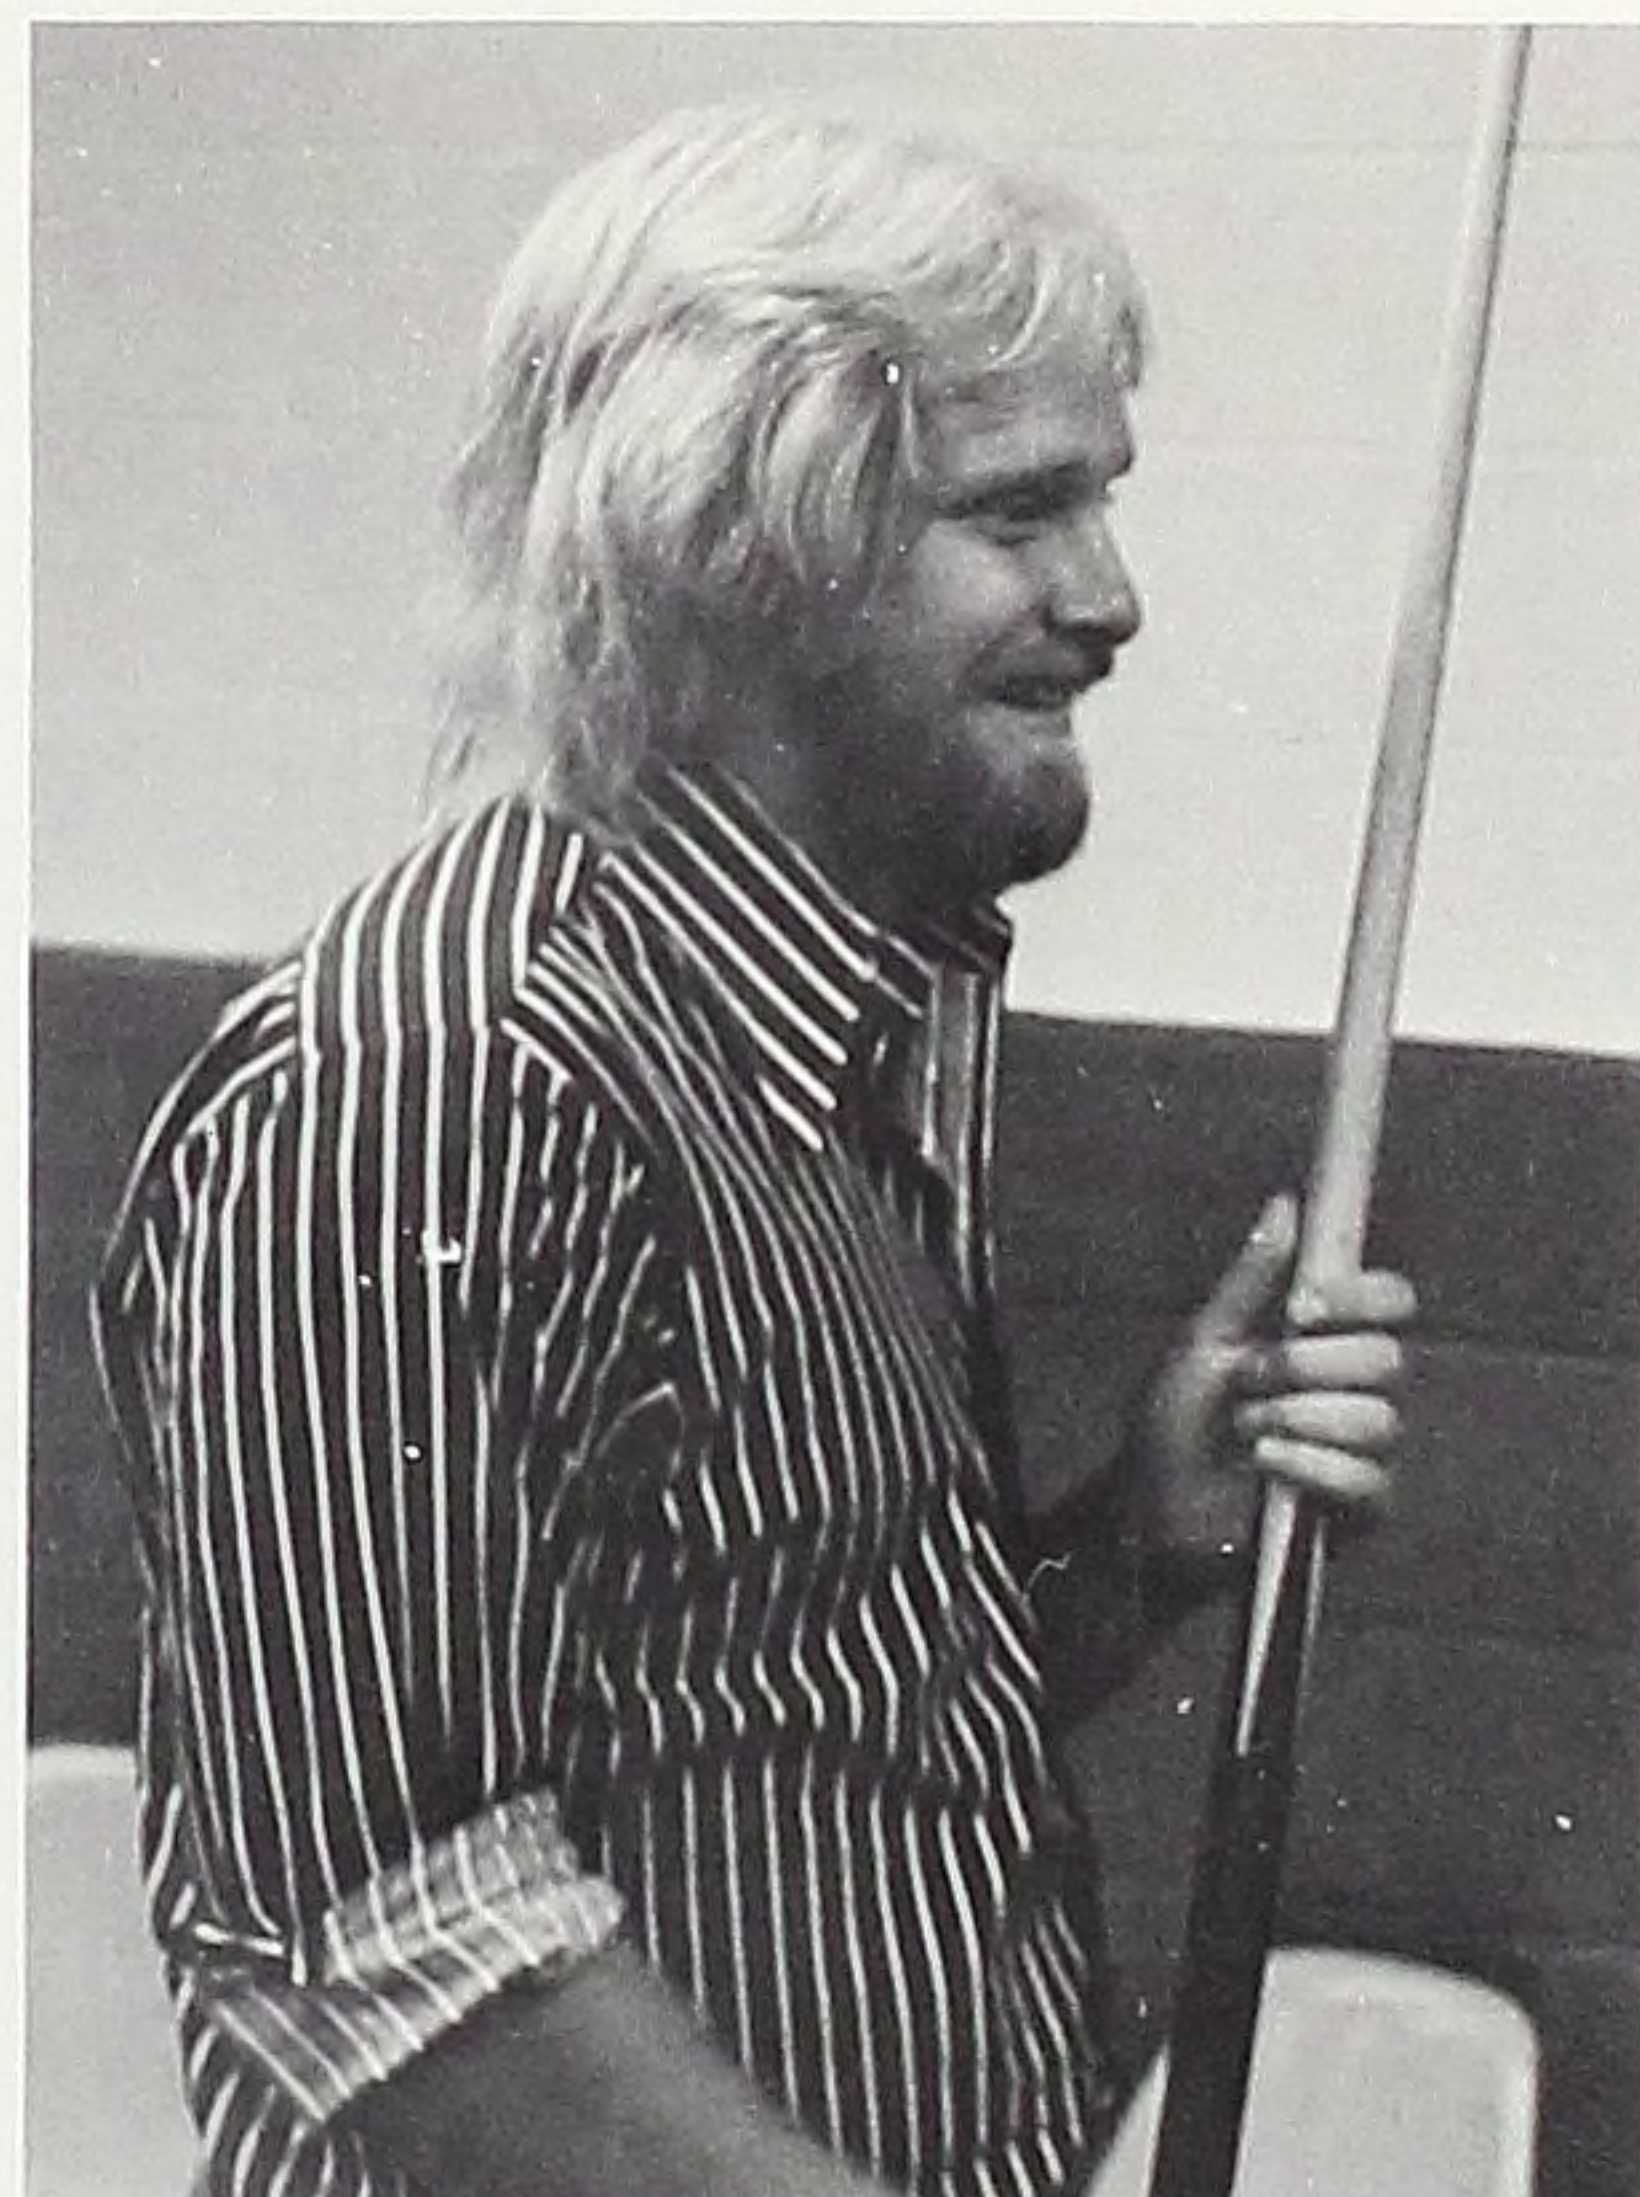

... From Meditation ...

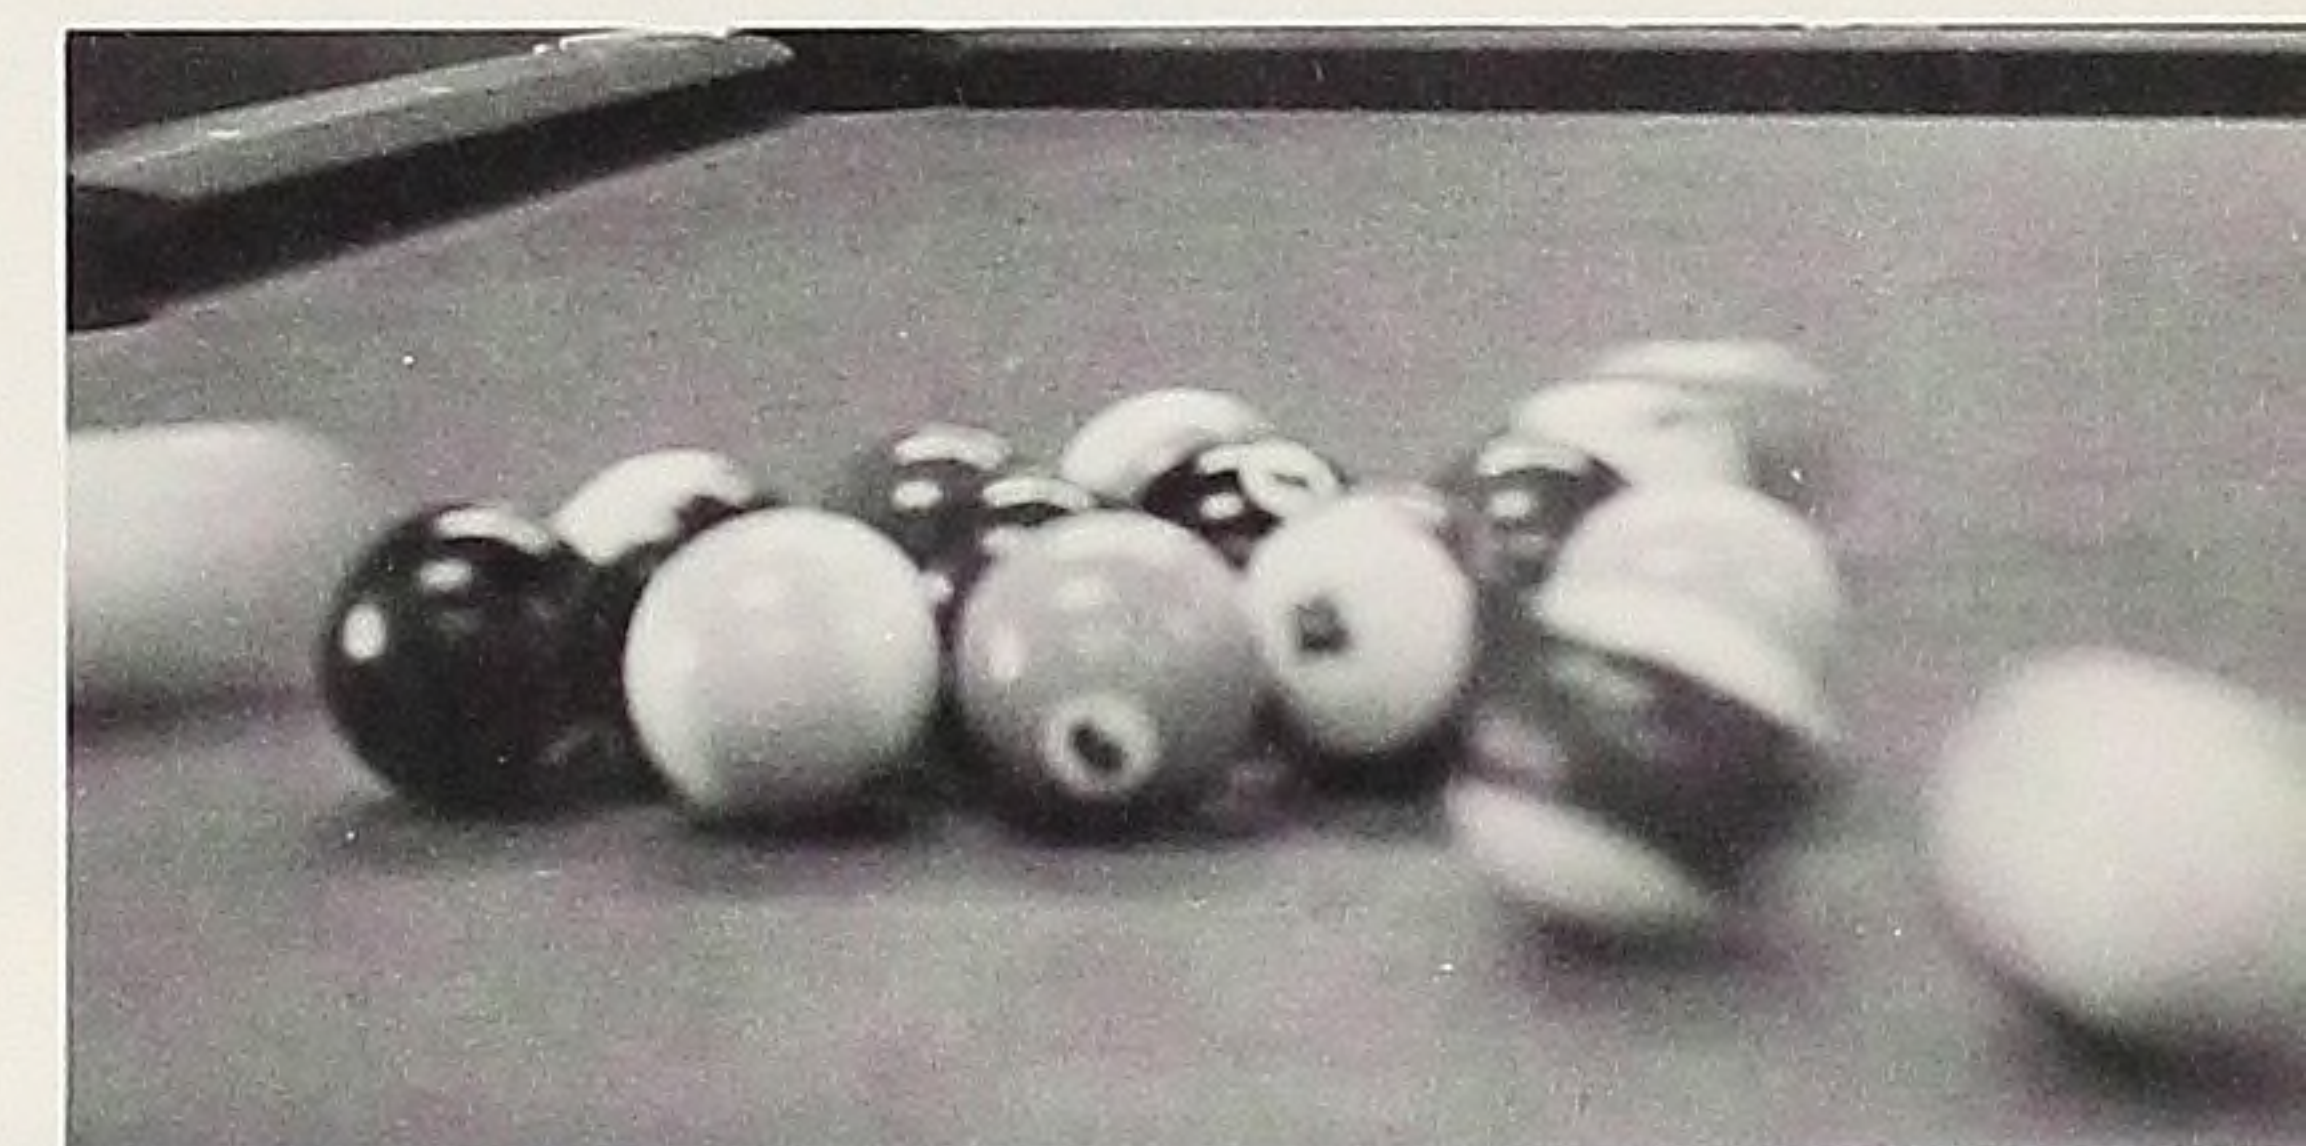

Though the schedule gets hectic, every individual must take time out to be alone, to meditate, to let God speak to him from the surrounding quietness. From this silence, God's awesome presence can be felt, and the meaning of existence is close at hand.

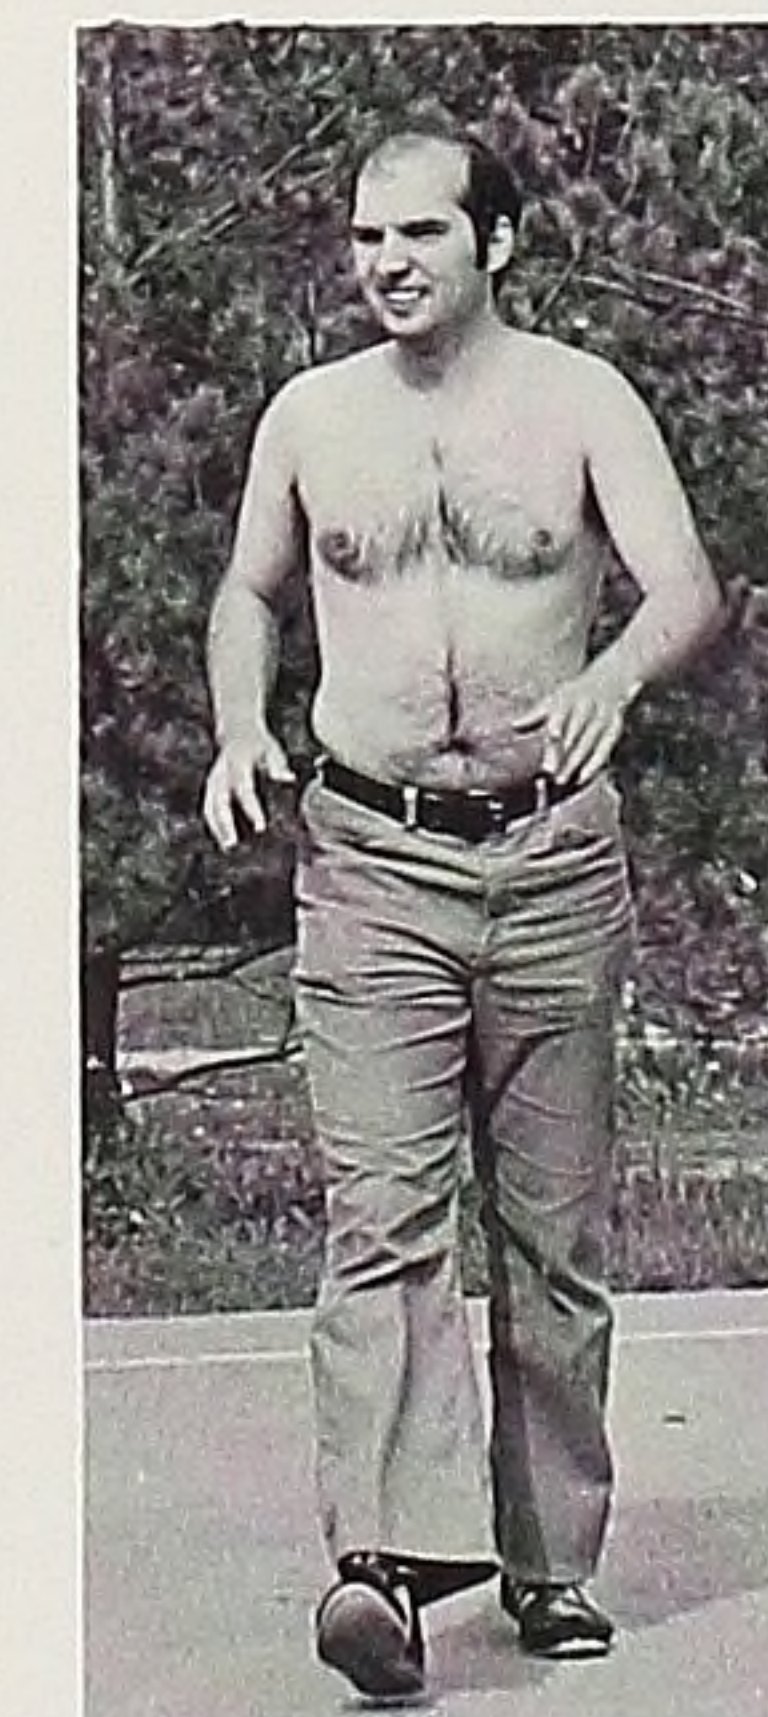

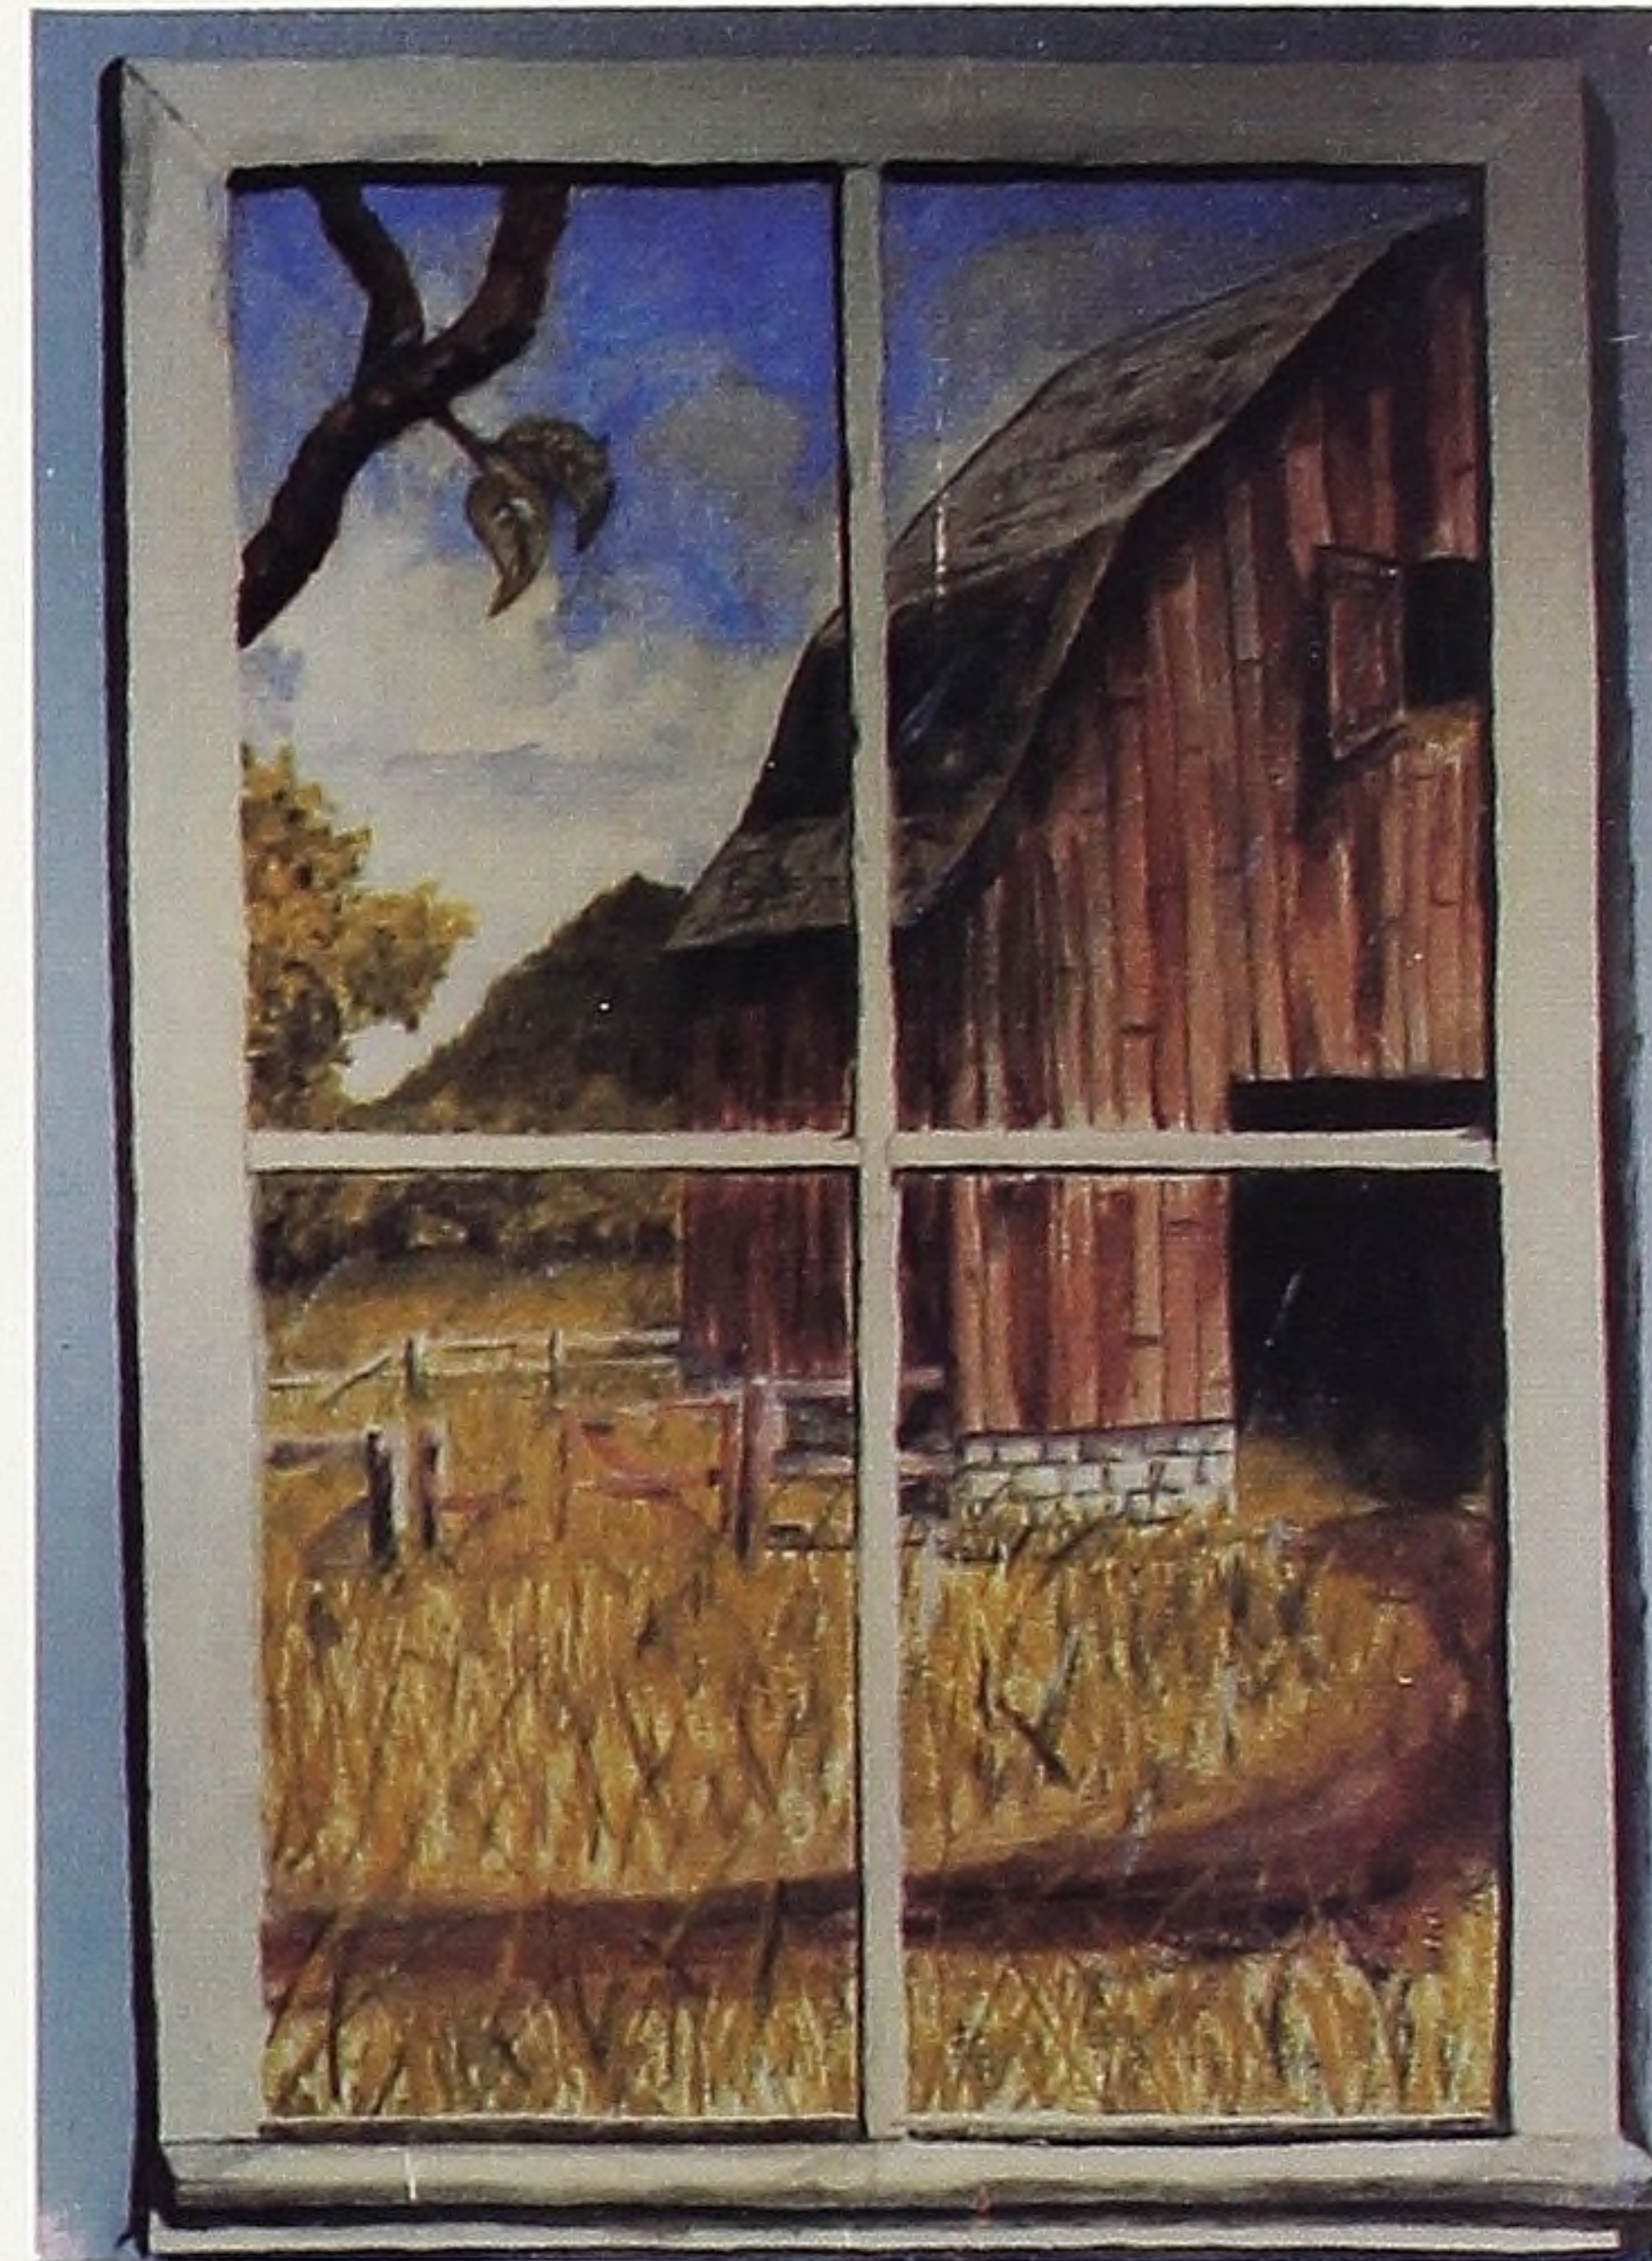

... In Recreation ...

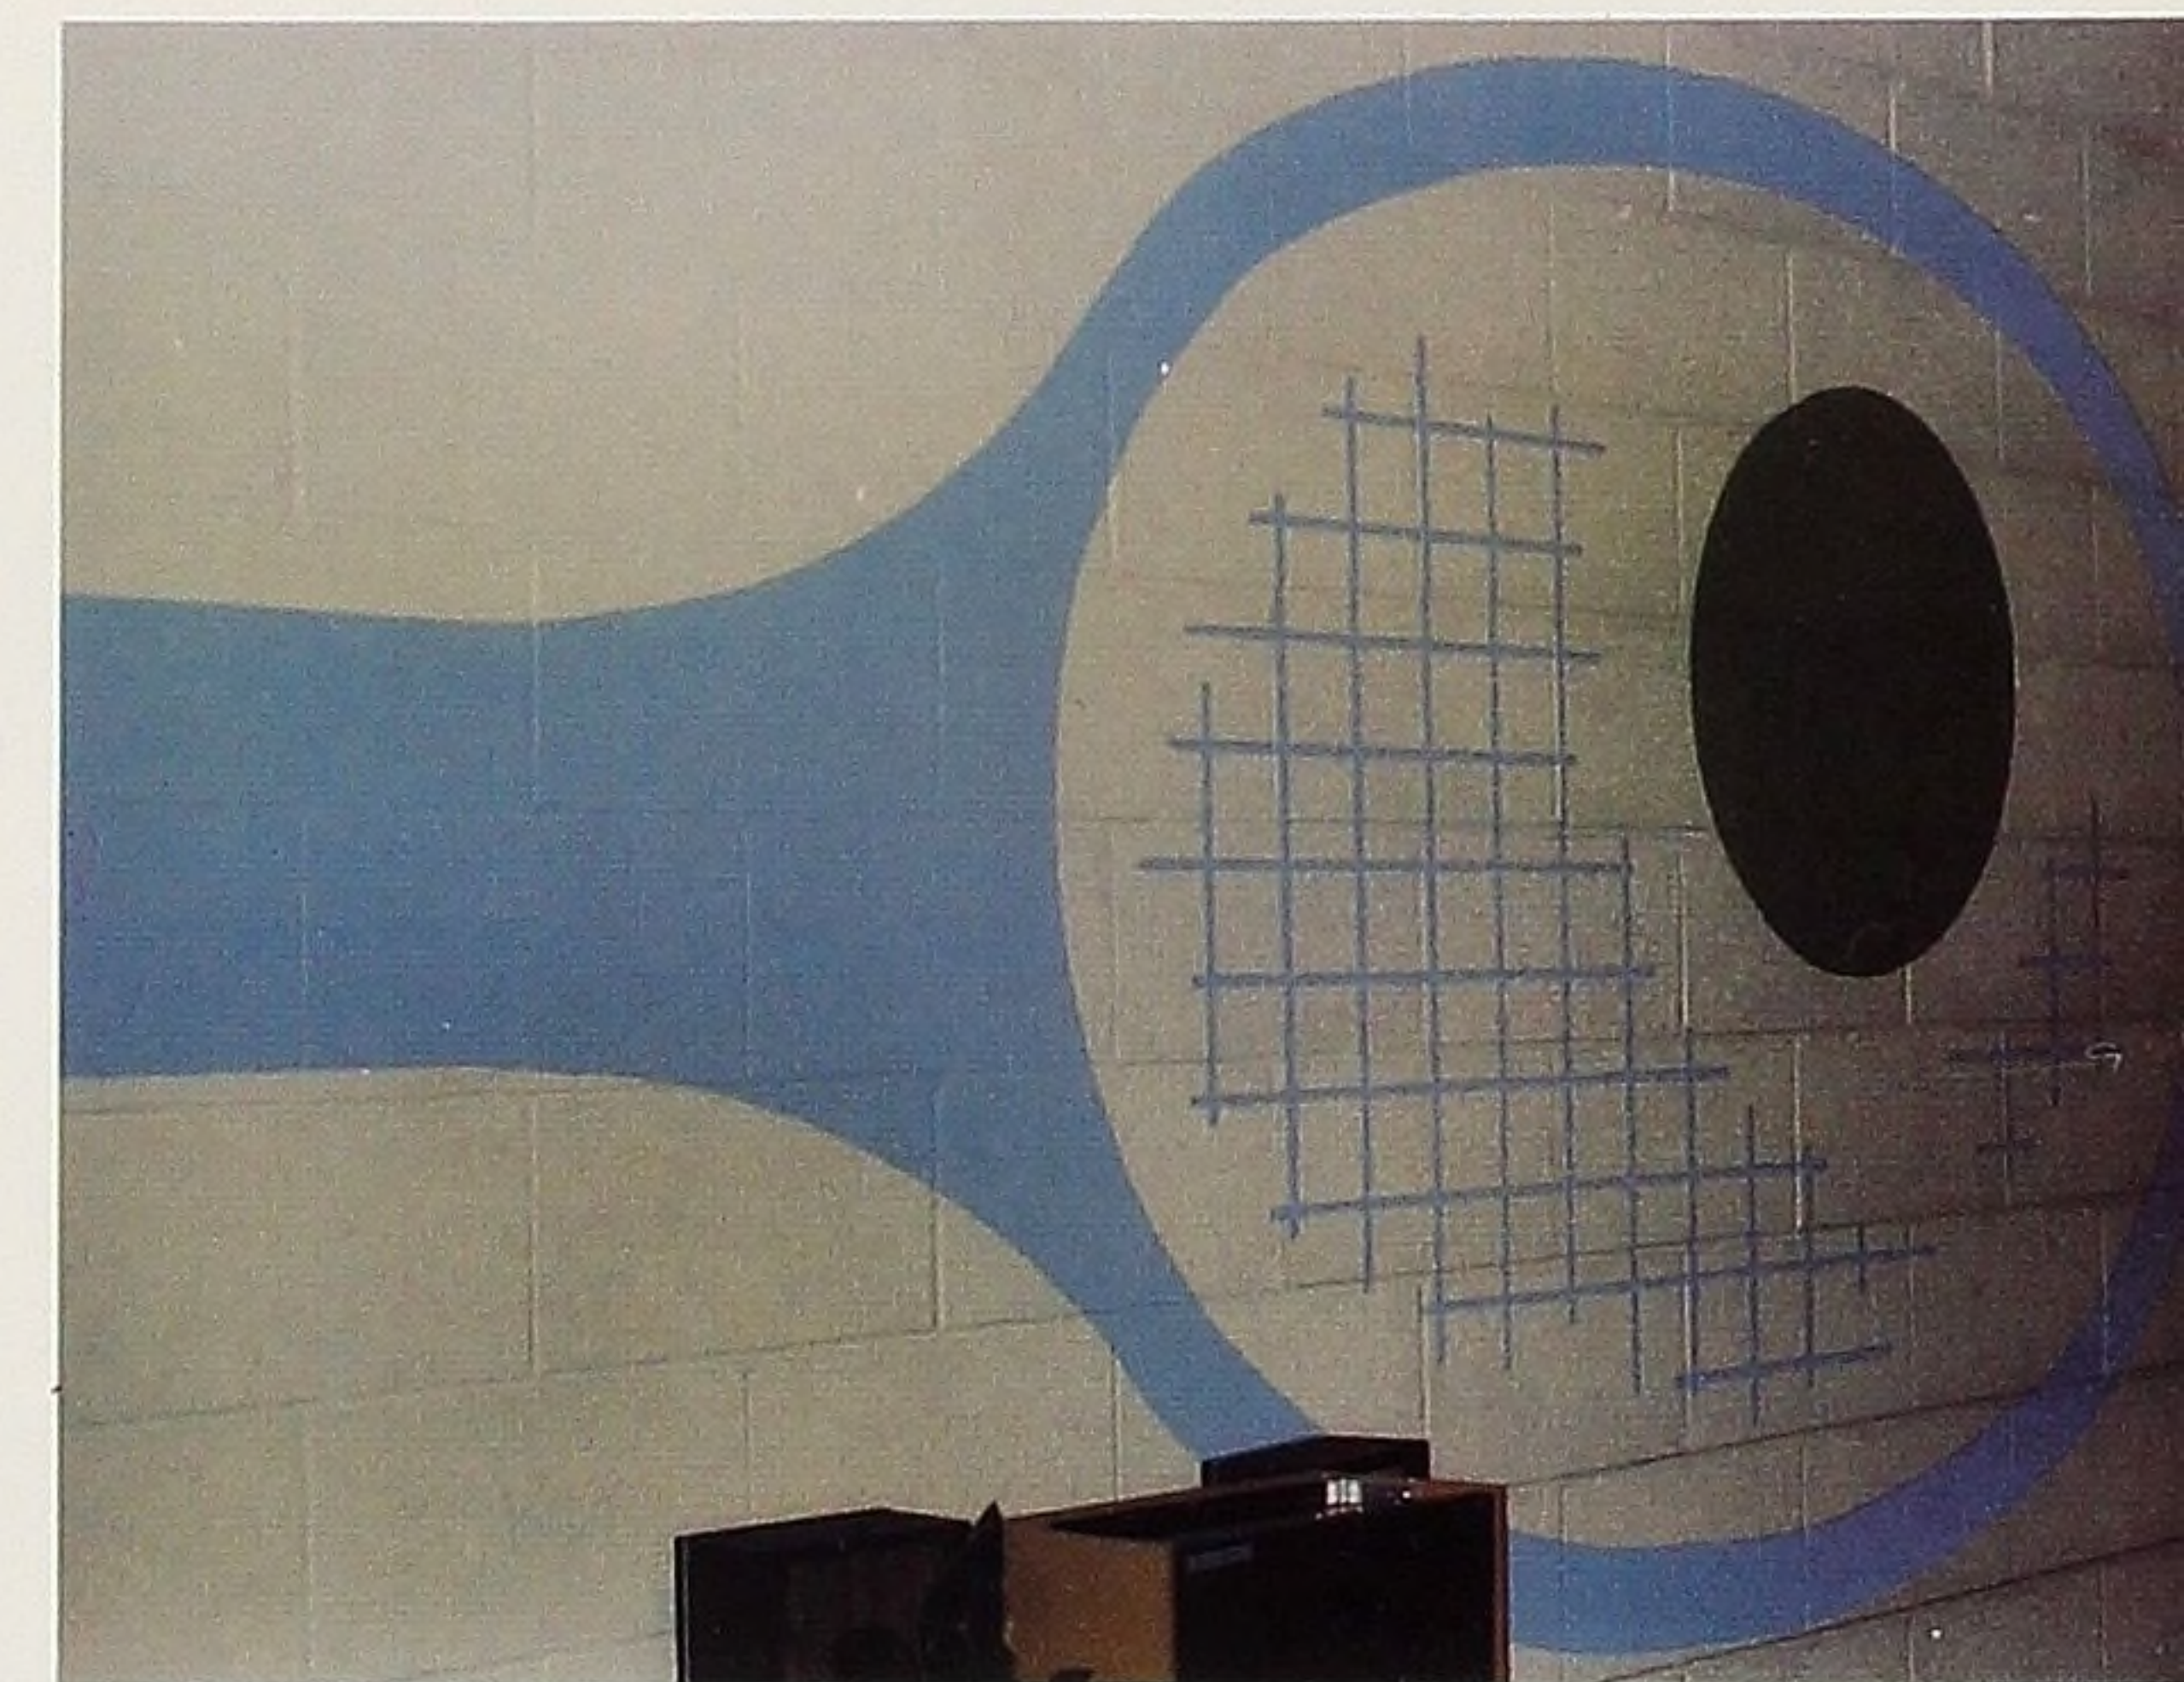

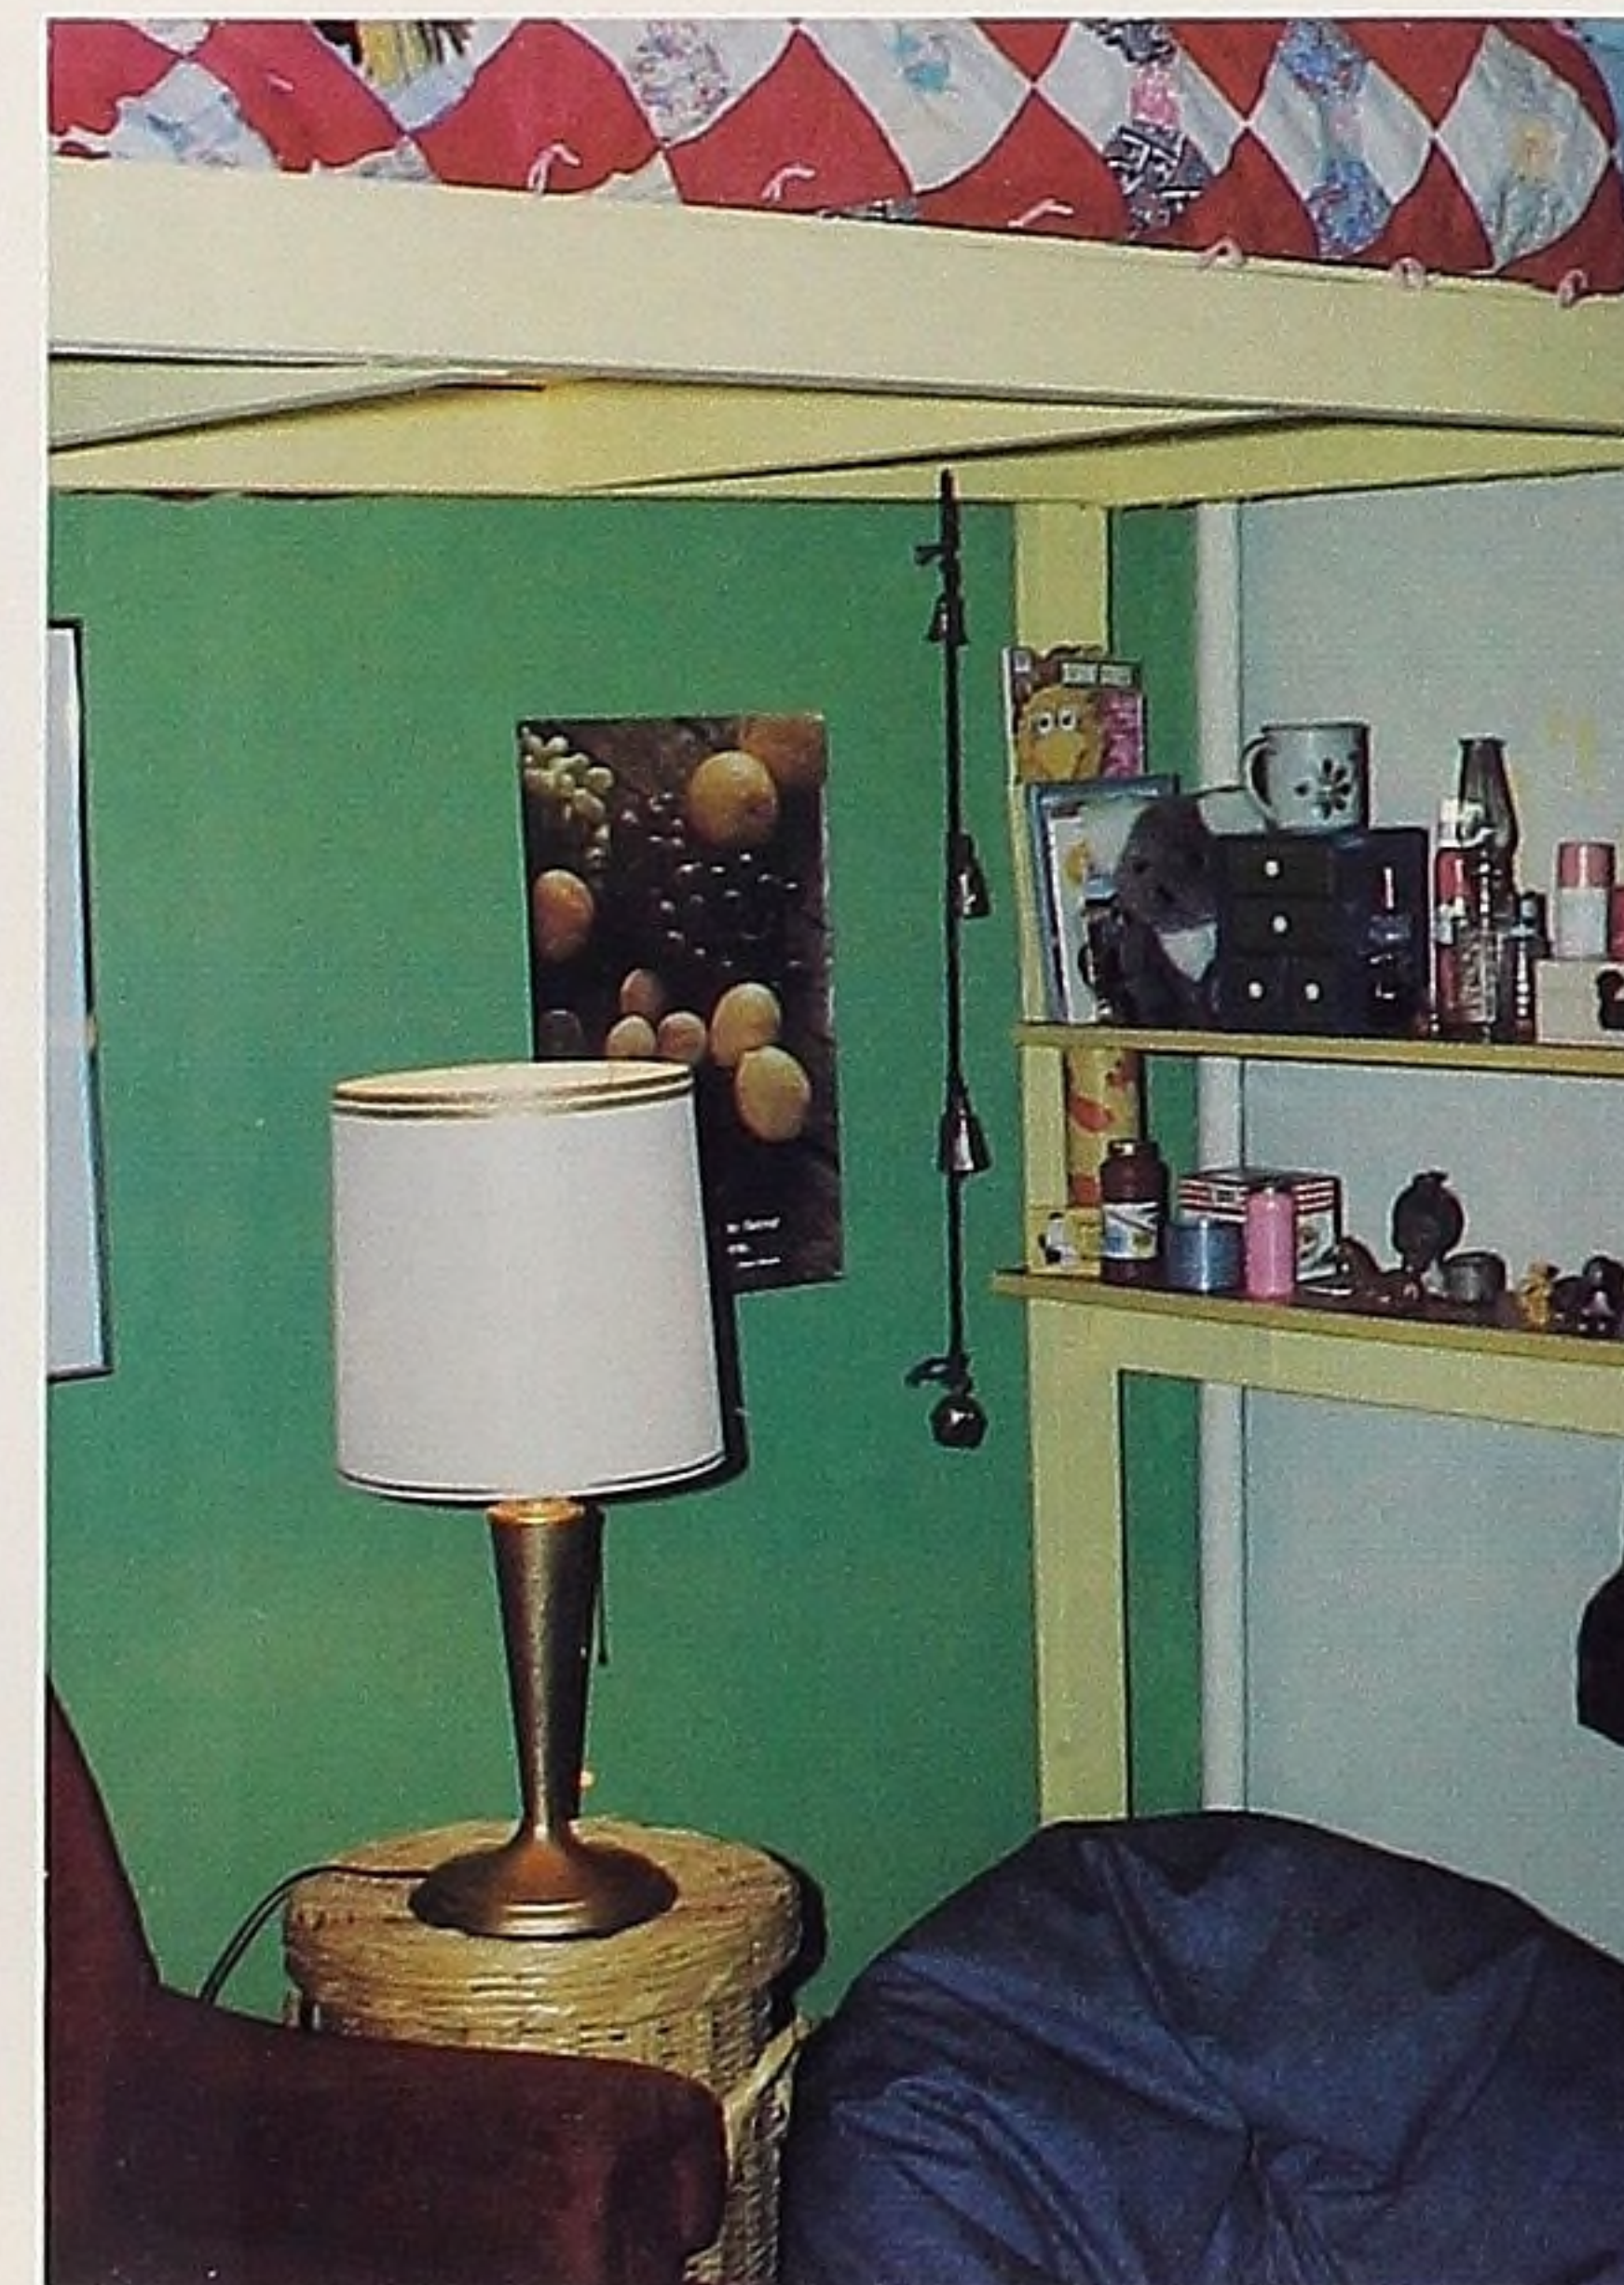

Recreation in such forms as the pool and the much used gameroom provided a convenient outlet for pent-up energy. These also served as unifying elements as they brought together small groups of people for a common activity. Some of the most enduring friendships were nurtured in the atmosphere felt in these areas.

... In The Dorm ...

The dorm policy on painting took a new direction as, for the first time, SAC provided paint for the rooms in a number of color choices. There was virtual freedom as to what was done with the paint. Real originality was shown in the designs and the competitive spirit was further urged by a contest. The result was that the dorms took on a more unique personality and became less like an institution.

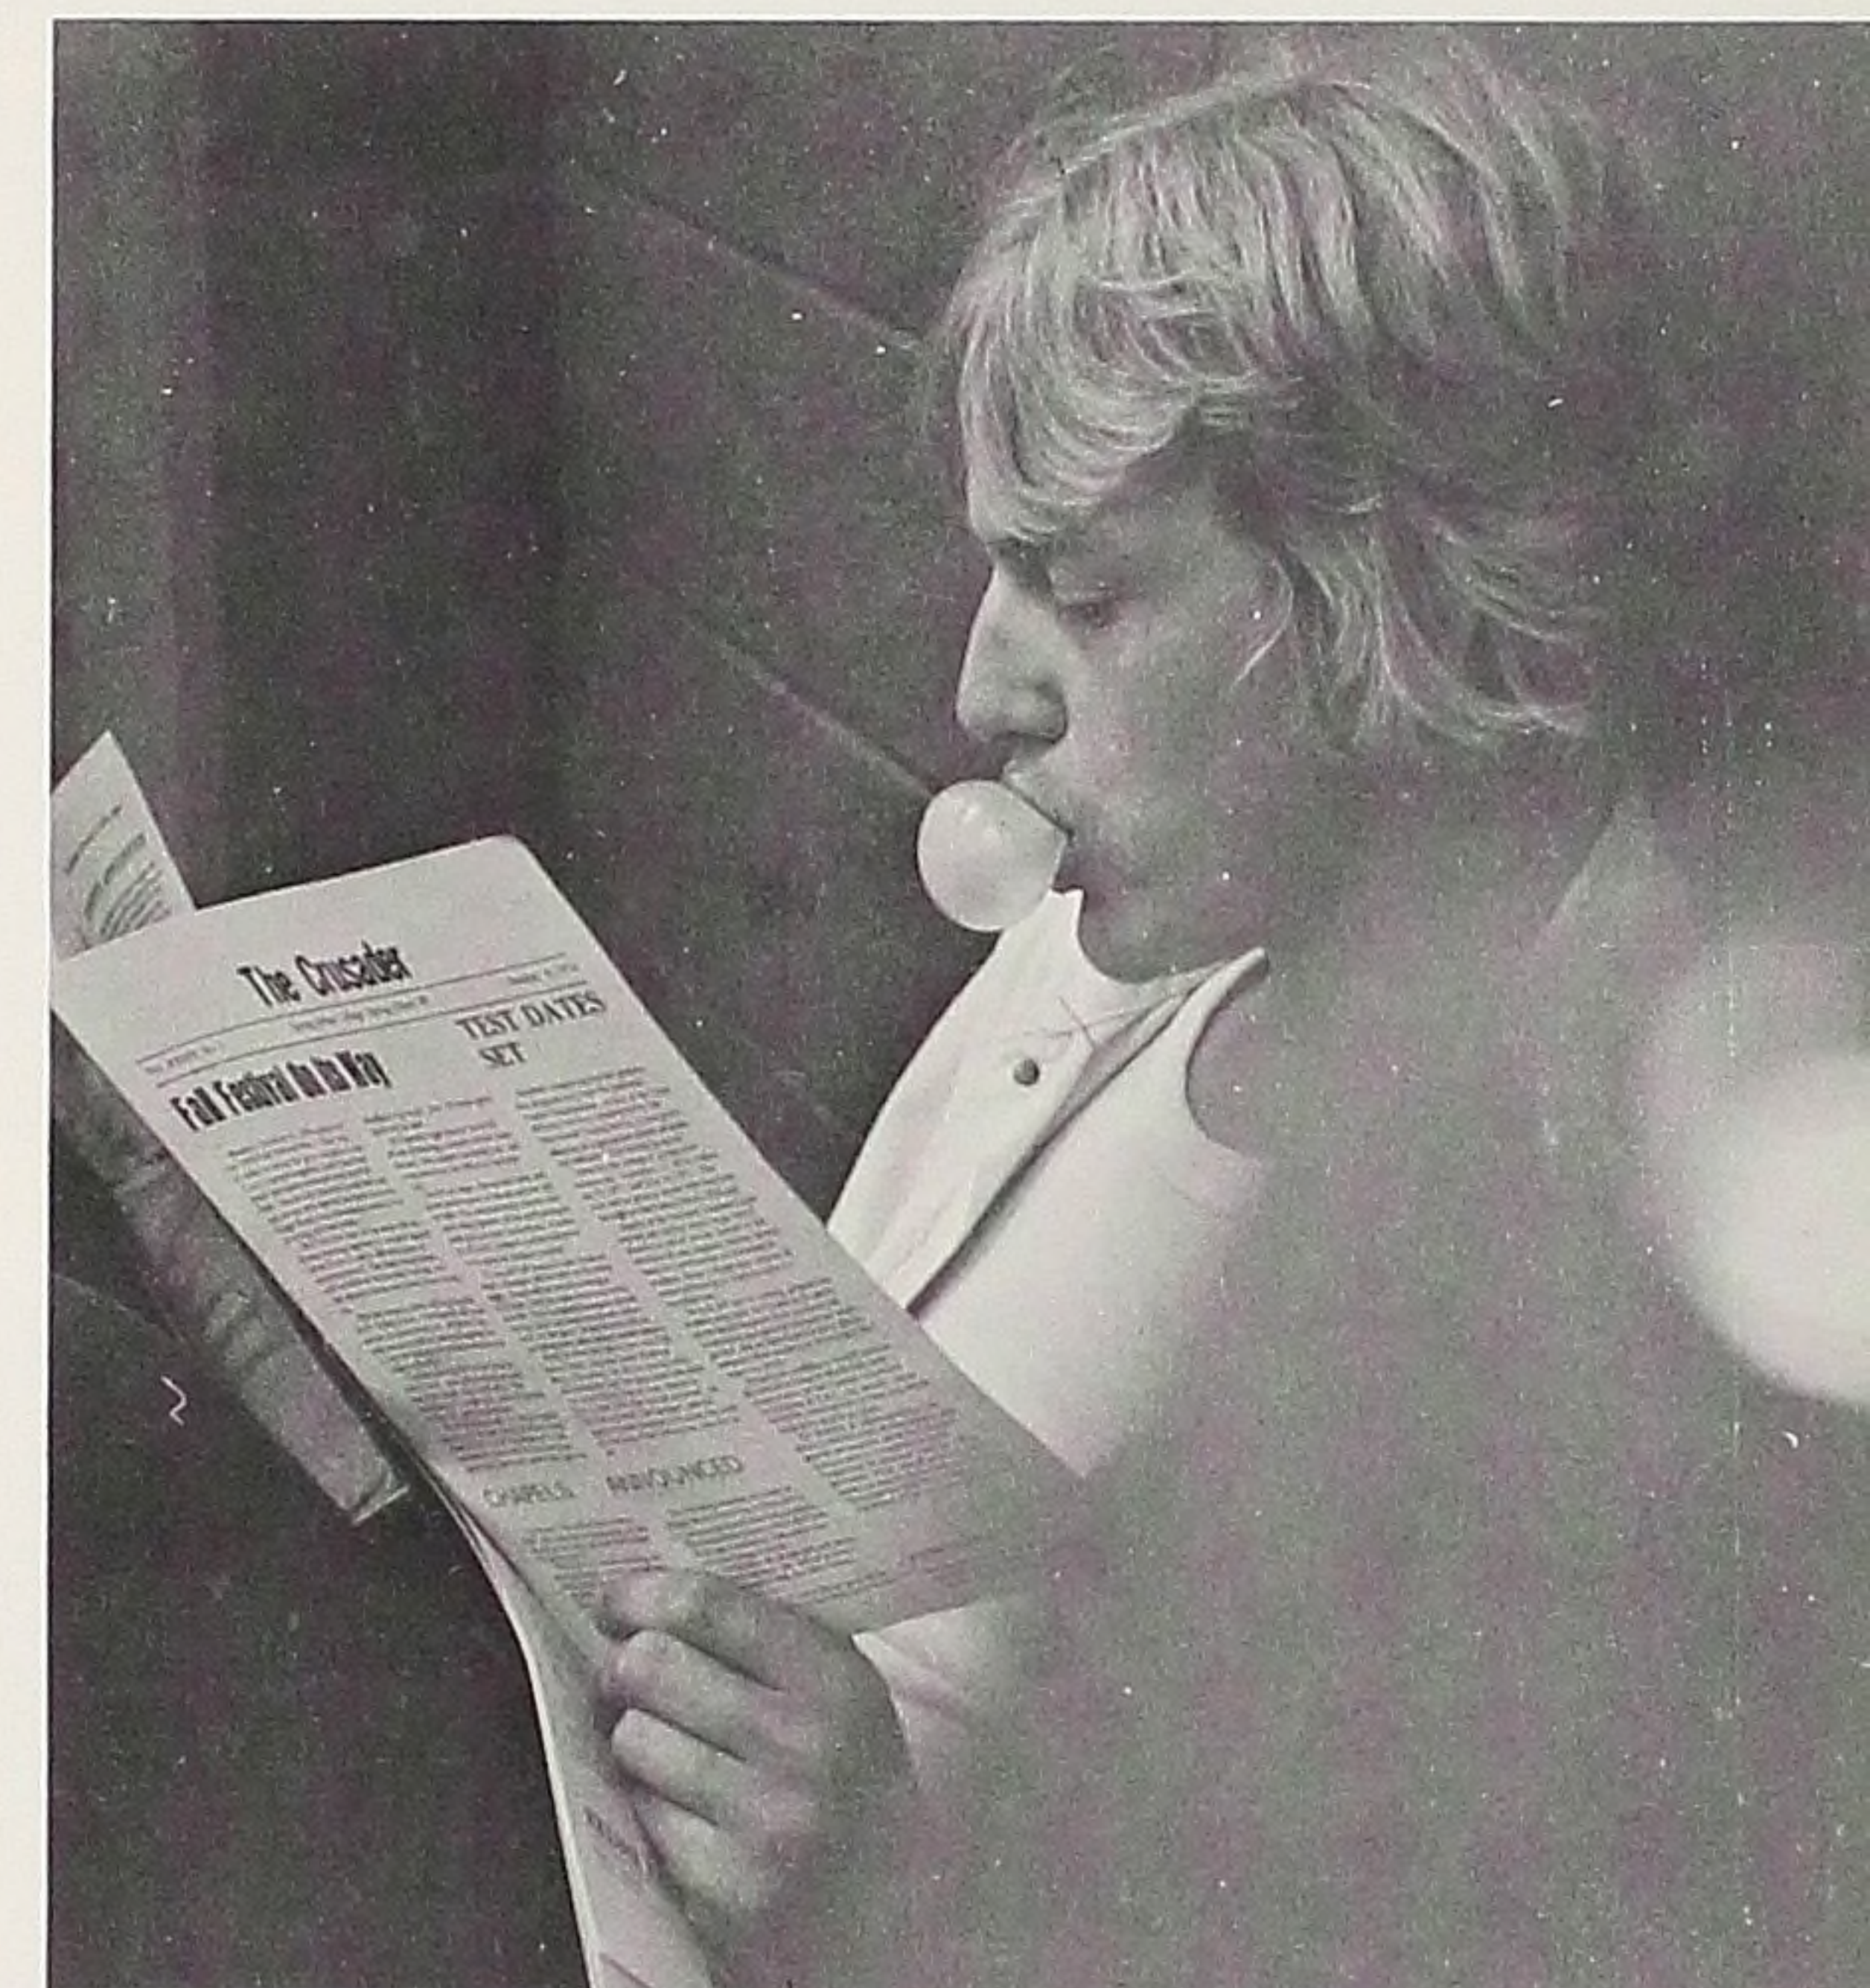

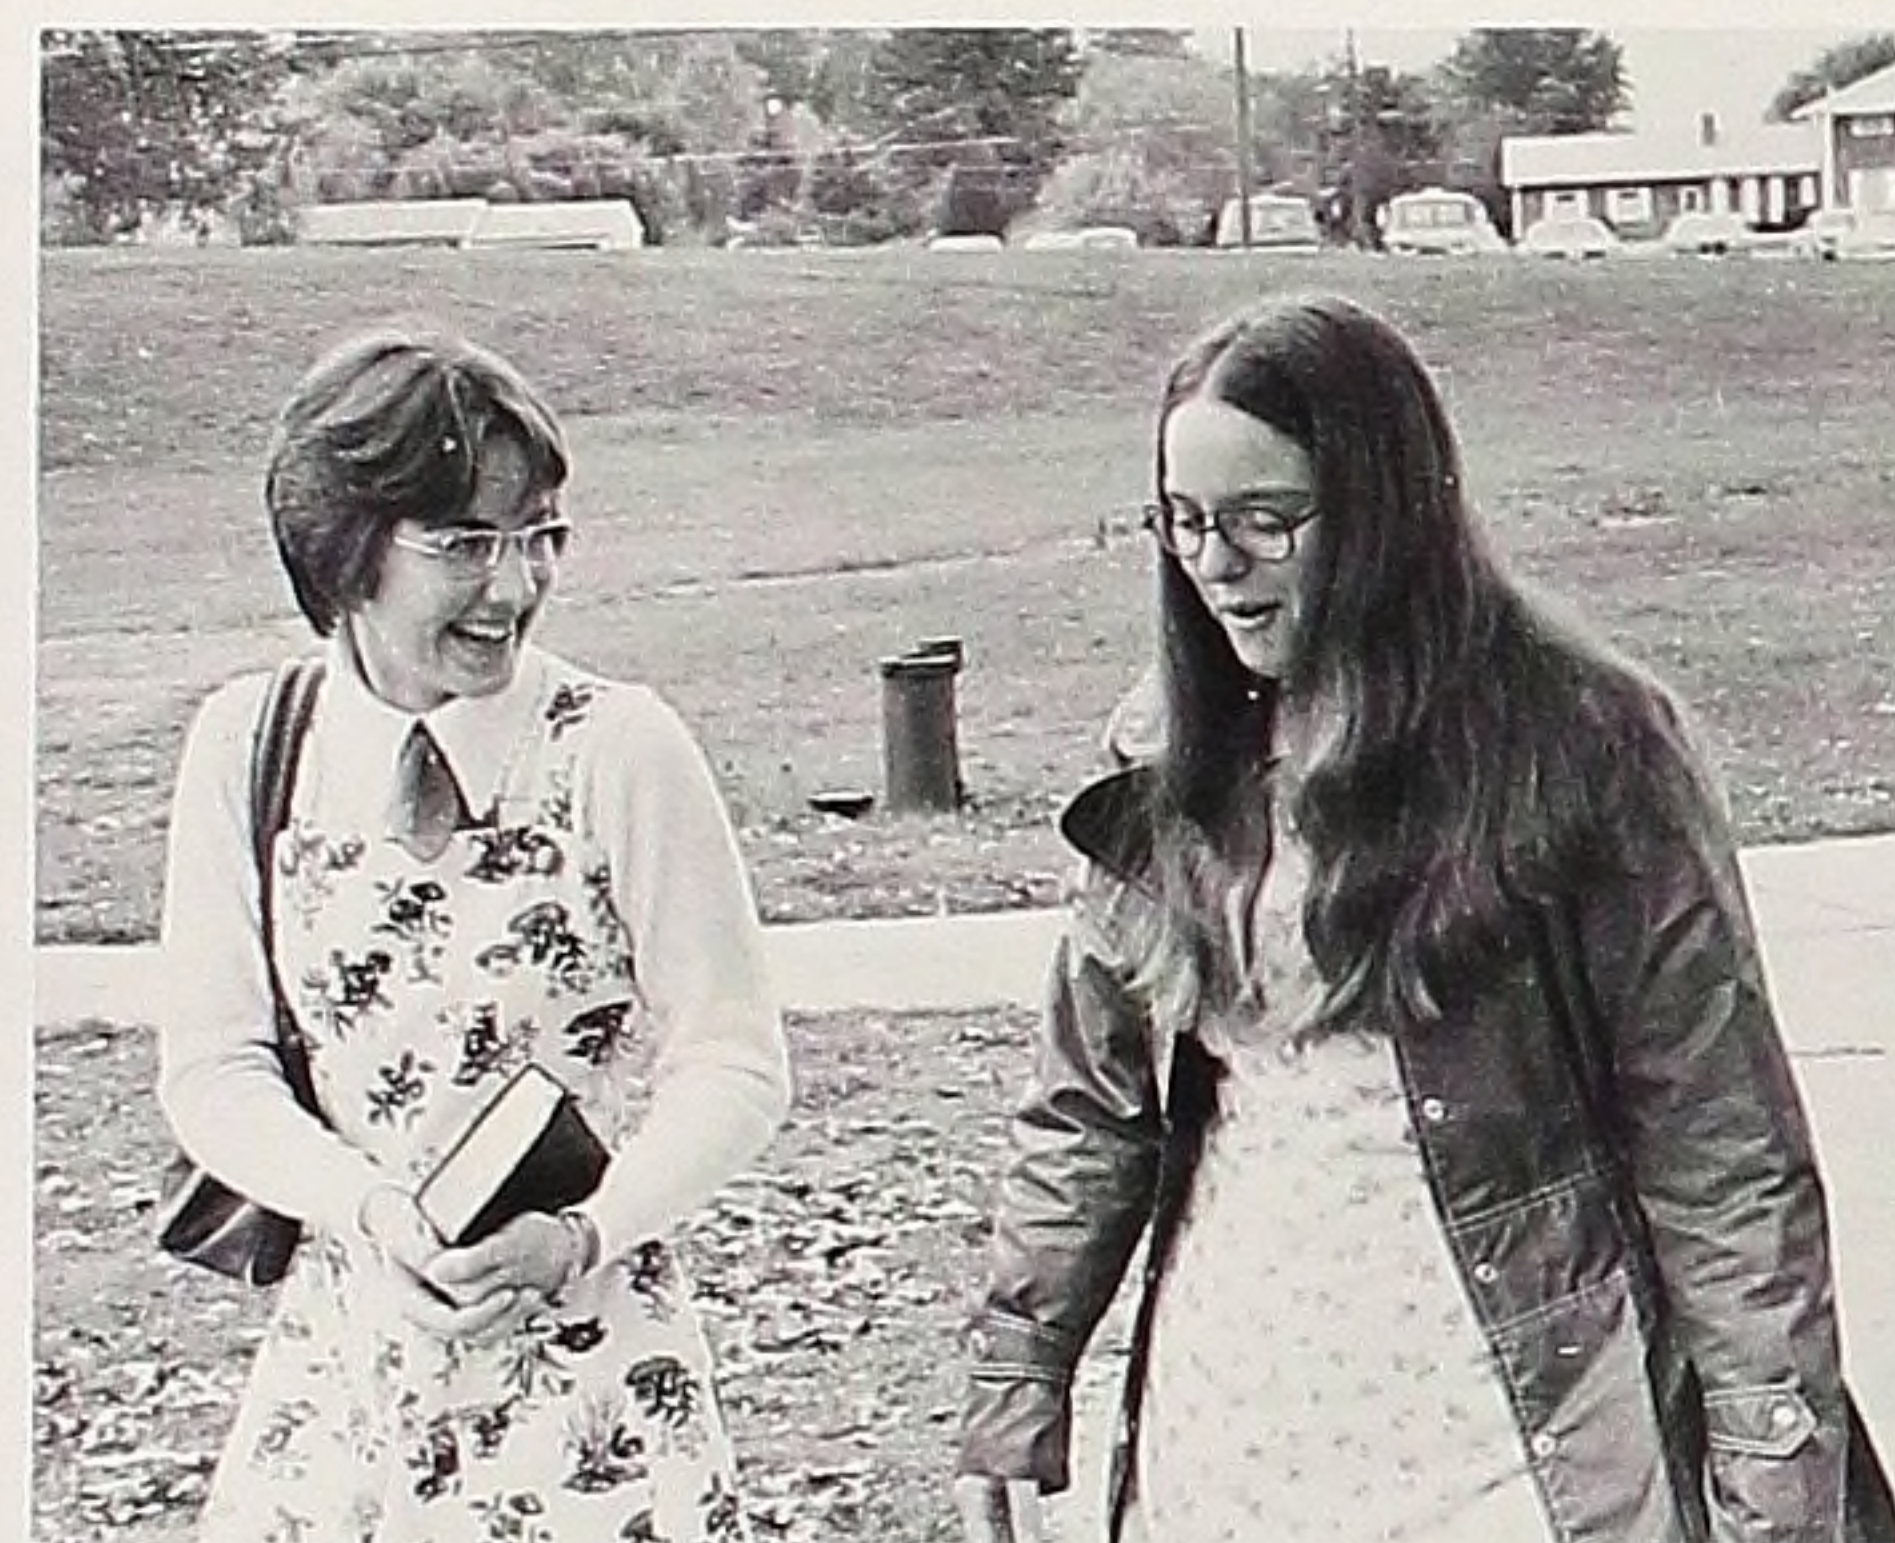

... Around

Campus ...

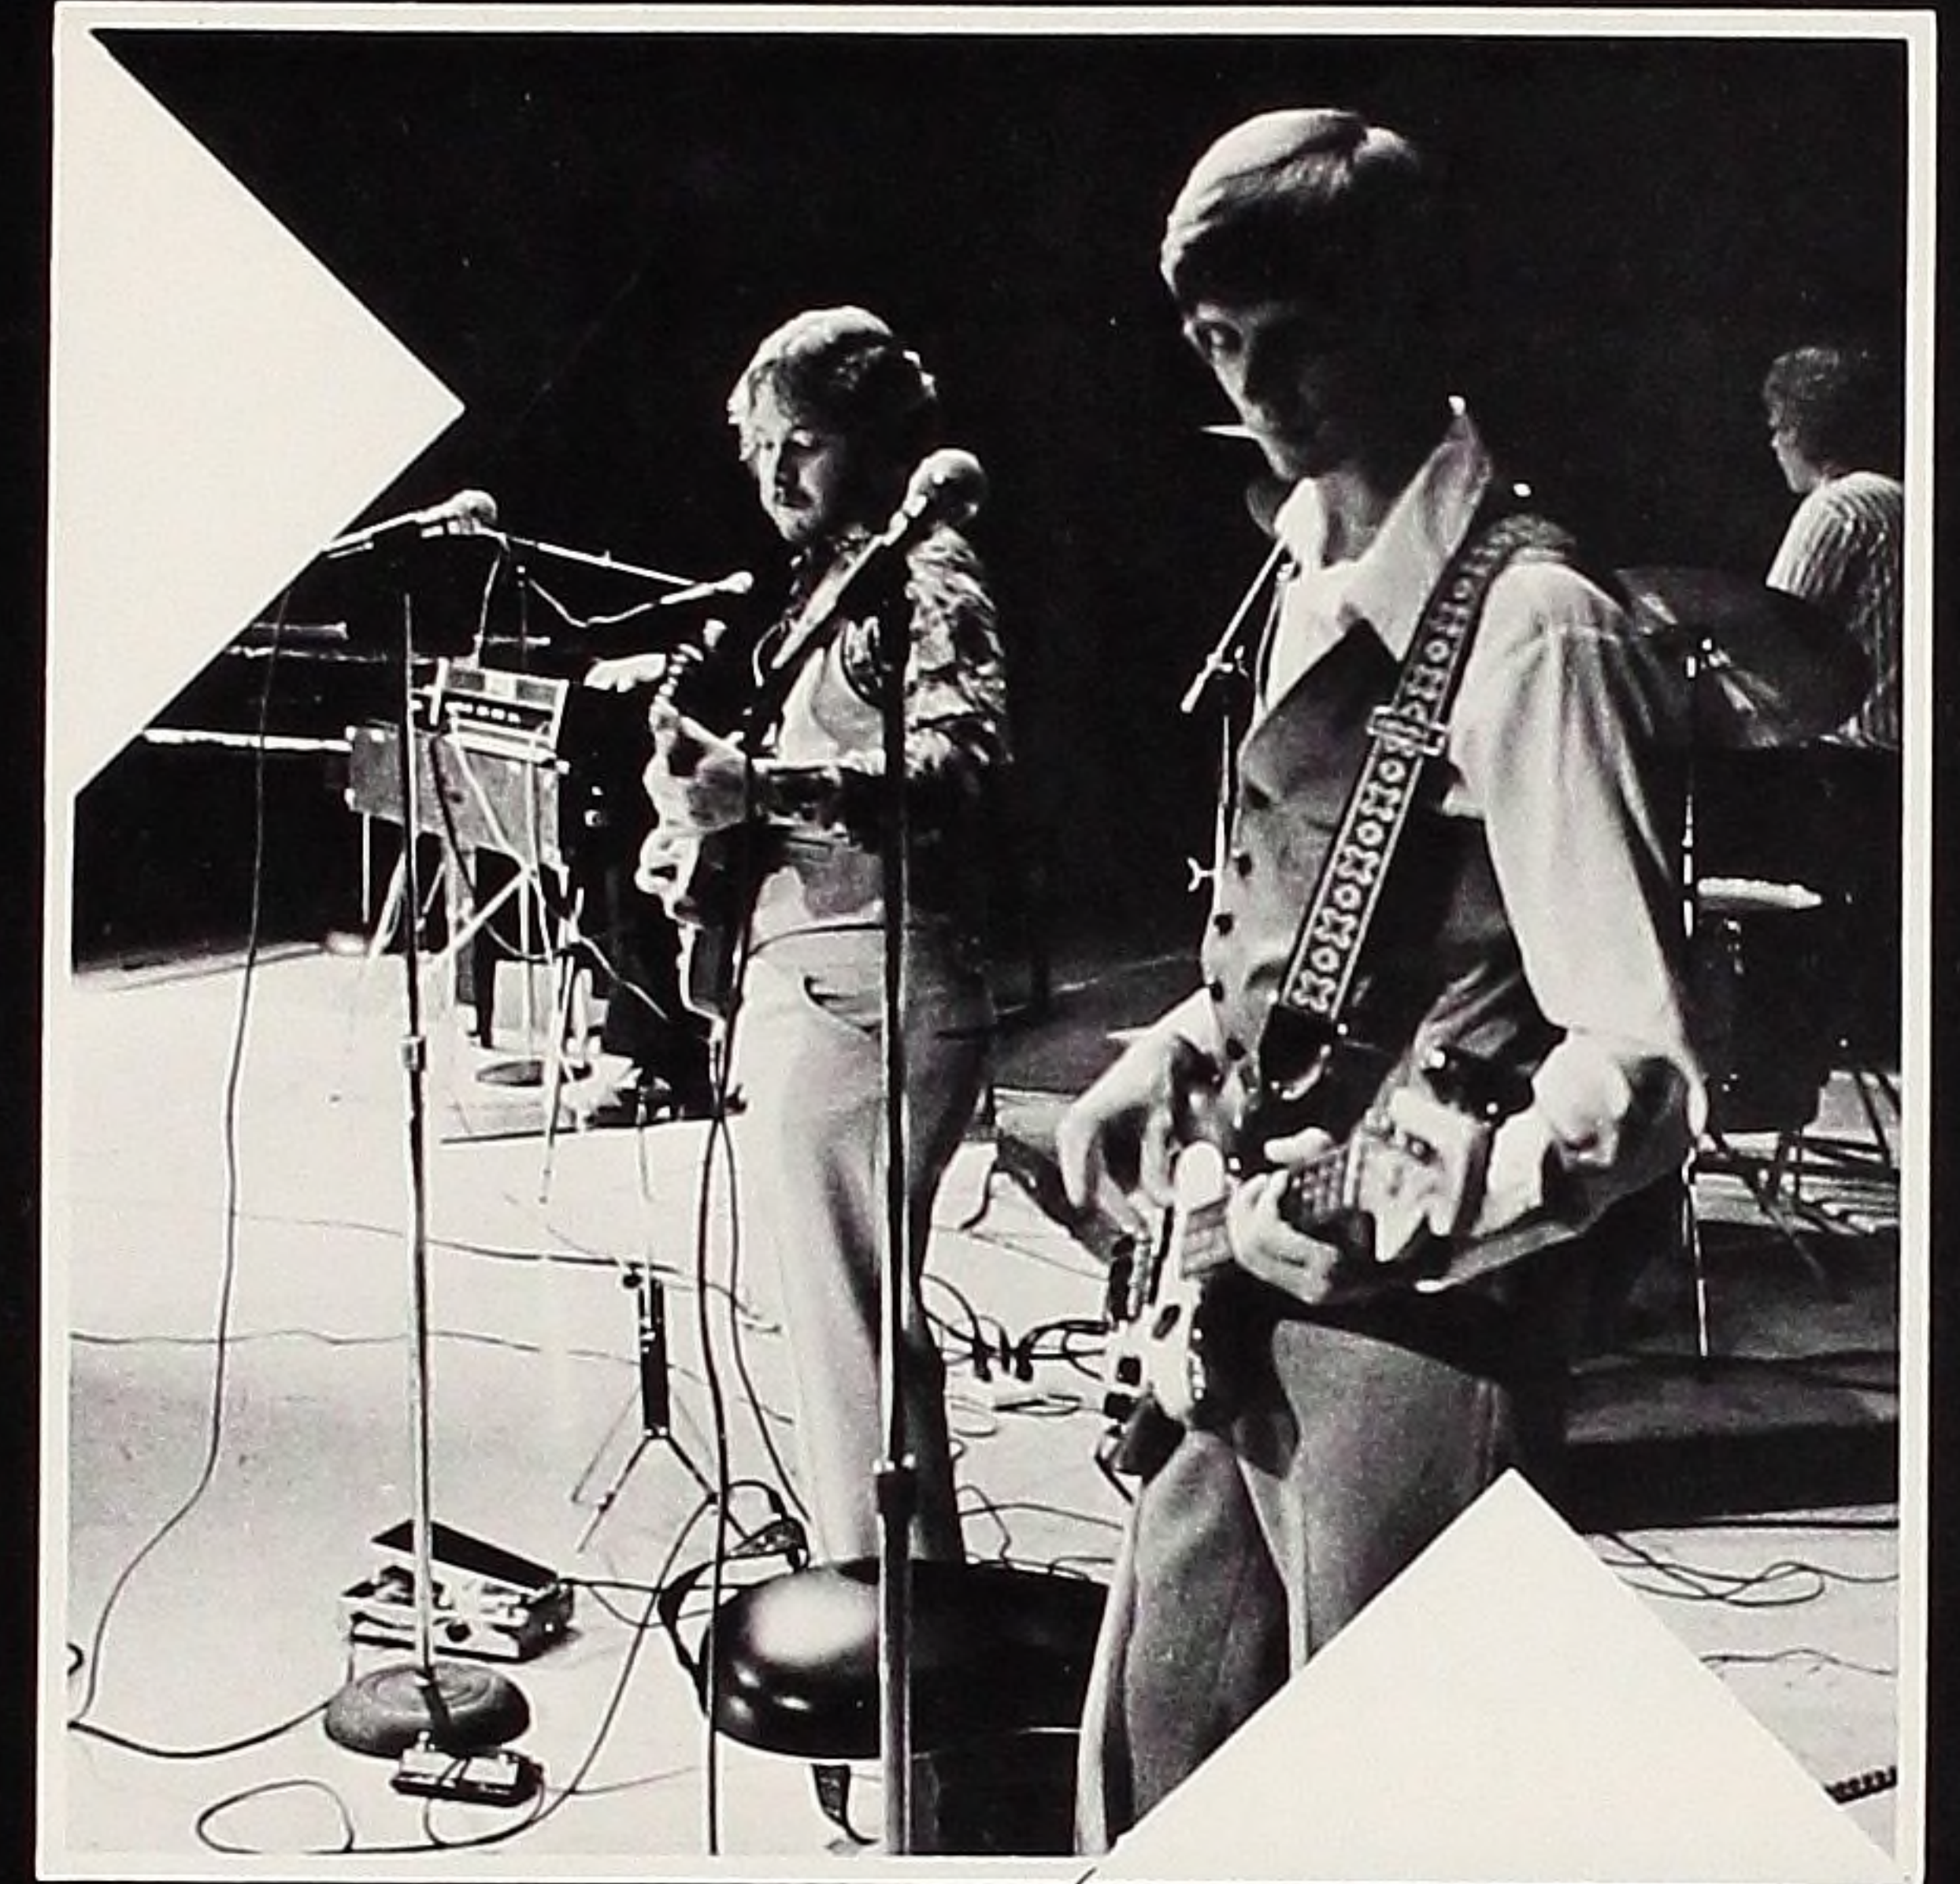

A student's day is filled with going to and from classes, work and other activities. Not to be forgotten are the innumerable trips to the Student Center to dust out empty mail boxes, to play a game of pinball or pool, or to meet friends for lunch.

... And In Living

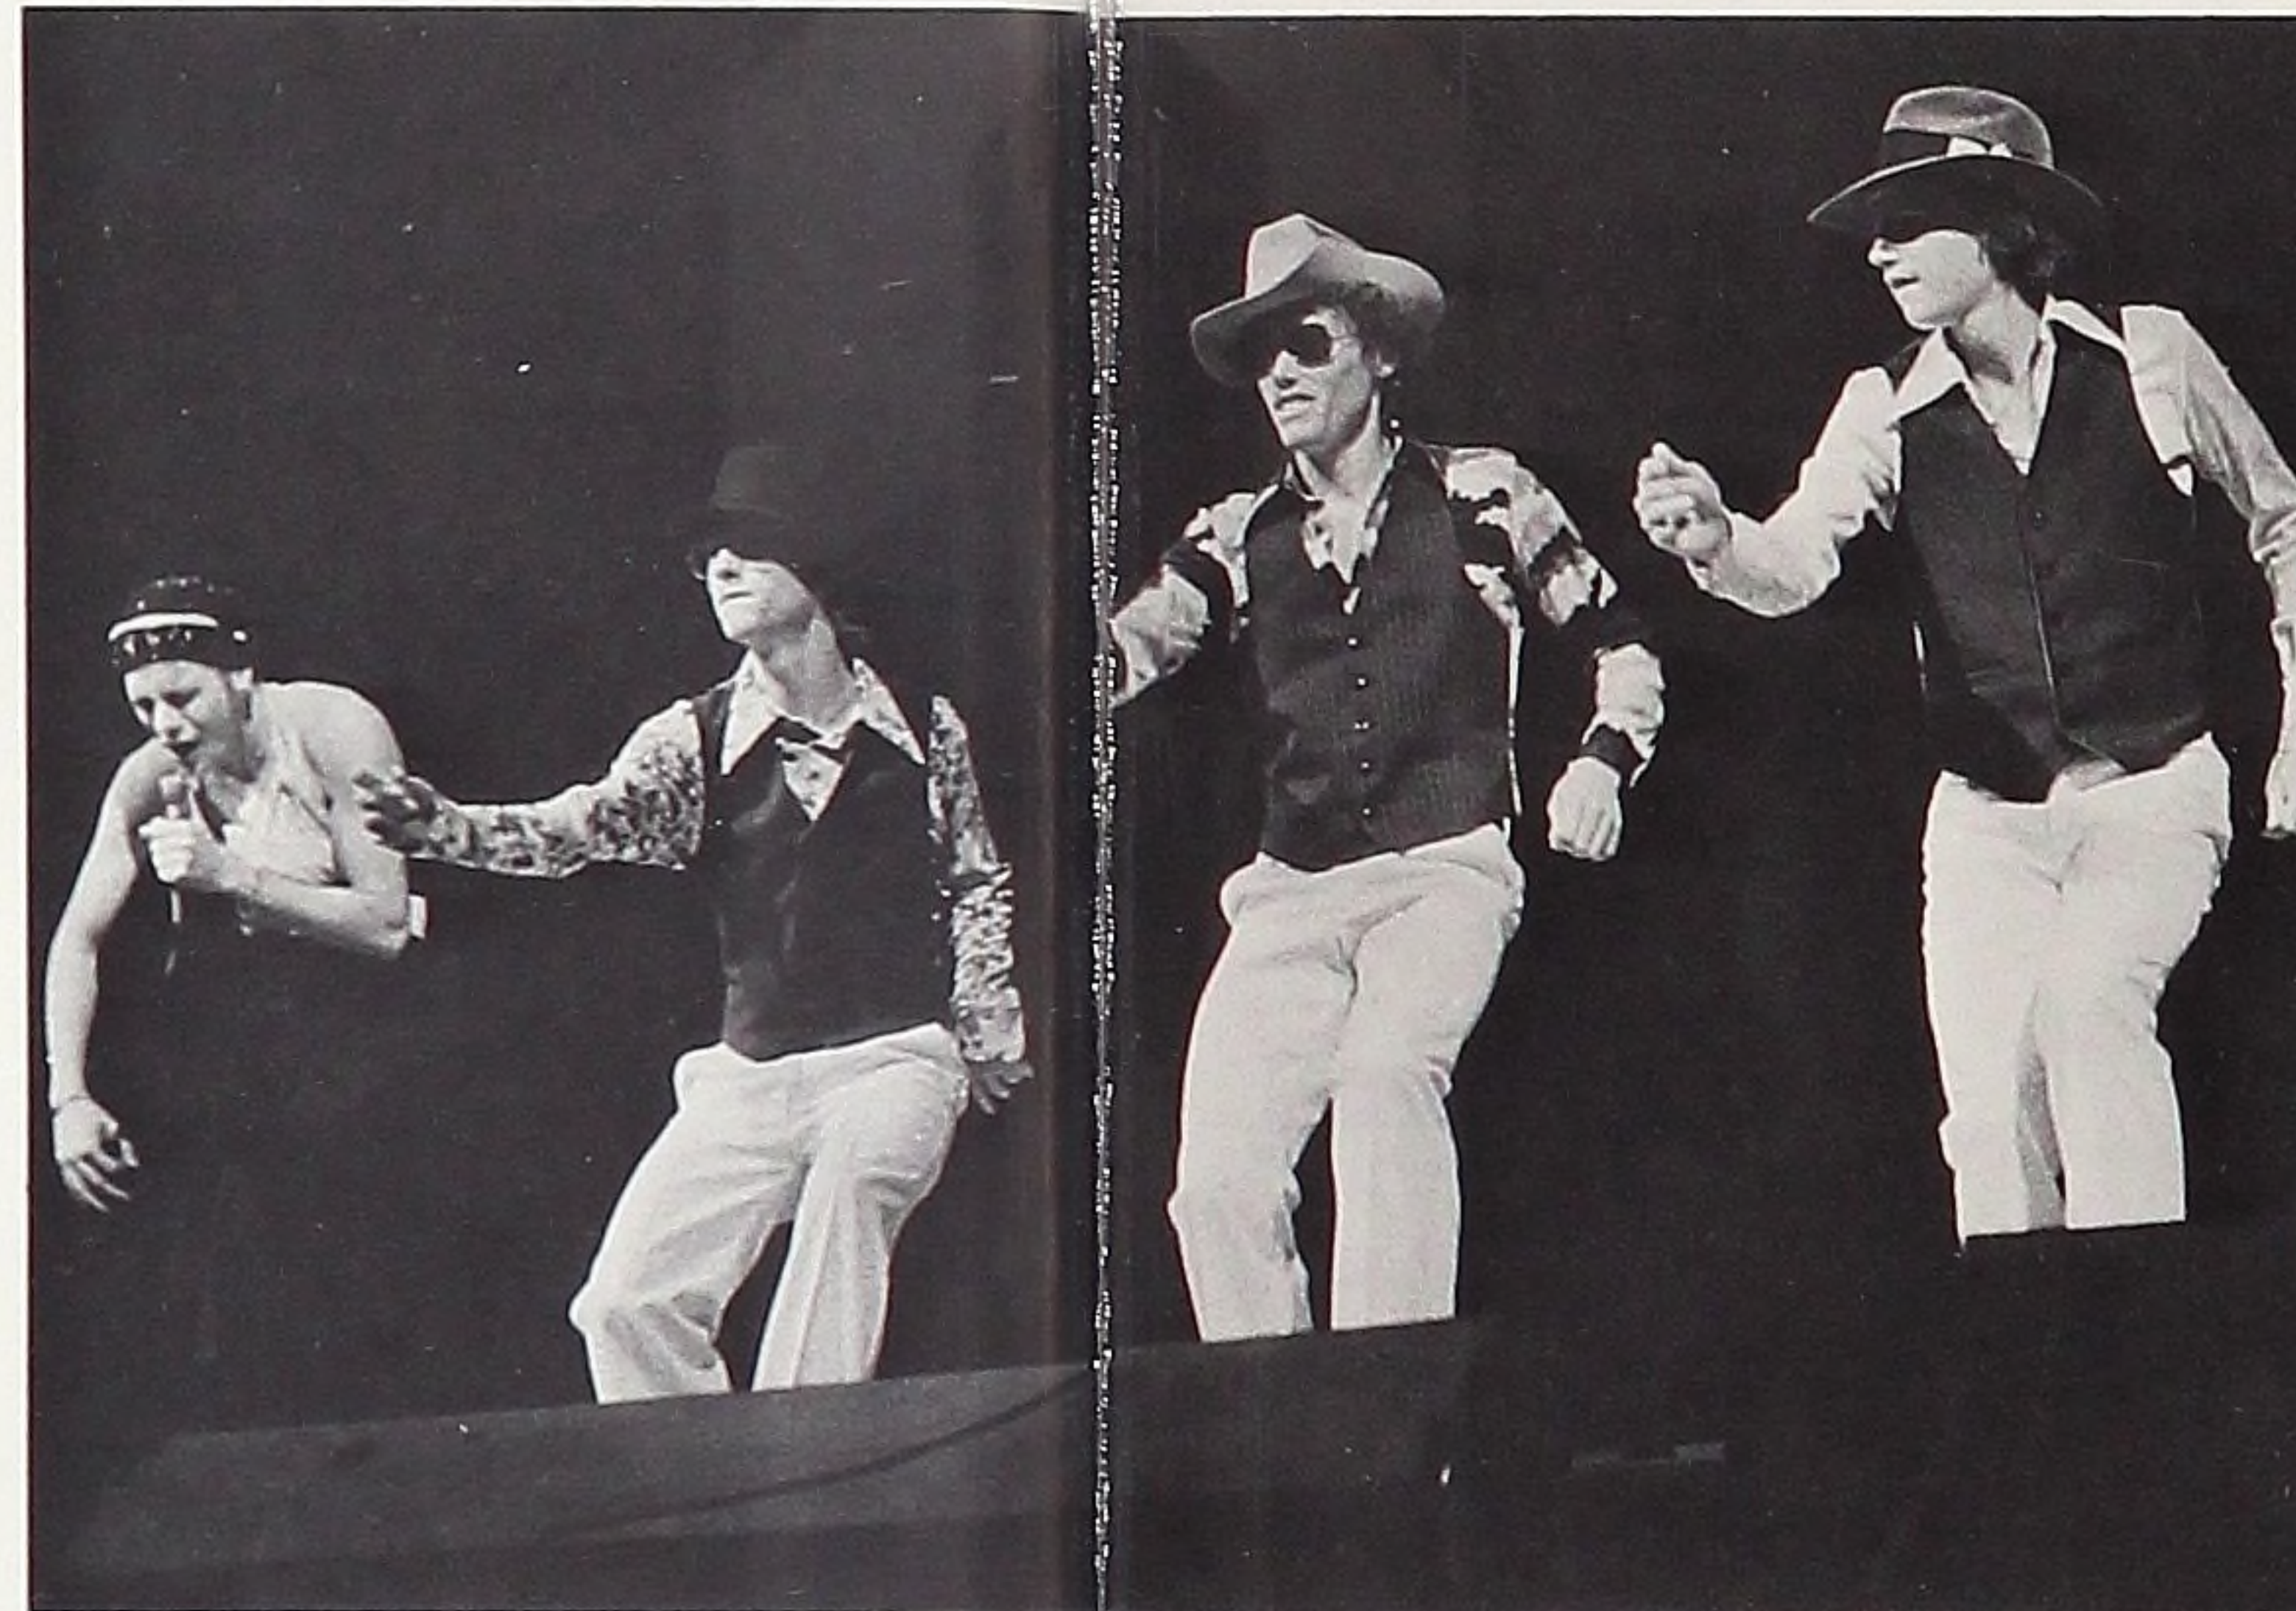

Changes do not happen overnight, they are a day to day process of hurting and loving and growing. Without changes a person can not grow, nor can those around him. Changes are not something to be afraid of, but to strive for everyday of our lives with anticipation.

Every Day.

HAPPENINGS

Fall Festival

Numerous students were involved in the activities of Fall Festival Week, largely due to the cooperation of the girls in keeping with the Sadie Hawkins theme. The attractions were a hayride, a talent show featuring a wide variety of skills, a rock concert with Randy Stonehill, Town and Gown presented by the Annapolis Quintet, and finally the banquet which was highlighted by the crowning of the king.

Social Happenings

Social happenings on campus this year were very well attended, as everyone put out "their all" to make each activity a memorable one. The All-School Retreat and the all-wet pool party were new comers to the activity scene, while the annual Halloween party, faculty follies, and Christmas decorating were welcomed back with open-arms. In any event, new (and oftentimes strange) friends were made.

C

During the winter of 1973, Tony Luttrell visited the Spring Arbor College campus and decided this was the place for him to enroll following his graduation from Avondale High School. Tony had achieved All-State status during his final high school cross country season and was interested in bigger and better things in college athletics. Now four years later as his college career comes to an end, the list of achievements is impressive indeed.

In cross country Tony was All-District (NAIA Dist. 23-Michigan) all four years winning the individual District title two years. At one stretch during the 74-75 season, he set seven consecutive course records-all on different courses. During his senior season, he dominated small college competition throughout Michigan and surrounding states with eleven consecutive victories and an average winning margin of over 40 seconds!

Tony's accomplishments in indoor and outdoor track are equally numerous and impressive. These include the NAIA District indoor two mile championship, three consecutive individual championships in the District outdoor three-mile, and All-American honors for his third place 5000 meter finish in the National Meet in 1976.

Coach Ted Comden, teammates, and fellow students appreciate the disciplined scholarship and Christian witness which are also characteristic of this outstanding Spring Arbor College Athlete.

The Spring Arbor College student council is a legislative body concerned with meeting student needs, representing the student body to administration, faculty, and staff, and improving campus life. One representative from each dorm floor is elected at the beginning of the year, along with representatives from off-campus housing units, minority groups, and foreign students. Class presidents and student association cabinet members complete the student council membership.

One representative each from staff and faculty are welcomed on a non-voting basis. Major proposals dealt with in student council this year include the establishment of Sunday field house and practice room hours, the landscaping of the campus, the formation of a dorm council, improvement of the student parking lot, the construction of a coffee house (sponsored by Campus Missions Fellowship), and several constitutional amendments.

The cabinet of the student association consists of 13 officers. These officers are classified in 2 divisions, the major officers, and the minor officers. The president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer form the first group, and the latter division includes the Echo editor, Crusader editor, men's and women's athletic directors, spiritual life director, student action community director, social life director, special banquets director, and union board director. Each office exists to perform a vital and necessary function for the student population. The duties and responsibilities of these officers are outlined in the constitution of the the student association of SAC, and are subject to revision by action of the constitutional review commission and student council pending ratification by the student body at large. All cabinet officers attend weekly cabinet and council meetings, and are often involved in committee work besides their regular duties.

C)

The Dorm Councils were set up this year on a trial basis. Each housing complex, as well as the apartments and off-campus housing, have a dorm council. These five councils are separate and distinct bodies, but can work together as a campus-wide council. Each Dorm Council is composed of a representative from each dorm floor, apartment level or house — these are appointed by the appropriate R.A. The main purpose of each council is to solve problems relating to housing that affect their own housing unit. Although the councils are non-legislative bodies, (to avoid duplication of student council) they have direct access to the Housing Director to give feedback and offer suggestions. The Dorm Councils may also plan activities, outings and programs for their unit. Hopefully, the Dorm Councils will serve as an effective vehicle for communication between students and administration.

Well, here it is: the end of the book, as well as the year. Hopefully this year has been an enjoyable one, and that this book has brought back happy memories. Yes, there are many names misspelled, pictures incorrectly labeled, and even names and pictures left out altogether. These were indeed unintentional, and apologies are in order for these mistakes. This book took a lot of time, energy, and patience (some of which was occasionally lost) by many people. Thanks go to those who helped identify pictures and wrote captions. Thanks also go to the administration, staff, and faculty for their contributions and cooperation. Special thanks go to Dave Hopper for the color photography, to Paul Jaquays, to Reuben Mains, and to the other Cabinet members for their help and support. A very much appreciated thank-you goes to the photographers, especially Dave (J.) Gingrich and Doug Johnson for their time and energy. Then there's the staff-without each and everyone of which this book would never have been completed. A hearty thanks goes to each one, especially Sarah Van Kampen and Sue Luckadoo. Lastly, to Mary Jo Swier who helped with the cover design, division pages, and the last page (and her ability to put up with an irritable roommate during deadlines) a deeply appreciated thank-you.

May God lead each and everyone in a new exciting direction.

Sincerely,
Su Johnson
