WELCOME MOMS

Christian Life Series Features Tom Skinner

by Birney Boyd

"Fasten your seatbelts and prepare yourself!" says Rev. Verdon Duncel. "Tom Skinner is coming to town!" As our guest for Christian Life Series, March 1-8, Mr. Skinner, author of Black and Free, will emphasize the racial problems confronting us and offer solutions open to the Christian. Tom Skinner can be relied upon to do some straight talking which will force the listeners to honestly re-evaluate their positions and inconsistencies.

Skinner says, "It has been said that you can't pass a law to make one man love another. However, it has also been said that most of the ills of our society do not call for love, but for justice. It is at that point where a man needs justice that laws must be passed."

A 26 year old Negro, Skinner was raised in Harlem, and at the age of 12 joined and made himself leader of a gang known as the Harlem Lords. "Accidentally" converted at 16, Tom has since then dedicated his life to showing black Americans how Jesus Christ can be relevant to their lives. "For," he says, "If you want to truly change a man you must change him from the inside out. You can't really change a man by simply adjusting his environment."

The basic format for the Christian Life Series will consist of chapel assemblies every morning in E.P. Hart Auditorium, with evening rallies held in the Free Methodist church at 7:15.

However, this is only the beginning. The crusade will not only be college-oriented but also on a county wide scale. All churches in the Jackson area are strongly encouraged to come and participate in the meetings. In addition to the chapel sessions on campus, Mr. Skinner has been given a free hand to speak in classes, hold group seminars, visit dorms, give personal counseling, and have informal talk sessions.

Town And Gown Feature-

CLEBANOFF STRINGS

The unique new sound of the Clebanoff Strings and Orchestra will return to S.A.C.'s campus Friday evening, February 20, at eight o'clock in the E. P. Hart Auditorium under the auspices of the Town and Gown program. The small chamber group of 20 instrumentalists was well received on campus last year, and should provide another enjoyable evening of listening as they present a program somewhat unique in the field of concert music: a classic string repertoire combined with an exciting "pops" concert. Their success in the undertaking is apparent when one considers that they have cut nearly 20 records on Mercury and Decca labels.

Clebanoff was himself at 20 the youngest member of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. Later, he was concertmaster of both the Illinois Symphony Orchestra and NBC Orchestra. He was also active in chamber music groups, playing with the Pro Musica Trio and his own String Quartet. He made his conducting debut with the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra. The Clebanoff Strings arose out of the desire to create a group that in size and type of music would fall somewhere between the traditional small chamber ensemble and the regular symphony orchestra. As all who have heard the group will agree, the result was a sparkling and extremely listenable new style of music for an upbeat audience.

CRYDERMAN'S CORNER

There has been a great deal of discussion concerning the behavior of basketball fans at Spring Arbor's home games. While most of the discussion is in good taste and fair, there is a side of the story that has not been heard from yet: the side of the team. In talking with several team members and the coaching staff I am prepared to defend the actions of our fans.

Let me generalize by saying that the spirit displayed by the fans this year is the best that it has ever been. From my own personal experience (that of thirteen years of attending SA contests) I have never seen such excitement and spirit displayed by any former student bodies. As a team member, I represent the entire team by expressing our appreciation to those of you who have turned out to the games and left with a hoarse voice. We appreciate the fact that you care enough to win that you would get mad when we are being shoved and abused, that you would stand and cheer as we come from behind to defeat much larger teams. We are proud to have teams come to our gymnasium and witness the tremendous spirit you show, regardless of the odds we may be up against.

There are those who feel that our students are rude and unchristian in their display of school spirit. While yelling at the referees is sometimes unnecessary, we of the team find it hard to criticize those who may get a little too upset. You see, we visit other schools and observe tactics that make even the loudest spectator from our school seem like a Sunday School Gold Star Scholar. Our star players suffer abuse that is unheard of. At one school the coach and players on the bench were spat on by the crowd. At another school one player on our team was loudly reminded of a very personal and private incident of the past. But, as a team, we take all that as part of the game. Afterward, we appease our emotions by saying things like, "Wait 'till they come to our floor!" Then, when we do get to our own court, we go all out for a group of students and faculty members who care enough to cast off their robes of aloof intellectualism and "let it all hang out." This is what is known as a home court advantage, and has nothing to do with our "spiritual condition."

The accusations levelled on the student body are only valid when the display of spirit becomes personal. Otherwise, the louder you yell, the better. This year has been the best in Spring Arbor basketball history and a good deal of the credit must go to the great school spirit displayed by our students and faculty. The entire Spring Arbor College community is to be praised for their exuberant support of the team. From the entire team, "Thanks!"

New Officers

On February 11, student council president Joe Lawrence installed two new student council members. They were: Paul Freibal, Social Life Director, and Dave Tjepekema, student association treasurer. In a ceremony void of any strict, formal procedures the two new officers accepted the charge and pledged faithful support to their respective duties.

The new social life director, Paul Freibal, used the convenience of the assembly to announce coming activities he has planned. He then revealed a number of plans which will add to the social life of SAC.

Curfew Policy Under Discussion

The curfew policy for women residents has recently been the topic of much discussion. Present hours are 10:30 p.m. on week nights, and 12 midnight on weekends with possible late cut permission slips. When asked of their personal opinions regarding the matter, the following students gave these answers:

PAUL BAKER: "My personal opinion on hours for girls, considering all circumstances, is that 10:30 is okay for week nights but weekend hours could be extended."

JAN JOHNSON: "I don't like to be in so early Sunday night because I can't go to my own church and get back in time. I think hours on Sunday could be extended to 12 midnight."

PHIL FRENCH: "Freshmen and Sophomores are a little bit immature for having unlimited hours, but Juniors and Seniors shouldn't have hours at all."

ELAINE FRANKS: "Hours should be 11 or 11:30 on week nights so we won't have to get late cuts to watch TV. 12:30 or 1:00 should be okay for the weekend."

JAN SEVER: "I think they're fine. There are rare occasions when I would like to be out later, but I think if they were extended I would still be in by 10:30."

MIKE COLLINS: "I believe girls hours should be 12 on week nights and 2:00 on week ends. When they make restrictions, the rules tend to get broken. Restrictions are necessary but shouldn't be so tough."

DIANE HOOPINGARDNER: "I think that Freshman and Sophomore students should have hours and the Juniors and Seniors, or those over 21 shouldn't have hours."

JEFF GWINN: "As they progress up the ladder, girls should be allowed more freedom. Seniors should be able to use their own discretion."

CHAR LEESON: "I can't see making an RA stay up any later than necessary for girls. There's really not too much to do around here. But I think that there should be an honor key system for upperclasswomen."

DAVE CULP: "Hours for Freshmen should be 12 on week nights, but I don't think there should be hours for upperclass girls because they need to learn how to make decisions like that for themselves."

KAREN McCORMICK: "I think the hours are good and wouldn't like to see them extended because it means even less sleep. We should value our health more than our social lives."

What's Happening At Other Schools? Read On:

For sometime there has been general discontent over the present hours policy for women at Spring Arbor College. In an attempt to show what other schools are experiencing in the area of changing hours policies the CRUSADER staff has compiled findings from correspondence with other colleges.

From THE DAILY REVEILLE, of Louisiana State University. Hours for freshman women were changed from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 12 to 12:45 a.m. Friday. Saturday remained 12:45 and Sunday remained 11 p.m. Freshman women are now allowed 10 midnight lates, and five 1:30 a.m. lates.

For upperclass women the new hours are 12 midnight Sunday through Thursday and 1:30 a.m. Friday and Saturday.

Grace minutes, a new addition, allows dormitory residents 15 minutes before penalties are incurred.

From THE TRAILBLAZER, Vincennes University. A number of VU women students were asked their opinions on women's hours. Most of them agreed that hours should be extended on weekdays and weekends.

Present hours are 10:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 1 a.m. on Friday and Saturday, and 11 p.m. on Sundays.

From the COLLEGE HEIGHTS HERALD, Western Ky. University. Several changes have gone into effect concerning hours. Women who have completed

Students Learn Possibilities At Washington D.C.

Kay Oldham, Jan Fast, Erma Rutgers, Dan Smith, and Mr. Ralph Carey participated in the Washington Seminar on Careers in the Federal Government during seminar week. The Washington Seminar was sponsored by the Office of Public Affairs of the National Association of Evangelicals. The purpose of the seminar was to give students an opportunity to observe the government in action and to become informed on professional opportunities for college graduates in the federal service. To accomplish these purposes the seminar itinerary included discussions and interviews in the White House, in the Executive Office Building, on Capitol Hill, in the Department of State, in the Pentagon, in the USIS and in the Civil Service Commission.

During the hours when the seminar was not in session, the group visited places of cultural and public interest.

two or more semesters of college work on a full time basis or who are over 21, have 12 p.m. privileges Sunday through Thursday.

Freshmen have 11 p.m. privileges Monday through Thursday and 12 p.m. privileges on Sunday.

All women have 2 a.m. privileges on Friday and Saturday. Previously, women had to sign in at 1 p.m. on these days.

These included the National Archives, the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, the Washington Monument, the Smithsonian Institute, the National Arts Gallery, Arlington, Harpers Ferry, and Gettysburg.

The highlights of activities on Capitol Hill were experiencing the opening of the House and Senate sessions, observing the Carswell hearings, and observing debates in the Foreign Relations sub-Committee on Vietnam. Other unique experiences were visits to the coffeehouses in Georgetown and the District of Columbia.

During the seminar participants could concentrate on areas of their interest and concern when there were blocks of free time. An interesting experience fell to Erma Rutgers as she was spending her free time on Capitol Hill making Congressional contacts. While visiting the office of Senator Edward Kennedy she met the young senator. To the amazement of his staff, he invited her into his office and informally discussed politics with her in that setting. As Miss Rutgers left the office, one of his secretaries snapped a picture from a Polaroid and later handed it to her.

CATERPILLAR COMMENTS

or How To Have A White Post Christmas

by Dave White

'Twas the night of McCrath's birthday
and all through the campus
The boys were all striving to raise up a ruckus.
The stockings were hung in the door-
ways with care,
In hopes that the boys soon would be there.
The girls were nestled all snug in their beds
While visions of SA guys danced in their heads.
Mrs. Voller in her kerchief and Prez in his cap
Had just settled down for a long winter's nap.
When out on the lawn there arose such
a clatter,
Prez sprang from his bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window Prez flew like a flash
Tore open the shutter and threw up the sash.
The moon on the breast of the new fallen snow
Gave the luster of midday to objects below.
When what to Prez's wondering eyes
should appear
But JOE LAWRENCE, GARY STAUF-
FER, and six of their peers.
With a little old leader who was quite
out of sight
Prez knew in a moment it must be BOB
WHITE.
More rapid than eagles his raiders they came,
They whistled and shouted and called girls by name.

Mid-Year 70:

A SUCCESS!

A unique excitement was created in the 1970 Mid-Year Seminar, "The Social and Ethical Implications of the Biological Revolution." The seminar brought a new realization of the actual problems facing the world as new discoveries are being made.

The first two speakers of the week were a pair of mental combatants from Cornell University, Drs. William T. Keeton and L. Pearce Williams. Williams, a humanist, argued that biological experimentation should be controlled until the human race is ready to accept and handle the responsibility. Keeton argued that a biologist has the right and responsibility to advance man as far as he can, and thereby try to solve the problems of discovery by technology.

And then as JOHN OWENS was turning

Down the halls the boys ran with a bound.
Dressed in blue jeans and old sweat-

While screaming and dancing and grab-

A sack of old garbage one flung on his

And looked like a peddler just opening

He spoke not a word but went right to

Dumping old trash with a fling and a

But the time was nigh up, BOB WHITE

And left with many bras, panties and

He sprang to his door, to his team gave

But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove
out of sight,
"Happy Birthday to Cliff, and to all a

On Wednesday, Dr. Richard Terman presented the problems created by overpopulation. His comments were highlighted by his own results of experiments with deer mice. Later that day, Dr. James Higgins outlined the possibilities and consequences of genetic engineering.

Dr. Jeremiah Turcotte, a renowned transplant surgeon, dealt with the scientific, ethical and legal problems inherent in transplantation surgery. Later Dr. Donald Joy of the Free Methodist Church of North America expressed what he felt was the Christian's responsibility to a technological world. That evening, Dr. Elizabeth Kubler-Ross discussed the ideas of death and dying and received a warm ovation at the end of her interesting speech. Particularly interesting were the experiences she has had interviewing people who were dying.

Put Your Faith To Work- Enlist In VISA Program

Volunteers in Service Abroad, known throughout the denomination as VISA, will sponsor youth crusades in the summer of 1970 to Canada and South Africa.

Dates for the Canadian venture where teams will minister on Indian Reservations in Alberta and Saskatchewan, are July 1-21. Cost of participation is $200; this does not include travel to and from crusade sites.

Dates for South Africa are July 24 to August 19 where crusade youth will be active in Transvaal, Natal-Cape and Rhodesia. Cost is $1150, including round trip travel from New York City.

1970 will represent the fifth summer in which teams have traveled abroad through the auspices of VISA. VISA is sponsored cooperatively by the General Missionary Board and the Department of Christian Education.

Teams engage in varied evangelistic ministries such as literature distribution, visitation, open-air services, children's Bible schools, radio and TV programming, gospel films, youth camps and new life campaigns.

College age youth are encouraged to request application forms by writing to Don Bowen, VISA Office, Free Methodist Church of North America, Winona Lake, Indiana 46590.

GV Stops Eight Last Second Effort Game Win Streak Stops Northwood

The Cougar eight-game winning streak was dramatically stopped as the Grand Valley Lakers revenged an earlier one-point loss here and topped SA 90-88 in overtime. The Cougars trailed most of the way, but tied the game with less than ten seconds to go on a bucket by Bobby Thompkins after an in-tight drive. It was his 38th point, and he wasn't through yet. He scored six more in the overtime for a school record of 44 points. Even this effort wasn't enough. Grand Valley tied the game with just over a minute left, then retrieved the poor in bounds pass. They waited for a last shot, and sub Chris Cannon took a driving, twisting, and apparently walking layup to win the game for GV. As the Cougars started to settle back for the apparent second overtime, the officials walked away indicating that the game had ended. The extra-curricular activities that followed left the contest marred in the eyes of many for good.

Spring Arbor trailed for 39 minutes and 52 seconds in the game, yet won the contest in the last eight seconds on a bucket by Mr. Clutch, Bobby Thompkins. The Cougars had never led, and trailed by 7 points with two minutes to go in the game. It was fairly evident to the astute observer that the effects of the previous evening's heartbreaker were still with the Cougars in this one. Yet they pulled themselves together, and virtually stole away the win to up their season's mark to 16 wins as compared to 6 losses. The win can in no way be underestimated with Tri-State, Aquinas, and Hillsdale all on this week's schedule, for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights. These games will no doubt determine the chances of SA's possible post-season tournament invitation from the NAIA.

Detroit Tech Given Taste Of Cougar Power

By the end of the semester break, the vacation basketball-wise was over, and the Cougars again had to play against some competition. But play they did. In a Saturday afternoon game the team invaded downtown Detroit and came away with a 106-90 victory over Detroit Tech for their eighth win in a row. The day belonged to Bobby Thompson. He scored 32 points and grapped a season's high of 22 rebounds to lead the team to win number 15, as compared to 5 losses.

Jerry Neigh and Gerald Byrd added 26 and 21 points, respectively, as the Cougars reached the 100 mark for the 14th time in 20 games. With nine games to go, the Cougars seem a cinch to surpass their season's record of 17-11 of last year which to this point had been the best one obtained in the history of the 4-year school here.

Cougar Country Rough Going For Houghton Cagers

The Cougar Cagers upped their victory string to 7 in a row with two overpowering conquests, a 108-59 win over Houghton, followed by a 114-49 win over Indiana-Purdue. The Cougars scored with monotonous regularity in both contests, with neither game proving to be terribly exciting except for the brilliant passing and teamwork of Spring Arbor in the easy wins. Everyone played and everyone scored in each of the contests. Bobby Thompson led the way with 54 points in the two games and Jerry Neigh added 41. Jimmy Jones' 16 points against Houghton and Joe Ginzer's 16 against Indiana-Purdue came as particularly happy surprises to Coach Burbridge. Their particular efforts showed the Cougar scoring punch to be even stronger than the fine averages of the big three scorers (Thompson, Neigh and Gerald Byrd) would indicate.

CONFUSED?

What's right - what's wrong?
Should I - shouldn't I?
May I - must I?

We don't claim to have all the answers but we're discussing it. It is our conviction that God's Word can help us find the answer. We invite you to come and search with us.
