*Michigan boasts of forests and lakes;
Her beauties our hearts entwine;
But there is a spot will ne'er be forgot,
Far dearer than lake or pine.*

*Then speed the glad song and the chorus prolong
Till the echoes reach heaven above;
Her banner unfurled shall bless the whole world
Spring Arbor, the school we love.*

*Tho' we may wander far from her halls,
Still mem'ries will linger near,
Of days full of joy without an alloy,
And friends we have loved while here.*

the 75th ANNIVERSARY

EDITION

of

THE ECHO

On her seventy-fifth birthday we enthusiastically present this photographic story of our Alma Mater. Each of these years has brought new accomplishments and the realization of new hopes through devoted sacrifice and labor of those before us. With deep gratitude we enjoy the fruits of their labors and pledge ourselves to an equal devotion in order that "our" school might have "many happy returns of the day."

SPRING ARBOR, MICHIGAN

spring arbor's past

In 1873 Spring Arbor Seminary was organized by the pioneer preachers of the Free Methodist Church. It was a humble beginning but the school was well known for its high ideals and its rigid pursuit of the Free Methodist doctrines. Down through the years of rapid growth and change those same ideals and principles have been upheld and with pride we've endeavored to "remove not the ancient landmarks which the forefathers have set." At the close of these seventy-five years we note the many improvements in the buildings and facilities. In the very near future the campus will appear much as the view below. All the buildings are constructed except the library and chapel unit, for which funds are now being raised. This growth has been possible largely through donations and endowments of men and women who have been interested in Christian education. We extend to them all, our recognition and heartfelt appreciation.

spring arbor's future

we dedicate

to—

Miss Carr, who with her scintillating personality, her wide interests, and deep spirituality, has made a genuine contribution to our student life at Spring Arbor, this year book.

we were guided faithfully

JAMES F. GREGORY, M. A., B. D.
President Religion, Greek

It is difficult to express our regard for our president. His thorough scholarly nature, his interest in the individual student, his humbleness, and above all, his daily portrayal of Christian qualities have left an indelible impression on our hearts. Sincerely we say, "We love him as a father."

CLARENCE D. DE CAN
Business Manager

We really believe that if it can be done; De-Can can do it. Where else could youth have observed a better personification of industriousness?

MRS. MYRTLE STEWART
Secretary

Her million dollar smile and eagerness to lend a helping hand make office trips into real pleasure trips.

OSCAR C. GRISWOLD, A. M.
*Dean-Registrar
Religion, Social Science*

All of us have observed his unselfish devotion to duty. We especially appreciate the unlimited time he spent advising us individually.

EVEA E. RENSBERRY, A. B.
Bursar

Miss Rensberry endeavors to keep the "Wheels" of the office running smoothly. Her office hours are all hours.

GEORGIA W. BABCOCK, R. N.
Dean of Women Nutritionist

Please tell us your secret, Miss Babcock. How do you maintain harmony in a house full of girls and still go around with that unperturbed disposition? More power to you!

MEAD W. KILLION, A. M.
*Dean of Men
Director Vocational Guidance
Social Science*

His leadership, his personal integrity, and his understanding of young people have made him a source of strength and inspiration to us.

W. DALE CRYDERMAN
*Counselor
Field Service Director*

In his first year on the campus he has done an admirable job. His contagious enthusiasm and good will make him a favorite with all students.

CHARLES W. KINGSLEY, A. B.
*Commerce
Veterans' Counselor
Field Service Director*

His rare synthesis of the humorous and the serious has attracted us strongly to him.

MABEL HARKCOM, A. M.
*Science
Mathematics
Art*

One has to know her for sometime before fully appreciating the vast stores of knowledge that lie behind her unassuming nature. Her unselfish consecrated life is uplifting.

DOROTHY J. LEHMAN, B. S.
*Piano, Organ
Physical Education
English*

Whether playing the organ, directing a ball game, or conducting a prayer meeting, Miss Lehman is tops!

DONALD McDONALD, A. M.
Mathematics
Physical Education

He has taught us how to combine an enthusiastic participation in sports with a true Christian character. We thank him sincerely.

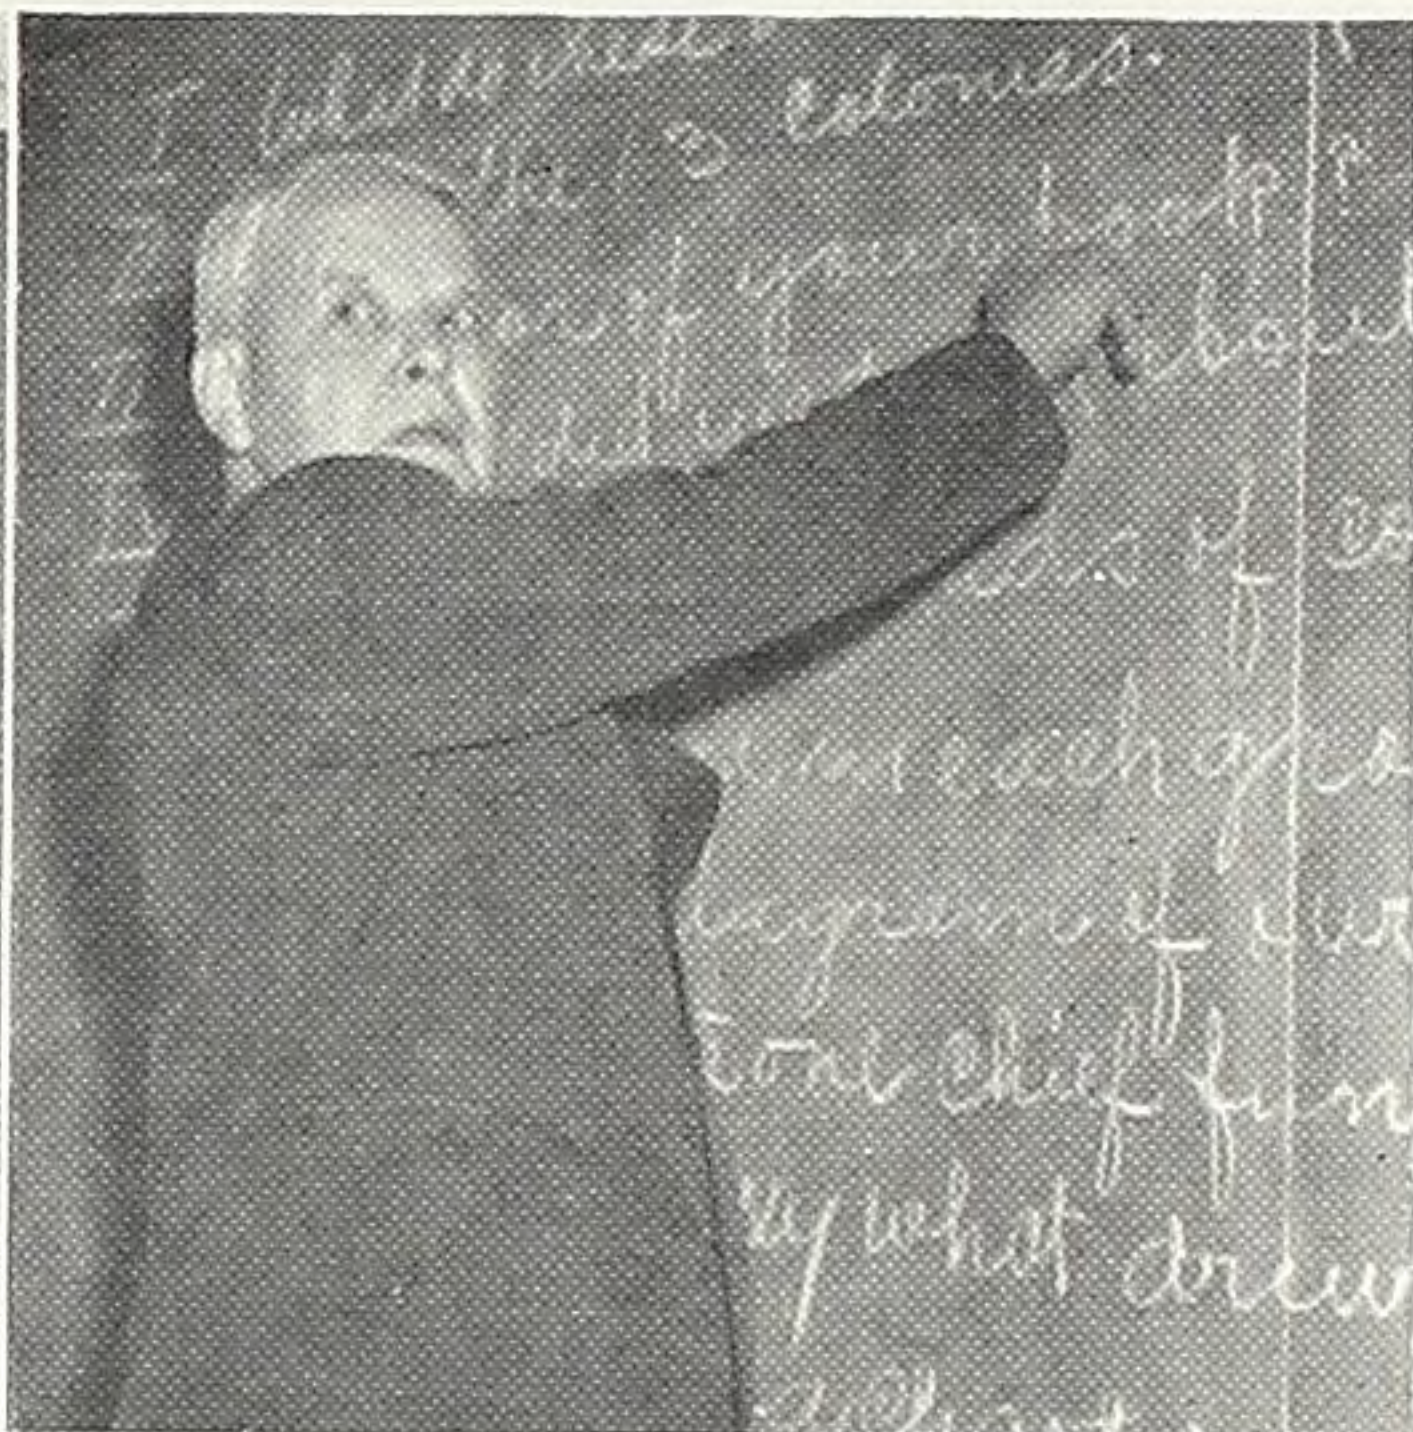

EDMUND C. SNYDER, A. M.
Spanish
Religion

Want to hear a funny story? Enroll for Spanish! Seriously, Mr. Snyder's anecdotes of his experiences in Spanish speaking countries have added much to our "Clase de Espanol."

DEAN S. SPENCER, A. M.
English
Social Science

One of those unforgettable characters—and what a lovable one! He made us learn and like it.

MYRLE I. THOMPSON
Piano
Voice
Dir. A'Cappella

We wonder if life is always a song for "Miss T." At any rate she is always capable of putting a song into our lives.

VIOLET MORGAN, B. S.
Commerce

New to the staff this year. Miss Morgan has endeared herself to all by her dignified feminine charm.

ELDON E. WHITEMAN, M. S.
Science

He is a master teacher of Biology. As he unfolds the mysteries of life, we more fully realize the fact that we are fearfully and wonderfully made.

DOROTHY KENNEY, A. B.
Commerce

Her efficiency speaks for her.

REV. L. D. VOORHEIS
Pastor

We all admire him for his devotion to duty, enthusiasm, deep sense of spiritual burden and cheerful participation in our school events.

MARGARET BUCKTA
Kitchen Supervisor

For her kind personality, her competent supervision in the kitchen, and her tasty meals we are indeed grateful.

EMORY BOADWAY
Farm Maintenance

He always has a smile and a cheerful word for everyone.

AVERY HENDERSON
Supt. of Buildings and Grounds

In constructing the new and maintaining the old, Mr. Henderson and his crew are experts.

DONALD GOLDSMITH
Maintenance
Construction

He whistles while he works.

college sophomore class history

"Oh, horrors, a chuck-hole!" This lament from an innocent victim of circumstances just released from Mr. Spencer's College Freshman Composition and Rhetoric class; the circumstances, the Sister Class Hike of '47.

"Well, pull your foot out of the mud and stagger on, we still have miles to go," was the sympathetic rejoinder from a battle-scarred Sophomore. After seemingly endless tramping and fence hurdling the exuberant Sophs and exhausted Freshies arrived at the proverbial Gravel Pit. But the Sophomores made up for their seeming "inhumanity to man" by serving a picnic spread that satisfied even the most ravenous Freshman.

The remaining autumn months were filled with all-school activities and frantic preparation for term exams, then the period of recuperation before the excitement of the Christmas Season.

Just before the long-awaited vacation, we assembled as a class in the festively decorated gym for a hilarious evening of games and entertainment that put the most reticent heart at ease. An appetizing lunch prepared and served by members of the class provided a perfect climax to a perfect evening.

What luck!—the Taylor family right here in Spring Arbor! What could be more appropriate than an Oriental theme for our banquet? Consequently, the Class of '48 set to work diligently to produce the most unique farewell gesture to our honorable upper-classmen that a class of cleverly talented students could contrive. The spacious basement room of the First Methodist Church in Jackson was a vision of mystical enchantment and the little tricky fans which opened up into combination menus, programs, and placecards provided ideal souvenirs. Mrs. James Taylor related, in an interesting conversational manner, many of the intriguing customs and traditions of China. We were challenged to the fields already "white for harvest" by her talk.

"Hoboes Amalgamated"—swarms of them and the typical fire with coffee brewing in a smoky pot and the proverbial laundry strung on jagged branches of trees in the hollow near the fire made up the "Hoboes Retreat", which was the fitting name for the Sister-Class Hike put on for the new College Frosh at the first of the new year. It was deep in the heart of "Tracy's Woods" as the mystified Freshies discovered by careful observation to directions tacked in true hobo style to fence posts and trees. After steaming chili and delicious watermelon had been hungrily devoured, the happy hoboes gathered around the fire to crown the King and Queen Hoboes and enjoy a delightfully informal program, highlighted by a realistic rendering of "The Cremation of Sam McGee."

We, as Sophomores of responsibility, took over the task of editing the RE-DIT. We resolved to present to the students of '48-'49 a school paper worthy of true interest. The lithoprinted copies featuring previews of school events, clever cartoons and column headings drawn by our apt artists, plus actual photographs, provided that "extra something" that put our paper in great demand to both students and the Field Service Department.

"Oh, we have been to Yankee Springs, Yankee Springs, Yankee Springs!" was the discordant but lively tune caroled in the eerie, half-dark chapel on that historic night of initiation, by cunning Sophomores after just pulling into S. A. from their flight to destination unknown. The Freshmen met us prepared and after an evening of riotous fun we limped back to our rooms to recuperate.

We spent the Friday night program reserved for our talents by "reminiscing in action." Our various talented members brought to our memory scenes of the many happy events we have experienced together in our two unforgettable years at Spring Arbor.

Class Night, as all the previous class of '48's productions, was outstanding and was followed by the banquet given in our honor by the College Freshmen. With reluctance we began to realize that our joyous days of Junior College were at an end and we were now facing serious living and our responsibilities as Christian citizens in a needy world.

college sophomores class prophecy

The room was dark, very dark, and one clad in Oriental garb sat gazing into a crystal ball whose glow dimly lighted the face of the gazer with a strange mysterious light. "Show me," said I, "what shall befall my fellow classmates, the Sophomore Class of '48." I seemed to be transported upon mystic wings to the great metropolis, New York City. When I came to myself I was upon a harbor ferry plying between Brooklyn and Manhattan. Glancing up at the pilot house I saw a face that looked strangely familiar. I inquired of one of the deck hands who he might be and found the pilot to be none other than H. Gifford Burr, an ardent hater of bridges who at this time was trying to run Brooklyn Bridge out of business.

Needless to say, I immediately availed myself of the opportunity to see this old classmate of mine and he received me as a long lost brother. He insisted on taking me to his home on Sand Street where his wife, the former Miss Lechner, prepared for us a sumptuous fare with her can opener.

After dinner we decided to see the sights of the city so we hailed a taxi and soon found ourselves at Rockefeller Center. Here we saw Dr. Pike's extensive research laboratory which at the present time is experimenting on the prevention of corns. Dr. Pike assured us that due to his experiments scarcely one person in ten now has the troublesome things. Dr. Pike rang a small buzzer and in a short time three ladies came to his office, whom he introduced to us as Miss Henderson, Miss Shelton, and Miss Gregg. They were at the present time carrying out Dr. Pike's corn prevention program in the poorer sections of Brooklyn and thereby winning the love and admiration of all.

Finally we said goodbye to Dr. Pike and his assistants and took a bus down Fifth Avenue. We were startled somewhat to see the Empire State Building painted a flaming red and trimmed with apple green. Mr. Burr told me that the decorating firm of C.B.B.S. had just completed the job. The C.B.B.S. standing for Campbell, Beitelschies, Bryant, and Smith. Of course, you probably remember Mrs. Bryant as simply Hilda Mallett.

Later in the evening we went to the Metropolitan Opera House and endured the opera, "Faust." Looking at our programme sheets we found that the noted tenor D. Cleveland was to sing the part of Faust and a newcomer in the field, Archie Thomas, had the role of Mephistopheles. Of course, Miss Bentley sang the part of Gretchen as she has every season since Margaret Truman's forced retirement from the stage.

Again the scene darkened and again I found myself in that room with the crystal gazer. "What of the others"? I cried, "you have shown me only a few." "Have patience," said he, "and I will show you all." Again I was transported on mystic wings and landed in a city I had never been in before. "Sir," said I to a working man, "could you tell me where I am?" "You are in Lum, Michigan, my friend, and I am Bob Canfield." I proceeded to introduce myself and Bob was overjoyed to see an old friend. He told me that fortune hadn't been smiling on him too brightly at the present time since Lolly Connor had been elected president and had placed the country on the copper standard. He was making a meager living for himself and his philosophical wife, the former Miss Newell, by digging ditches.

He told me that Lum has quite a few of our former classmates in it, among whom are the two Beardslee brothers who are quite prominent in the local school life; Kenneth as principal of Lum High School and Verlyn as school janitor. Verlyn is putting in a lot of overtime to pay for Lou's Master's Degree. She still doesn't know what she'll do with it once she has it. Kenneth hasn't such bad luck. It is reported that Angie is one of the most exemplary housewives in all Lum. Rev. J. Lukens is the local pastor and Betty Johnson is president of the H.S.A.O.S., the Honorable Society for Advancement of Old Maids.

Janice Green and her two models, Ada Church and Joanne Feltz, are running a local school of Charm. It is reported that coyness is the keynote of her luring program.

Once again the scene changed and I found myself in our fair Alma Mater, the rapidly growing city of Spring Arbor. Here I saw a beautiful campus on which stood magnificent edifices—all in the finest of Gothic Architecture and resplendent in shining marble. As I walked down the central corridor in the Administration Building I saw names on the various doors that recalled former days. One said, "A. M. Albright, President"; others read: "D. Elden Adams, Business Manager"; "Dale G. Lewis, Athletic Director and Dean of Men"; "Davidson and Anderson, Field Service Directors"; "Prof. J. D. Rose, Mathematics"; "Prof. Ward W. Bodine, Social Science"; "L. V. Kasten, Dean of Women"; and "L. Longstreet, Nutritional Advisor."

Farther down the hall I saw a jovial man whom I recognized at once as Bill Rosenberger. He told me that he was the college handy man. Bill said that the Rev. William Terman is the pastor of Spring Arbor Cathedral and his wife, Alice, is very prominent in local society.

Two of the faculty married former classmates: Jim Davidson to Marian Scott and Julian Rose to Nela Hignite.

Ray Brown is the distinguished curator of the local Rogue's Gallery and Donna Garnett is manager of Woodhurst's Department Store.

Bill assured me that the old school spirit still prevails. Even Adams, the Business Manager, is still using the sermon that the venerable C. D. DeCan gave him upon his retirement.

Slowly my eyes opened and I found myself in bed with sunlight streaming in the window. One look at my clock convinced me I had only time enough to throw on some clothes and get to my first hour class.

senior class history

When we first entered school, we felt as "free as a bird in the air," but very soon we got used to studying and being under a few good 'ole rules'. The freshman year just seemed to creep along, and we watched the Seniors at graduation time and wondered if we would ever reach that place.

The Sophomore year seemed to glide along much smoother. We were more accustomed to rules, regulations, and study habits. This proved to be a successful year, so we planned a much better one the following year.

The Junior year opened with thrills, excitement, and opportunity. We had great pleasure in participating in many activities, but we count the Junior-Senior Banquet the greatest of them all. The entire theme, as well as the program, was of a Spanish nature. The hotel in which it was held was decorated in Spanish style. The event was about the climax of our Junior year.

We finally reached the place where we wondered if we ever would—"Senior year". What do we remember most about this year? Why 'twas the Senior Skip Hike, of course. About two o'clock in the morning all the Seniors were up rushing here and there. In a little while we were off for a big week-end at East Liverpool, Ohio. We unpacked and set up light house keeping on the Free Methodist Camp Ground. We divided into three groups and were off for an afternoon of fun. One group went to Pennsylvania and rode on cable cars, another to a little old school house where they observed the method of teaching, and the other group to a pottery plant. As it grew dusk, we all returned to the camp ground for a good meal. We can all say that the devotional period around the camp-fire that night is something that we will carry as a very dear memory through many years, for the Spirit of the Lord was certainly present! We joined hands and sang "Bless Be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love".

Sunrise the next morning found us packing to start our journey back to good old S. A. We stopped at a pottery plant and here we were led about the different departments of the plant. A few hours later we were quite disturbed for we were nearing our destination and we knew our schoolmates—the Juniors—were awaiting us with an evening of "queer fun". Thanks, Juniors for such a nice evening of entertainment although we did have to wait forty-eight hours longer.

We were the ones to be honored at banquet time this year and we wish to express our appreciation, for such a good one, to every Junior that helped to make it thus.

We come to the end of this year; our high school career is ended. We can feel a big lump in our throats for we are having to leave many dear friends which we may never see again, and we think of all the fun we have had together. How can we help but have an aching heart? Look up, Seniors, there are better days ahead for us and wide horizons of service will open.

senior class prophecy

Place: Detroit, Michigan

Time: 1968

On a bleak December day at 10:00 A. M. we find the elderly gentleman, Mr. Richard Kelly Vaught, now bearded and slightly bent with years, but still wearing his prided plaid shirts, (today a yellow and green one). We find him unlocking the creaking door of his second-hand bookstore and slowly easing himself into his familiar leather cushioned rocking chair. He pulls the chair close to the big rusty stove in the center of the room and begins to rock leisurely as he watches the lone flame curl around a log. He becomes unconscious in thought and starts to rock a little too vigorously for a man of his age. A much too enthusiastic push sends him plunging into a rickety book case and a disaster occurs. Although the bearded gentleman doesn't mind the few bumps he receives, it breaks his heart to think of the work he has caused himself. Of course, he could hire the boy who keeps up his correspondence to pick them up for a dime but this would be even more heart breaking. Bending over hesitantly, he starts to pick up the dust cluttered books one by one. Suddenly his eyes take on a look of rapturous delight for he thinks he sees—yes, it is! It's a Spring Arbor "Echo" for the year 1948. He eagerly picks it up and seats himself again in his rocking chair to glance through the pages and reminisce of his Senior year in high school. He absent mindedly runs across the class prophecies.

"We, the Senior Class of 1948, after much thought and weeks of vigil over the crystal ball see that—Ralph Seifken will be the "Before" and "After" model for muscle man Charles Atlas.

Rae Howe and Janet Voorheis, the "P.K.'s" of the Senior class, will be working diligently on their circuit in East Michigan Conference to raise the membership to fifty.

Bob Parks will be teaching dudes to herd cattle on his five-acre ranch.

Sadie Crain, Shirley Scramlin, Clara Flowers, and Anne Davis will be operating a school in the North for teaching the Southern brogue.

Jackie Hopingardner will have authority over a lot of little "Towns."

Rev. and Mrs. Avis will be endeavoring to make ends "meat" on their first circuit at Hamburg, Pennsylvania.

Buhl and Buckta Baby Nurseries will unite to make one big happy family.

Miss Maxine Brown will be the "Miss B" of Spring Arbor Four Year College.

Donna Abramson will be working at WJR with her own fifteen minutes of broadcasting "Wake-Up Exercises"—1-2-3-4-bend!

The honorable Messrs. A. Fritz, H. Steel, R. Terman and W. Williamson will be traveling extensively as the renowned Senator Quartet.

High School Students the world over will be griping because they have to read Robert Bryant's poetry in their American Literature Classes.

The chief executives of the West Coast Bachelor's Club will be none other than Don Martz, Ron Howison, Jim Snyder and Clancy Thompson."

Mr. Vaughn reads all of the prophecies except the last one before he awakens to the fact that each one has come true. It was amazing that that class had such foresight!

Just then, unnoticed by Mr. Vaught, who was reading the last prophecy, the young boy that kept up the old man's correspondence, noisily enters the store and gasps at what he sees. Sure enough, the old tyrant is weeping. He tiptoes to the back of his chair and follows the old man's finger as it follows the last sentence on the page:

"Richard Vaught will be the Business Manager of our Alma Mater following the footsteps of our beloved Mr. Clarence DeCan."

There comes a time in every school year when the year book must be compiled, so it falls to the lot of the Echo Staff, chosen for the express purpose of putting out this year book, to do their best with the task allotted to them.

We have tried to do our best to give you an Echo that will recall your days at Spring Arbor, and bring answering echos, fainter and fainter down across the years, of this school year of 1947-48.

The Re-Dit Staff, composed entirely of College Sophomores, has done much to keep life interesting around Spring Arbor. Every two weeks, students eagerly put aside other business to read the latest gossip, field service reports, and write-ups by the various reporters.

Under the able management of the staff, the paper has been much improved over other years, due to litho-printing instead of mimeographing.

The primary purpose of the club is to show that amateur photography can be an interesting, constructive, and yet inexpensive hobby.

The Field Service Department is largely composed of members of the Ministerial Association group.

Although the Field Service Department is the "infant project" of this year, its influence has been far-reaching throughout the territory. Under the direction and leadership of Mr. Kingsley and Mr. Cryderman, churches of the area have been supplied with student preachers, singing groups, and calling groups. On weekends, and for evening services, gospel teams have been sent out to minister to our people in Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana. We cannot measure either the work that has been accomplished for the Lord or the wealth of experience that has been gained by this group of young people.

a cappella chorus

It is a great privilege for a student in Spring Arbor to be chosen as a member of the a Cappella Chorus. But beyond this privilege is the responsibility that rests on each one to live so that the songs which are sung will be a ringing testimony from the heart. The secret of true music is knowing and experiencing that which we sing about.

The spring tour is the main function of the organization and furnishes excellent experience for the members as well as many enjoyable times which any one of the group will relate at length and with pleasure. Among themselves they hilariously reminisce about such things as "A dill pickle in the Kalamazoo concert", "the good 'ole Greyhound bus driver", and the time someone pushed two basses off the back row during a concert . . . etc., etc.

The tour this year was as follows:

March 21	Jackson, Mich.	March 30	Lewiston, Mich.
March 26	Mansfield, Ohio	March 31	Cadillac, Mich.
March 27	Toledo, Ohio	April 1	Grand Rapids, Mich.

college varsity basketball

In their second year as a team separate from the High School, the College developed into another good squad under the able coaching of Mr. Whiteman.

Long will be remembered the exciting games with the High School and other fine teams. The main event this year was the games at Roberts Jr. College where our boys lost twice, but not without a brave fight.

Despite the loss of two of his outstanding players as well as the usual disappointments, Coach McDonald came through the season with another winner. The team won most of their games, including two with Roberts. In an intramural game, Wilbur Williamson, one of the seniors, established quite a record when he sank 11 out of a possible 12 free throws.

district championship basketball team

For the first time in the history of Spring Arbor the High School walked away with the beautiful trophy presented by the Michigan High School Association for defeating all the Class D teams in the district. The school and the entire community backed the team enthusiastically to each victory.

Not only did they exhibit fine ball handling on the floor but their excellent sportsmanship was very commendable.

This photo was taken immediately after the championship game was won in the Jackson High School gymnasium.

As winter faded away and basketball season ended, most boys turned to baseball for their exercise and recreation. The usual number of new stars was discovered to take place of those who did not return this year. The games were marked by home runs, base stealing, and spectacular plays, which all go to make baseball the exciting game it is.

all school baseball

all star football

This year's outstanding football team was known for its smooth-running plays and fine blocking which makes for a winner. Only one outside game was played this year. However, Spring Arbor won by such a lopsided score that we can guess what might have happened to other opponents. Looking at the intramural program, we find that the College Freshmen took the championship again this year but with some very close competition by the College Sophomores.

The College Freshman, with splendid blocking and fine ball handling, walked away with the intramural football championship without a defeat. However, their record was marred when the College Sophomores fought to a six-six tie in one of the most thrilling games of the season. The team will be the first to have their name engraved on a trophy recently donated to the school by Dr. Gibbons, of Kalamazoo.

This year marked the third year of a full track program for the High School with Mr. McDonald as coach. The boys spent many hours in getting themselves ready for the tournament. All of which proved worthwhile when some of the boys brought back awards. The annual school track meet was held again this year with each class putting on a performance which they hoped would bring them the championship.

a matter
of degrees

The enjoyment of electric and gas service depends, much like an education, on the degree to which it is used.

Wires and mains, like brain cells and nerve centers, are full of potential energies needing but to be called upon to bring to you new realms of convenience, helpfulness and comfort.

These services are aiding in creating new standards of living, in shortening and lessening domestic labor and through the allowing of more time for relaxation, leisure and recreation, such services contribute to health, and longer and fuller lives.

These advantages, both economic and personal, are yours for but a few cents a day—one of your soundest investments.

To All Who Have

Made This

Anniversary Issue Possible

THANKS TO YOU —

1. We have been able to serve youth and the church for 75 years.
2. We have been able to expand facilities without incurring indebtedness.
3. We offer a Christ centered, balanced program of education designed to meet the needs of today's youth.
4. We face the future determined to maintain the high standards of education and religious life which have characterized Spring Arbor for 75 years.

and so's the Greyhound fare to

—Nearby Towns

If your trip will be a short one, take advantage of Greyhound's convenient schedules and easy-riding coaches, which usually carry you closer to your exact destination. And remember: Greyhound's dollar-stretching fares are easy on the budget!

—All America

If you choose a vacation spot almost anywhere in the 48 States, Canada—and down to Mexico—Greyhound can take you there! You'll really see America, too, as you travel close-up to all the drama and color that occurs along the Nation's highways.
