"Get your work in on time!" The staff was reminded of this many times by the editor, under whose leadership the staff worked hard to put out an excellent year-book. The editor, assistant editor, business manager, and assistant business manager were elected by the student body. These four chose the staff, keeping in mind that they wanted to present to the students and the faculty a good Echo. The task is now completed, and they hope you are proud of what they have accomplished.

DEDICATION

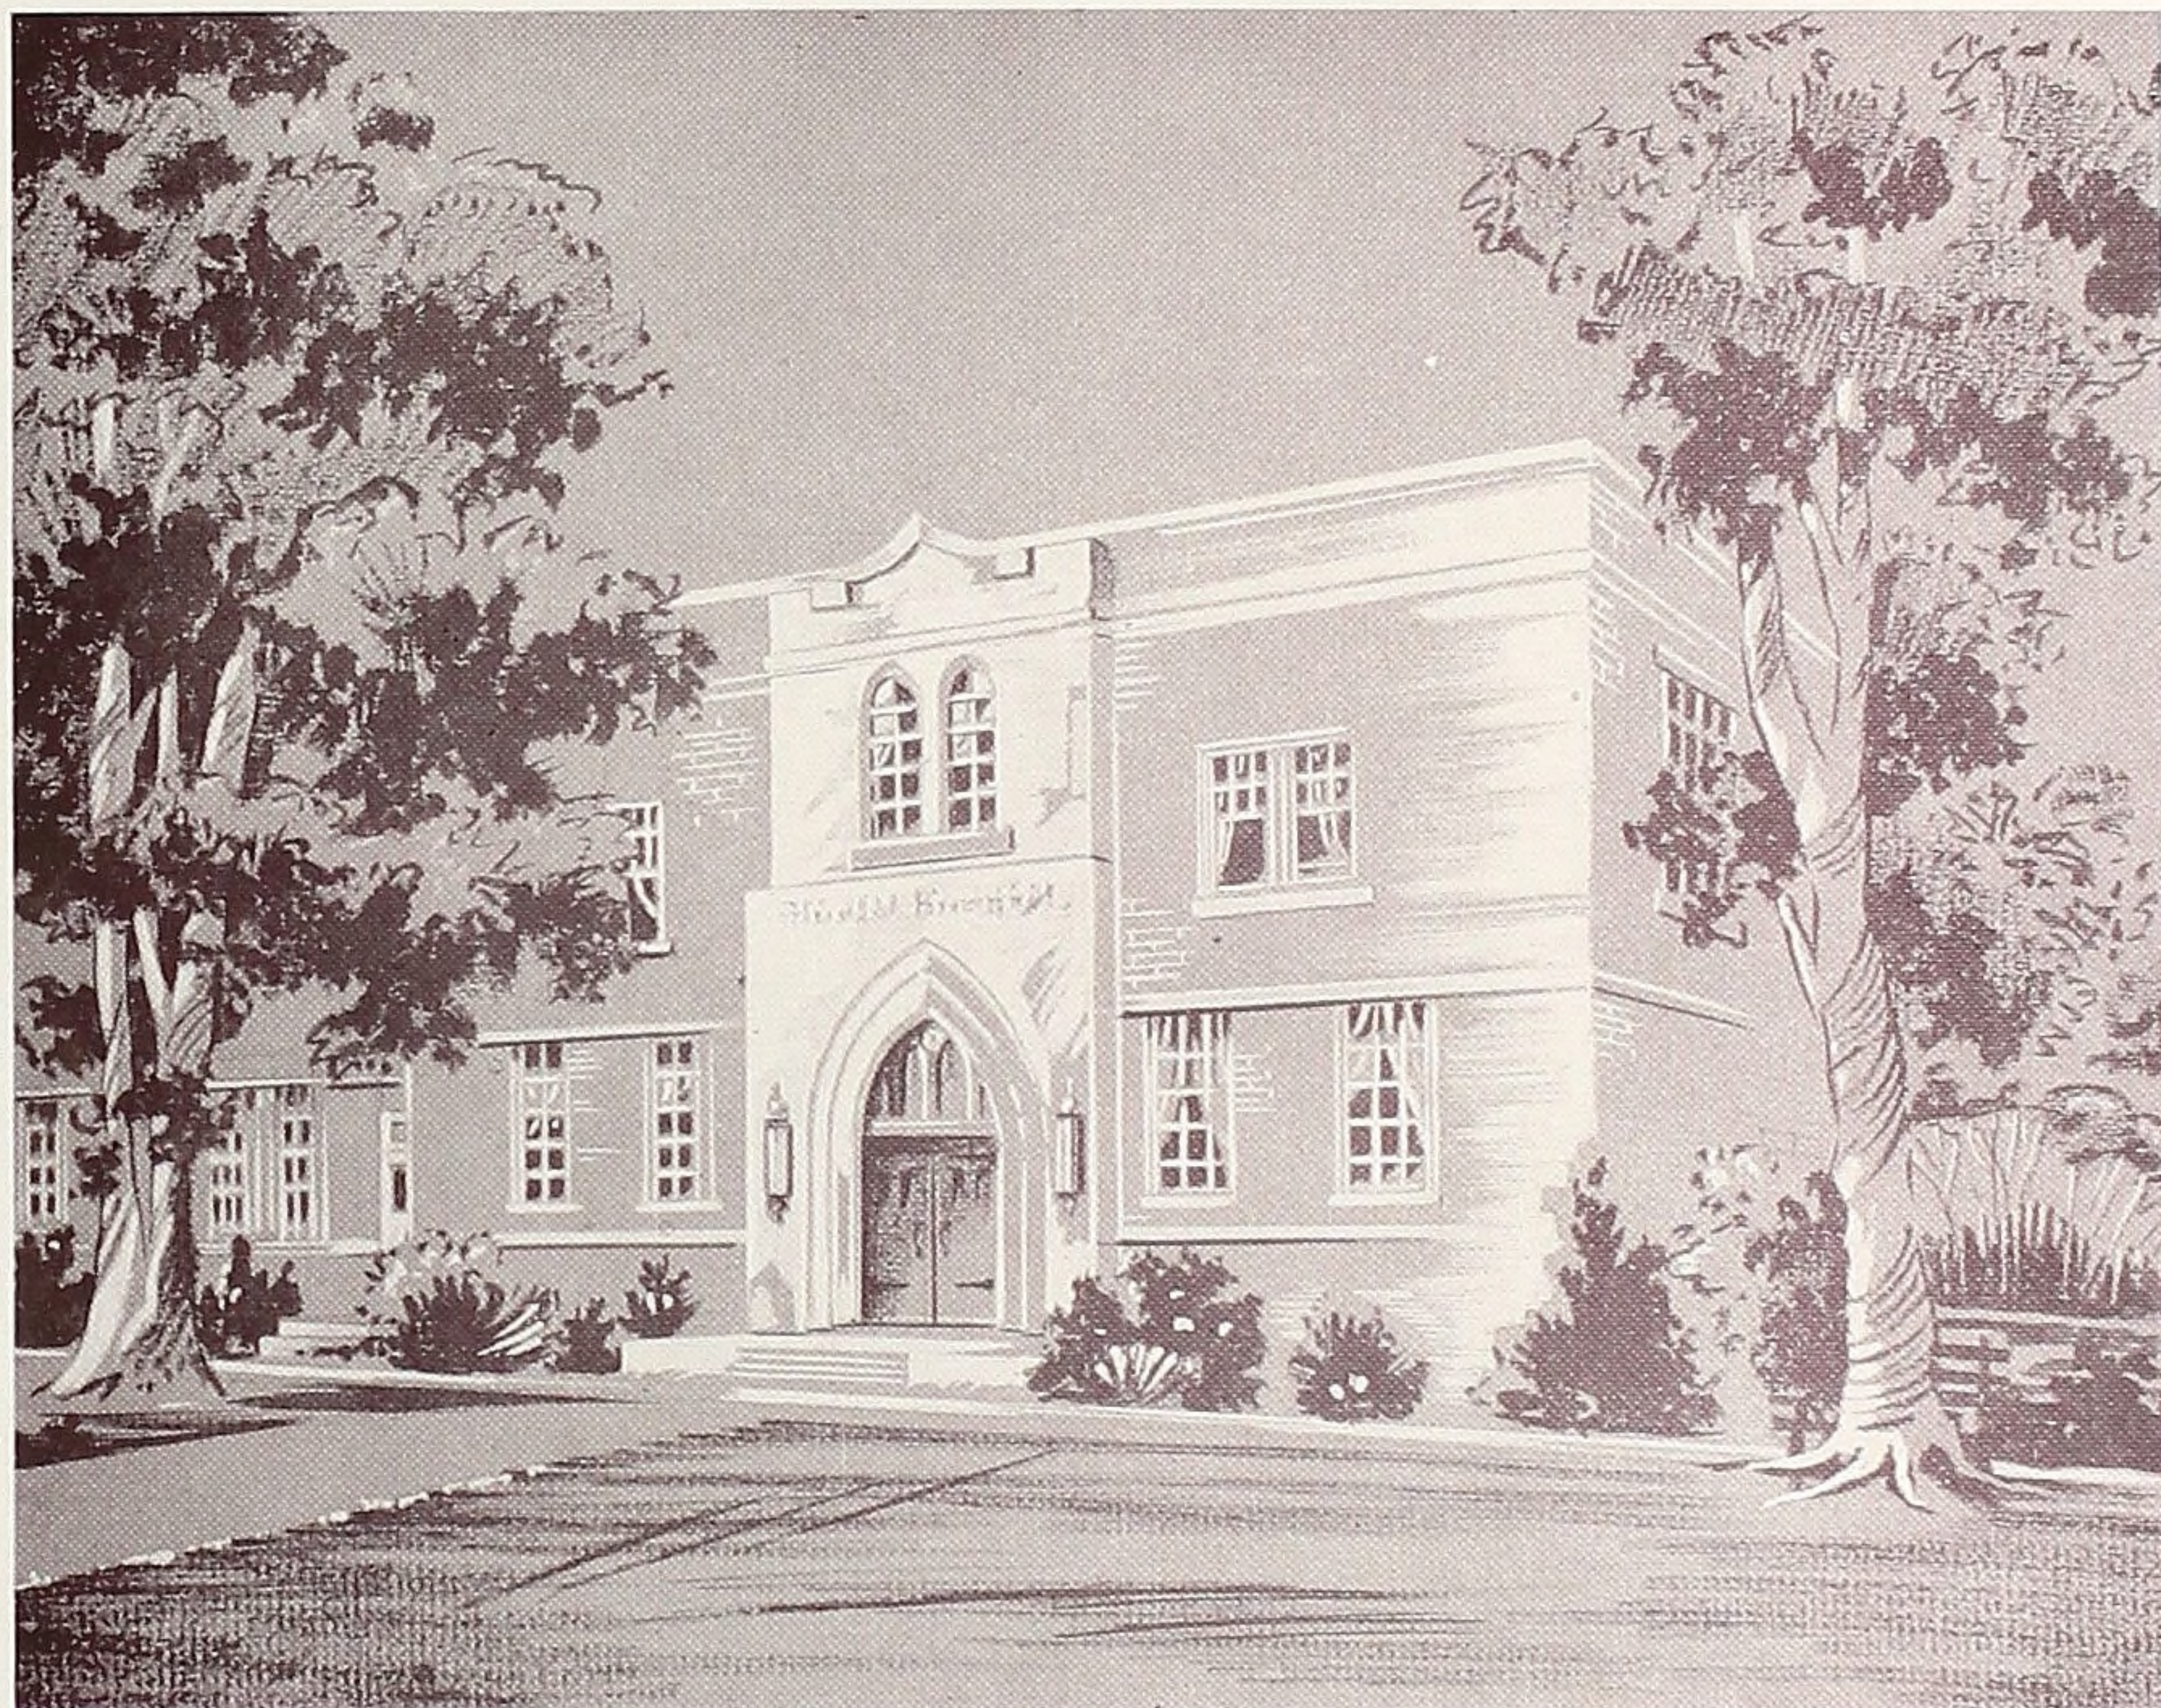

REV. L. D. VOORHEIS

To—

Our Pastor
whose life of devotion, zeal for souls,
sympathetic counsel,
appreciation of others,
and spiritual ministry has influenced the lives of every student,
this volume is lovingly dedicated.

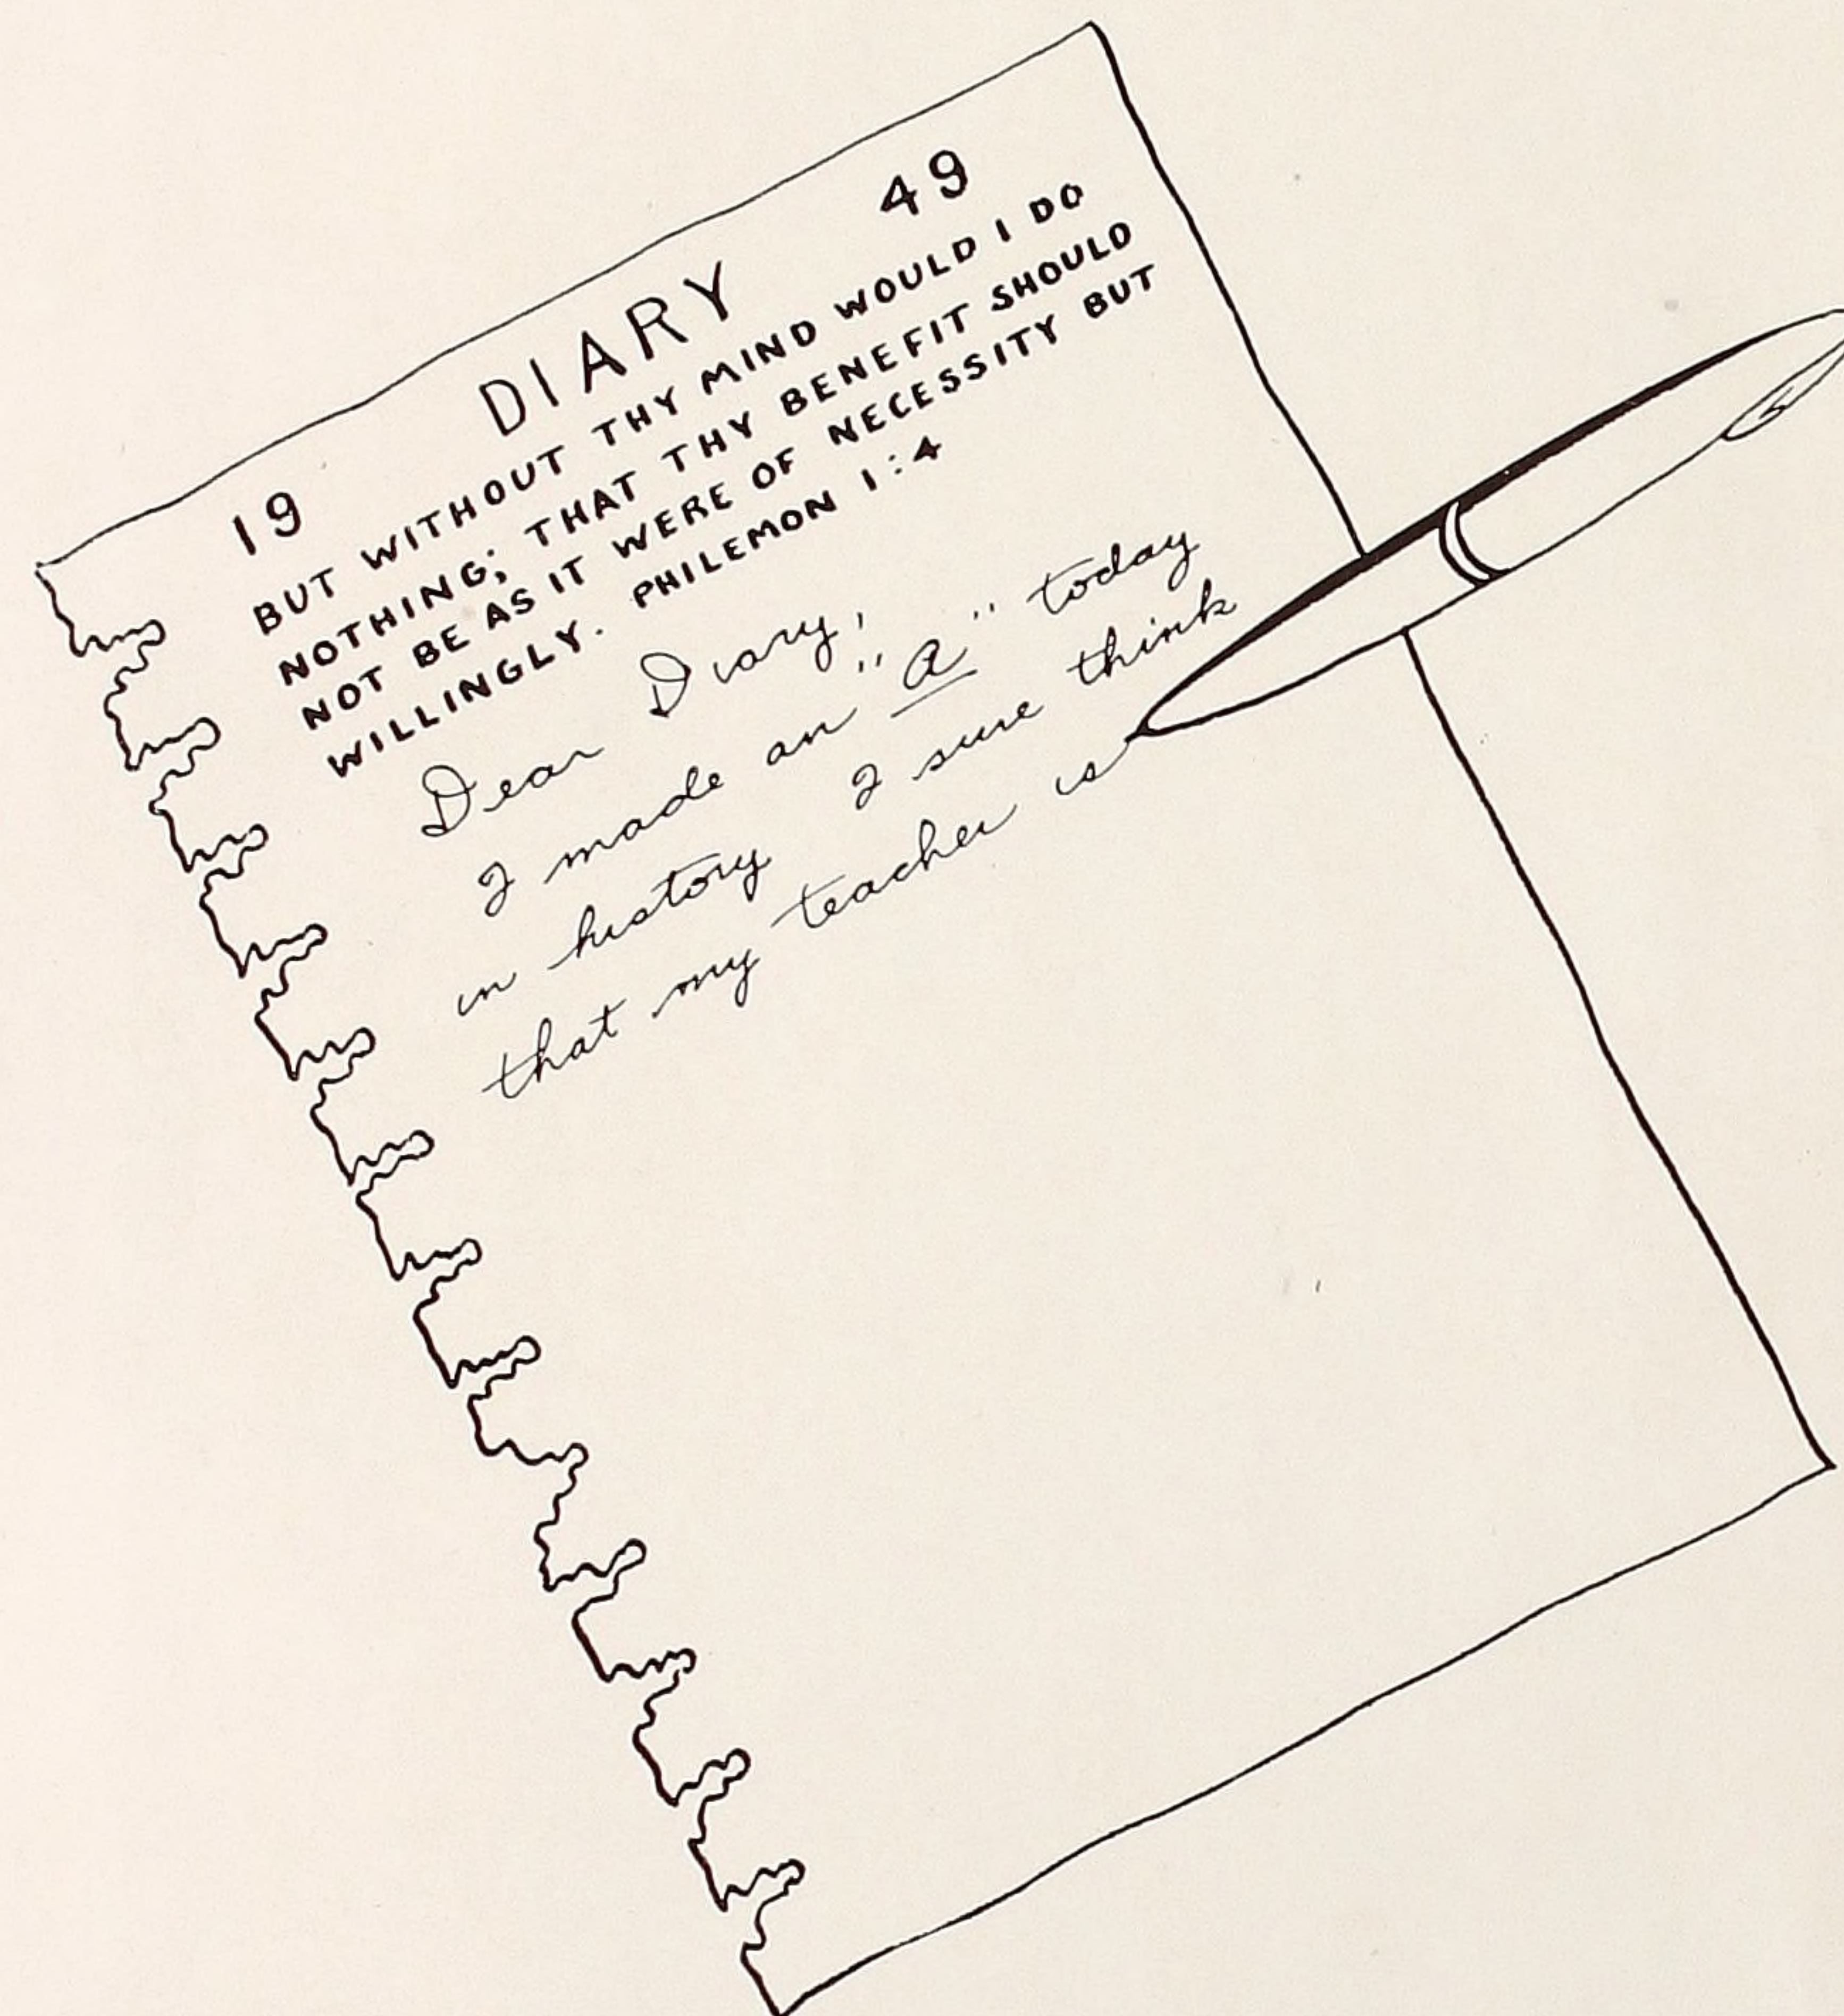

PRESSING FORWARD

THE E. P. HART MEMORIAL CHAPEL

We take great pleasure in introducing the E. P. Hart Memorial Chapel. The edifice will be most appropriately named after Rev. E. P. Hart, the great pioneer preacher who founded Spring Arbor Seminary some seventy-six years ago. Today we find the temporary chapel inadequate. Having more than three hundred students, the need for a larger building is evident. With plans in mind the construction of this much needed chapel will soon be started. Under present conditions the more than three hundred students find difficulty in securing seats for themselves. However, with the new chapel having seating capacity for eight-hundred persons, there will be little trouble in accommodating all the students, and any visitors wishing to drop in will find ample room. So it is with eager anticipation that we look forward to the time when the E. P. Hart Memorial Chapel will be a reality.

FACULTY

ADMINISTRATION

JAMES F. GREGORY, M.A., B.D.,
D.D.

President Religion, Greek

It is difficult to express in mere words our feeling for the President. His interest, fair and generous dealing, his unselfish devotion to duty bring to him the title of a revered person.

OSCAR C. GRISWOLD, A.M.

*Dean-Registrar
Religion, Social Science*

Remember how very personally Mr. Griswold gave each of us individual attention and guidance? He also specializes in "geography."

CLARENCE D. DeCAN

Business Manager

With his brooms, pails, pots, pans and "pep" talks, Mr. DeCan inspires us to make Spring Arbor absolutely germ-free.

HENRY A. RYCKMAN, B.S.,
A.B.

Dean of Men Music, Shop

His unobtrusiveness makes him a pleasant person to have around.

MABEL HARKCOM, A.M.

Science, Art Mathematics

How can one head hold so much knowledge? She aptly fits the description of a brainy woman.

LEONARD SOLDAN, M.A.

English, Social Science

Because of his interest in the students, his fairness and liberality, we claim Mr. Soldan as one of our favorite teachers.

ALICE E. TAYLOR, B.S.

*English, Latin
Social Science*

She teaches us all those little things that are so important.

DEAN S. SPENCER, A.M.

*English
Social Science*

An earthly saint! Mr. Spencer has given us some wonderful, unforgettable thoughts in his chapel talks and classes.

DONALD McDONALD, A.M.

*Mathematics
Physical Education*

He adds sports and Math together and gets the sum of an outstanding Christian life.

M. CELESTINE CARR, A.B.

English, Social Science

We will remember Miss Carr for her sweetness and truly Christian spirit.

GEORGIA W. BABCOCK, R.N.

Dean of Women Nutritionist

Miss B. isn't exactly like a mother, but she certainly is understanding.

FACULTY

EDMUND C. SNYDER, A.M.

Spanish, Religion

Sin pensar! His dry sense of humor turns many a class into an informal affair.

MYRLE I. THOMPSON

*Piano, Voice
Dir. A'Cappella*

It's a pleasure to have Miss T. for a teacher because she instructs us in such a simple but effective way.

VIOLET MORGAN, B.S.

Commerce

We admire Miss Morgan for her brisk efficiency and sweet femininity.

ELDON E. WHITEMAN, M.S.

Science

A grand person—we learn the facts of biology even though his methods aren't stern.

DALE CRYDERMAN

*Counselor
Field Service Director*

We students really appreciate people like "Dale", for he treats each one of us as though we were his very best friends.

CHARLES W. KINGSLEY, A.B.

*Veterans' Counselor
Field Service Director
Commerce, Social Science*

To think there could be so much humor behind such an apparently serious face.

GENERAL STAFF

EVEA E. RENSBERY, A.B.

Bursar

Her seldom-seen smile causes us to realize that the "book-work" of S.A. is overwhelming.

MARGARET BUCKTA

Kitchen supervisor

People can't gripe about the food when Mrs. Buckta does the cooking.

AVERY HENDERSON

Supt. of Buildings and Grounds

The repair man around S.A., he keeps the wheels turning.

EMORY BOADWAY

Farm Maintenance

An efficient and congenial farm manager.

ARCHIE WOODHURST

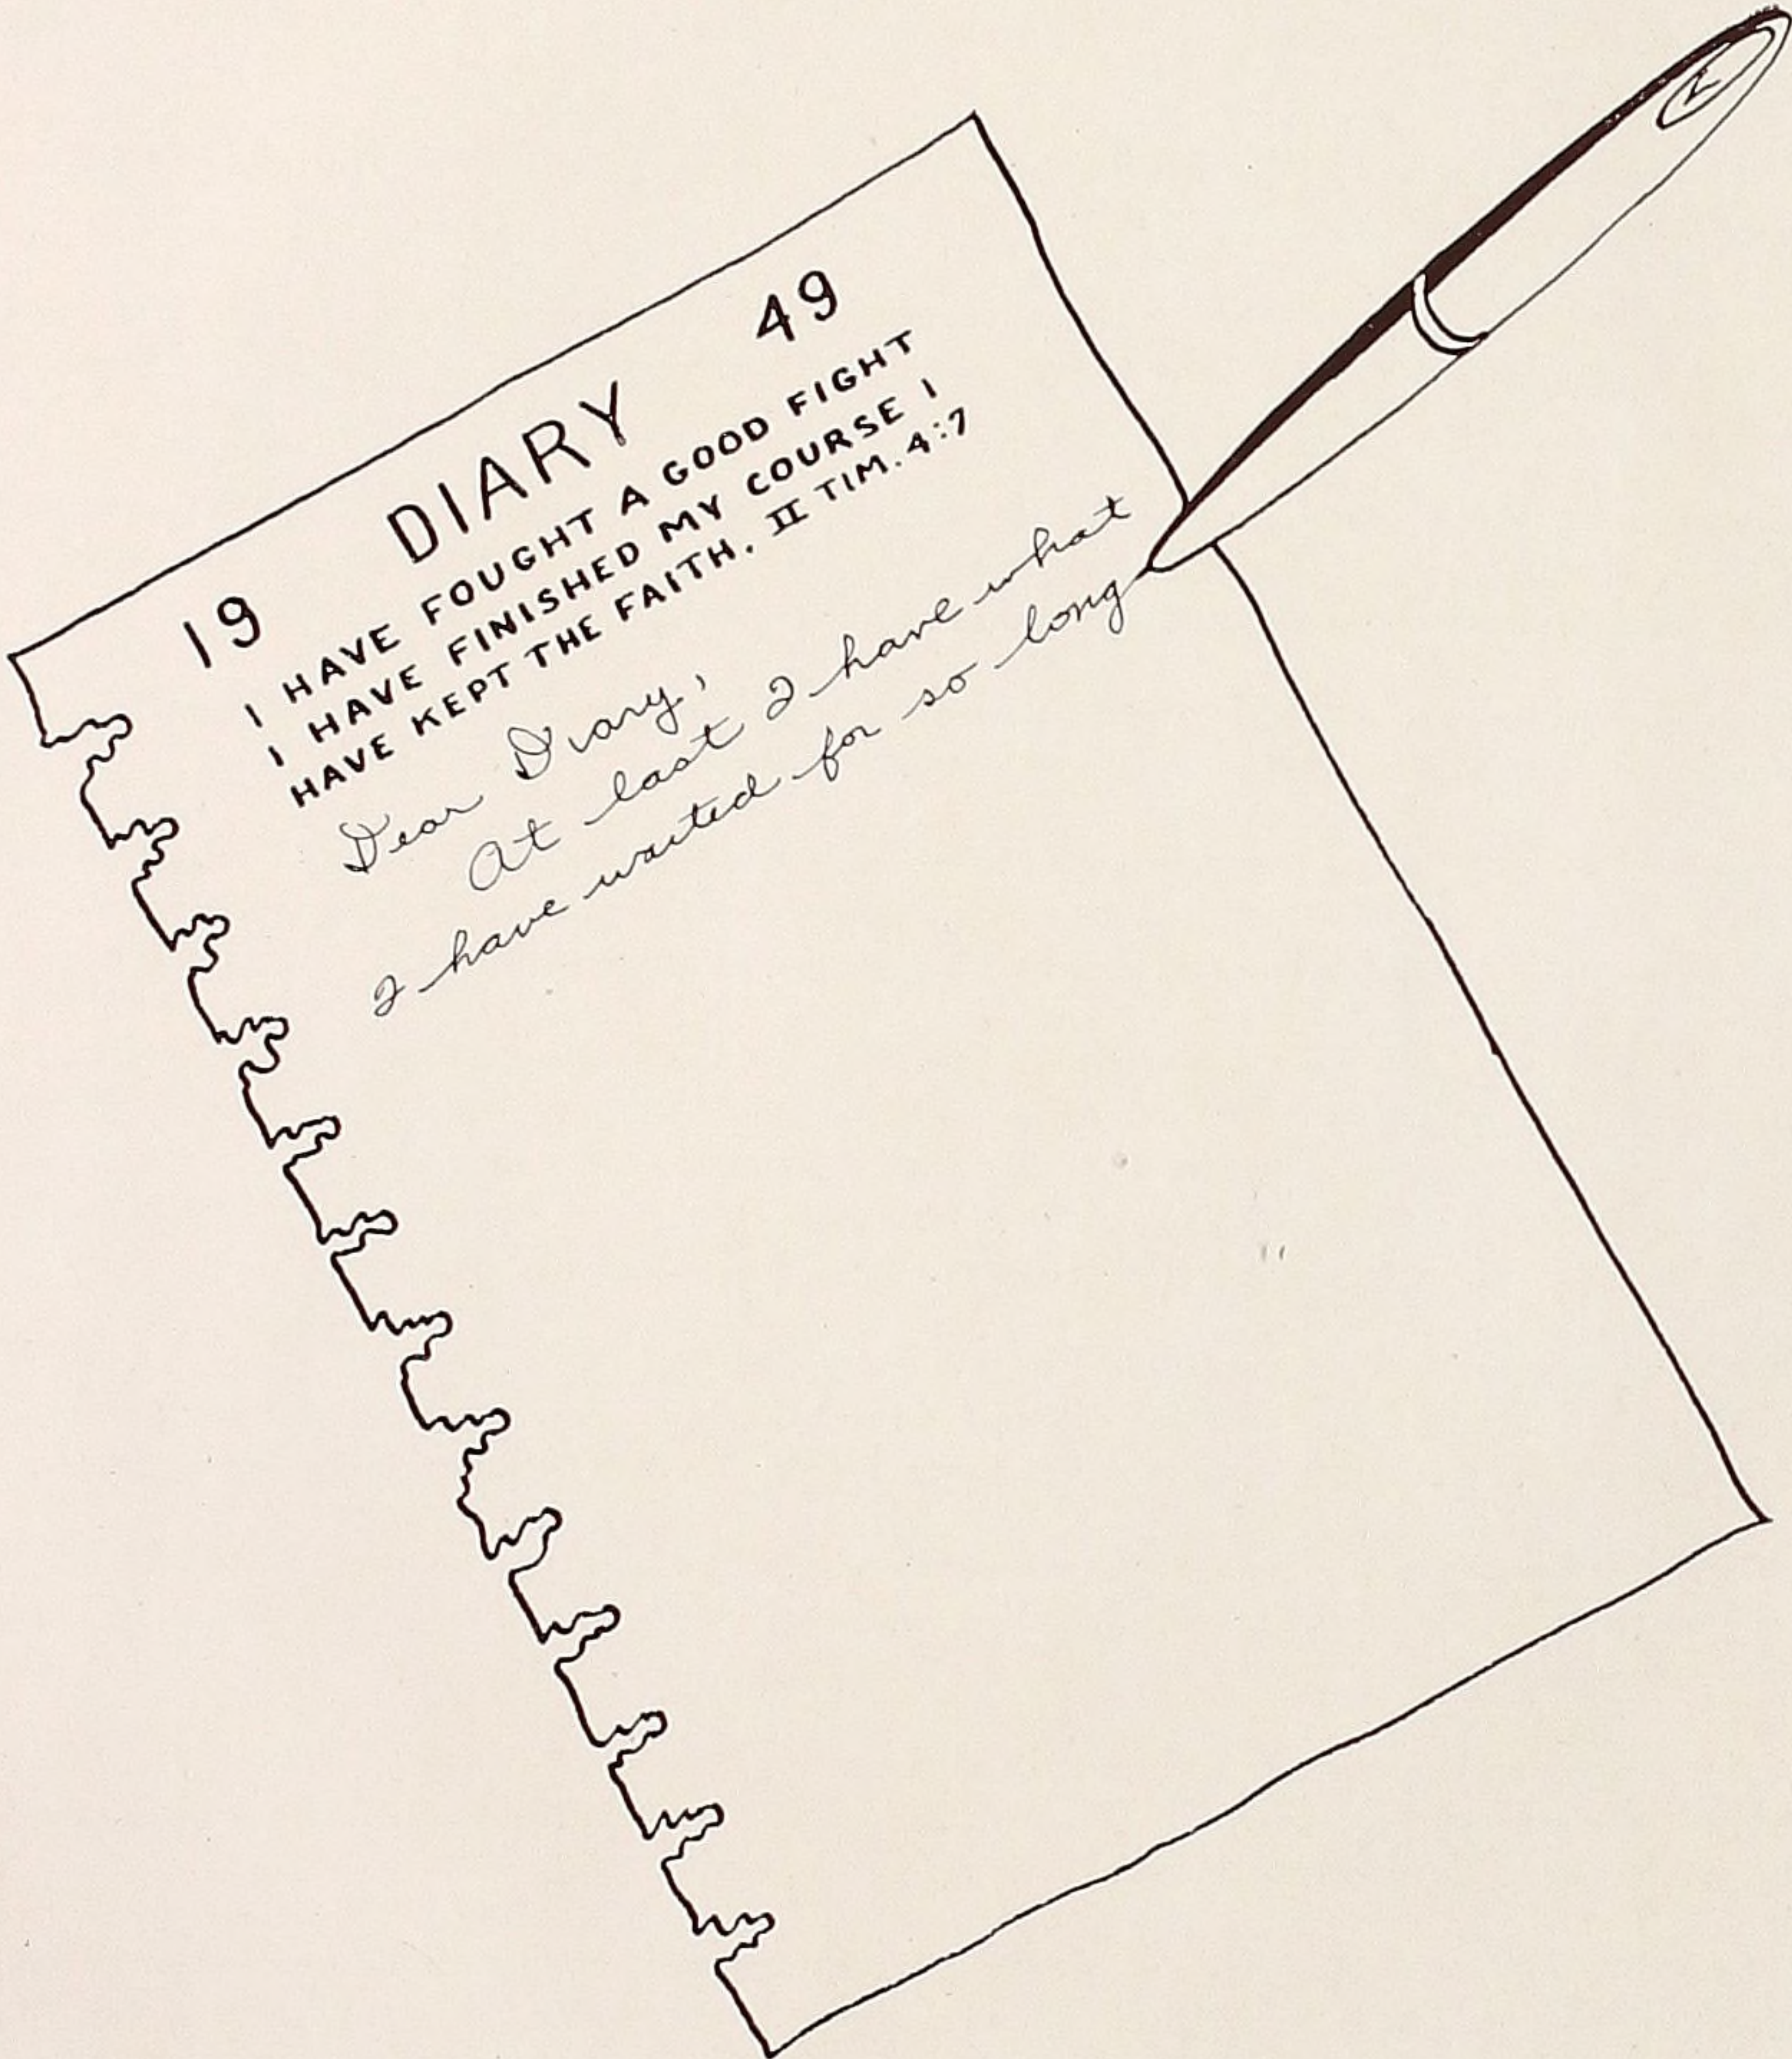

Maintenance

He has a friendly smile and a cheerful greeting for everyone.

FACULTY SNAPS

SOPHOMORES

COLLEGE SOPHOMORES CLASS HISTORY

Amazing, stupendous, colossal—something new, something different. Yes indeed, in the fall of '47, "green fruit" was plucked from family trees all over the U.S.A. and transported by bus, car and train to the collecting center located in Spring Arbor, Michigan.

The fruit was taken care of in a very well organized style. They were redistributed and these were called roommates. Thus, it didn't take long for Illinois to become acquainted with Oregon or Arizona to appreciate Michigan ways.

It was tremendously evident that the fruit was "green"; but after undergoing two years of processes you would never have recognized it.

One fine September day, we little greenies went rolling down the trail designated by our upper classmen. Lo and behold—our destination was a "Hobo Camp" deep in the woods. We felt quite "hoboish" and really enjoyed this episode.

Exclamations were overheard one day of this nature, "Where, oh where, have three and one-half months vanished?" To be sure 'twas Christmas vacation at hand which includes the anticipated Christmas party. A lively program, games, refreshments, and a village tour of caroling spelled one enjoyable evening.

Soon after we resumed school, semester tests were in order. However, we survived and participated in the many offered activities which blends into a well rounded education.

May 4, 1948 found us gay-hearted honoring the Sophomores with an 18th Century Banquet held in Albion at the Parker Inn. How can we forget the little carriages and colonial ladies on the long tables laden with superior food. An interesting program followed with Dale Cryderman as toastmaster and Mr. Fortress as the speaker.

We, as Sophomore fruit, feel as though our previous greenness is blending with a tinge of gold. Our welcomed responsibilities began with entertaining our Sister Class at an excursion at Swain's Lake. We journeyed via trucks and the surrounding atmosphere re-echoed with gleefulness and song. After a little preparation we became "Indians", and so the theme was carried out in fascinating festivity of the evening. Memory shouts loudly of the well played part of Captain Smith (Harold Trevan) and Pocahontas (Miss Carr).

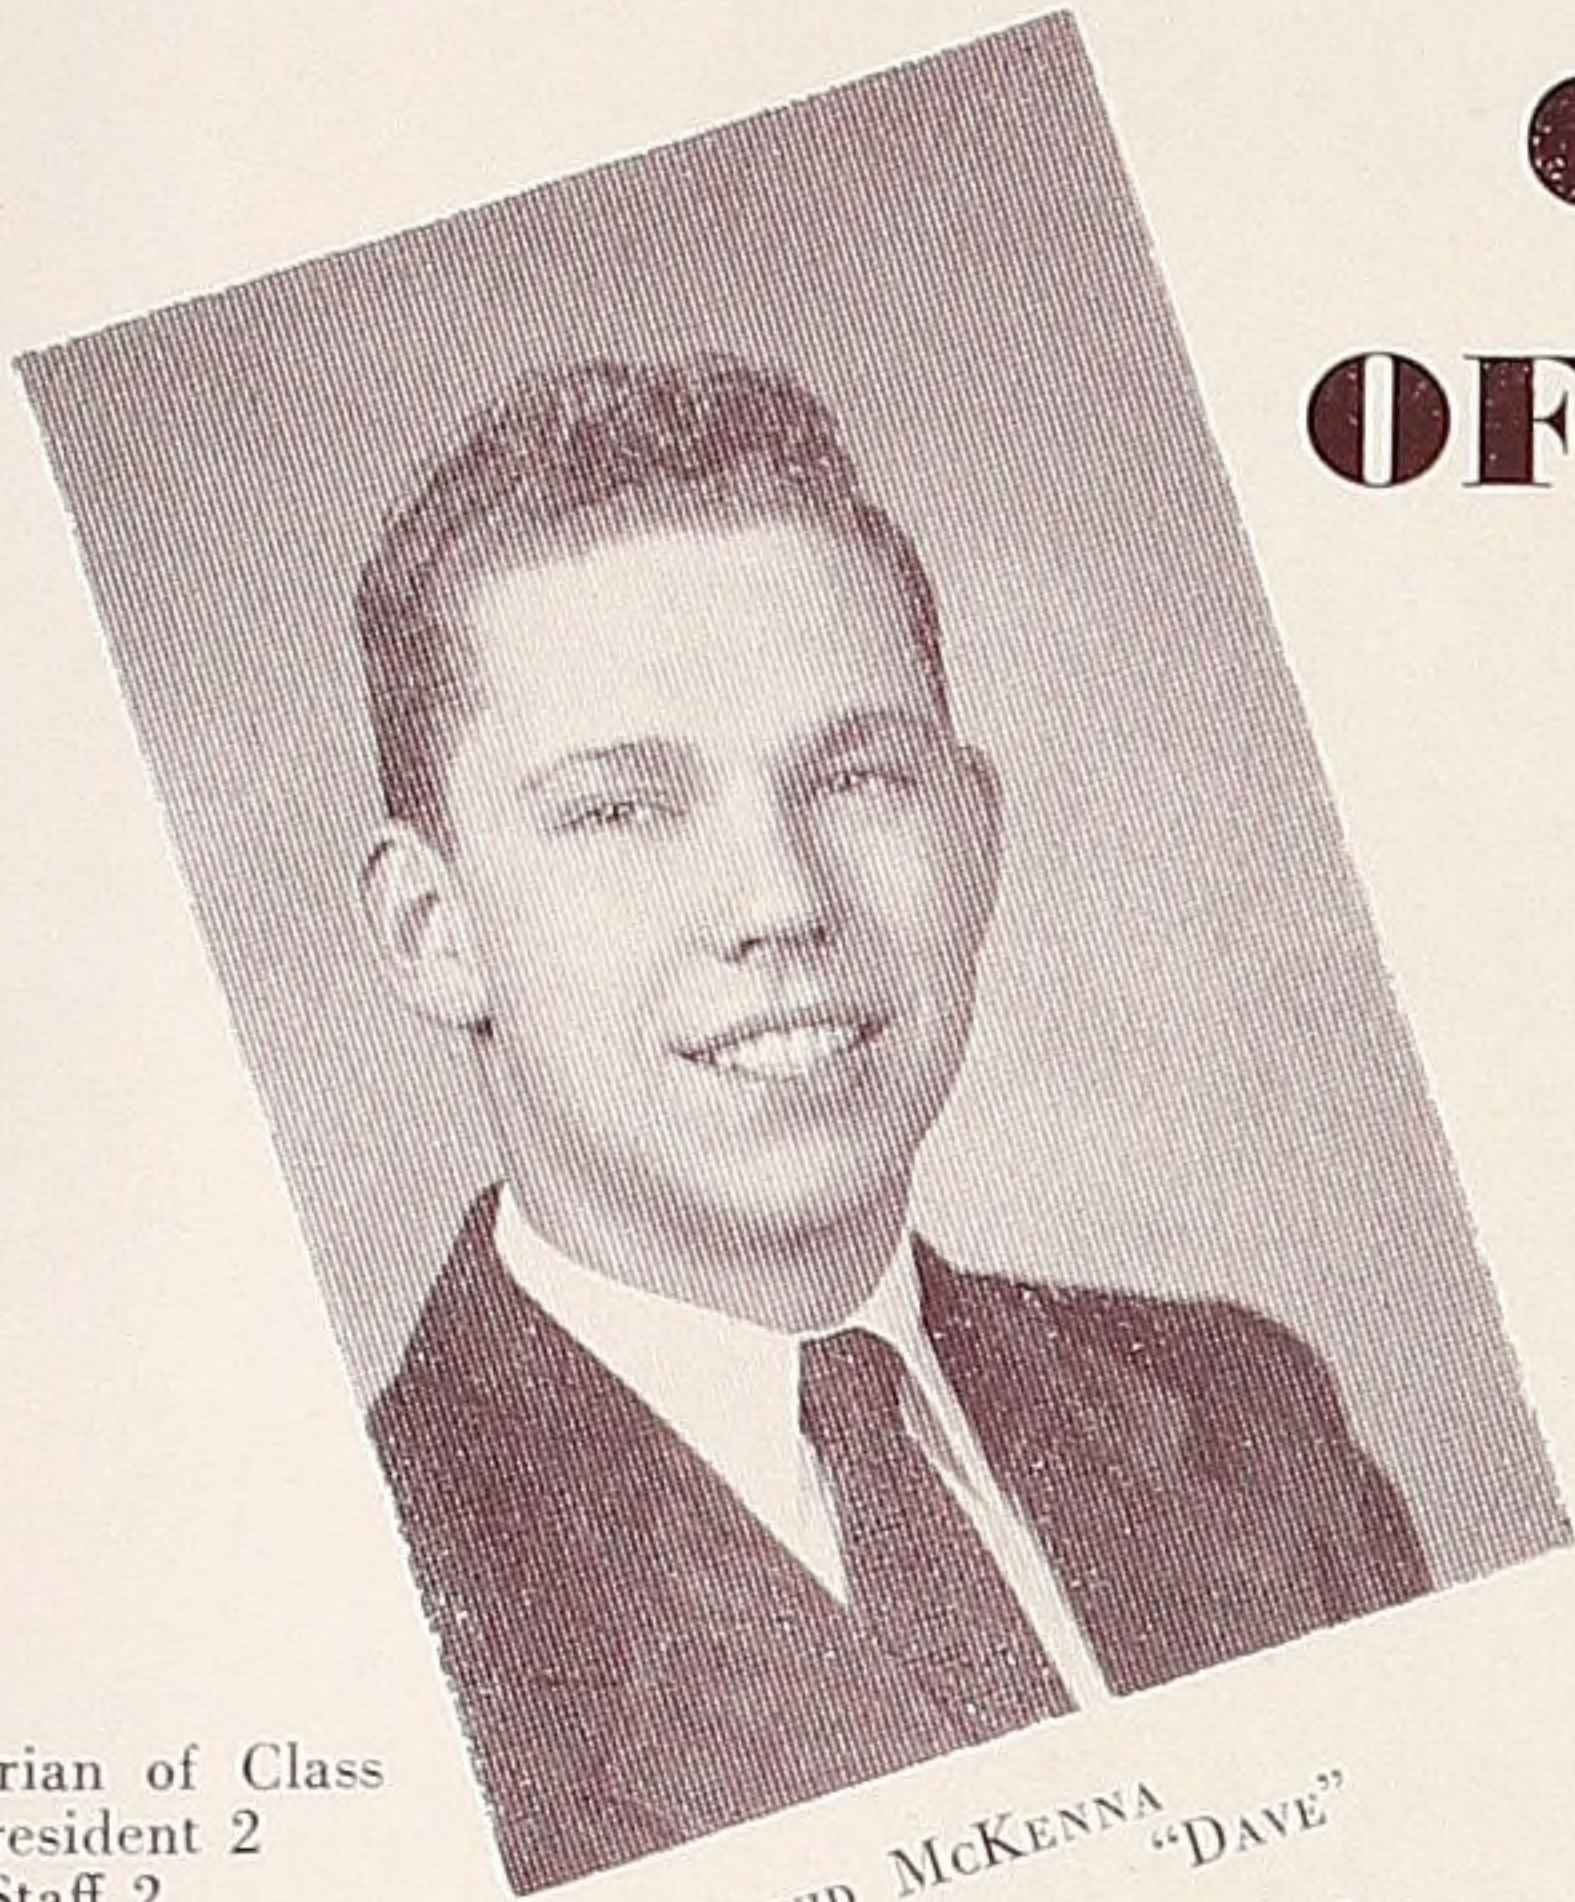

The last of September proved an ideal time for our class to skip to Mill Lake. Varied activities (even on the drizzly day) kept us out of mischief—at least most of the time. A colorful festive "Autumn" banquet rated the highlight of the occasion. Don Lawrence, James Taylor, and Paul Hepler served as efficient chefs.

A great accomplishment has been enacted in the publishing of our Sophomore sponsored Re-Dit. Without sorrow we bid farewell to lithoprinting and welcomed regular printing. An added feature is the faculty and student "Who's Who" column.

Green shamrocks adorned our garments the week previous to our presentation of "Spirit of Old Ireland", our Friday Night program. Even Molly O'Leery's heart would have thrilled to the tunes of her native land. Pie ala mode was served as an ideal climax of the evening.

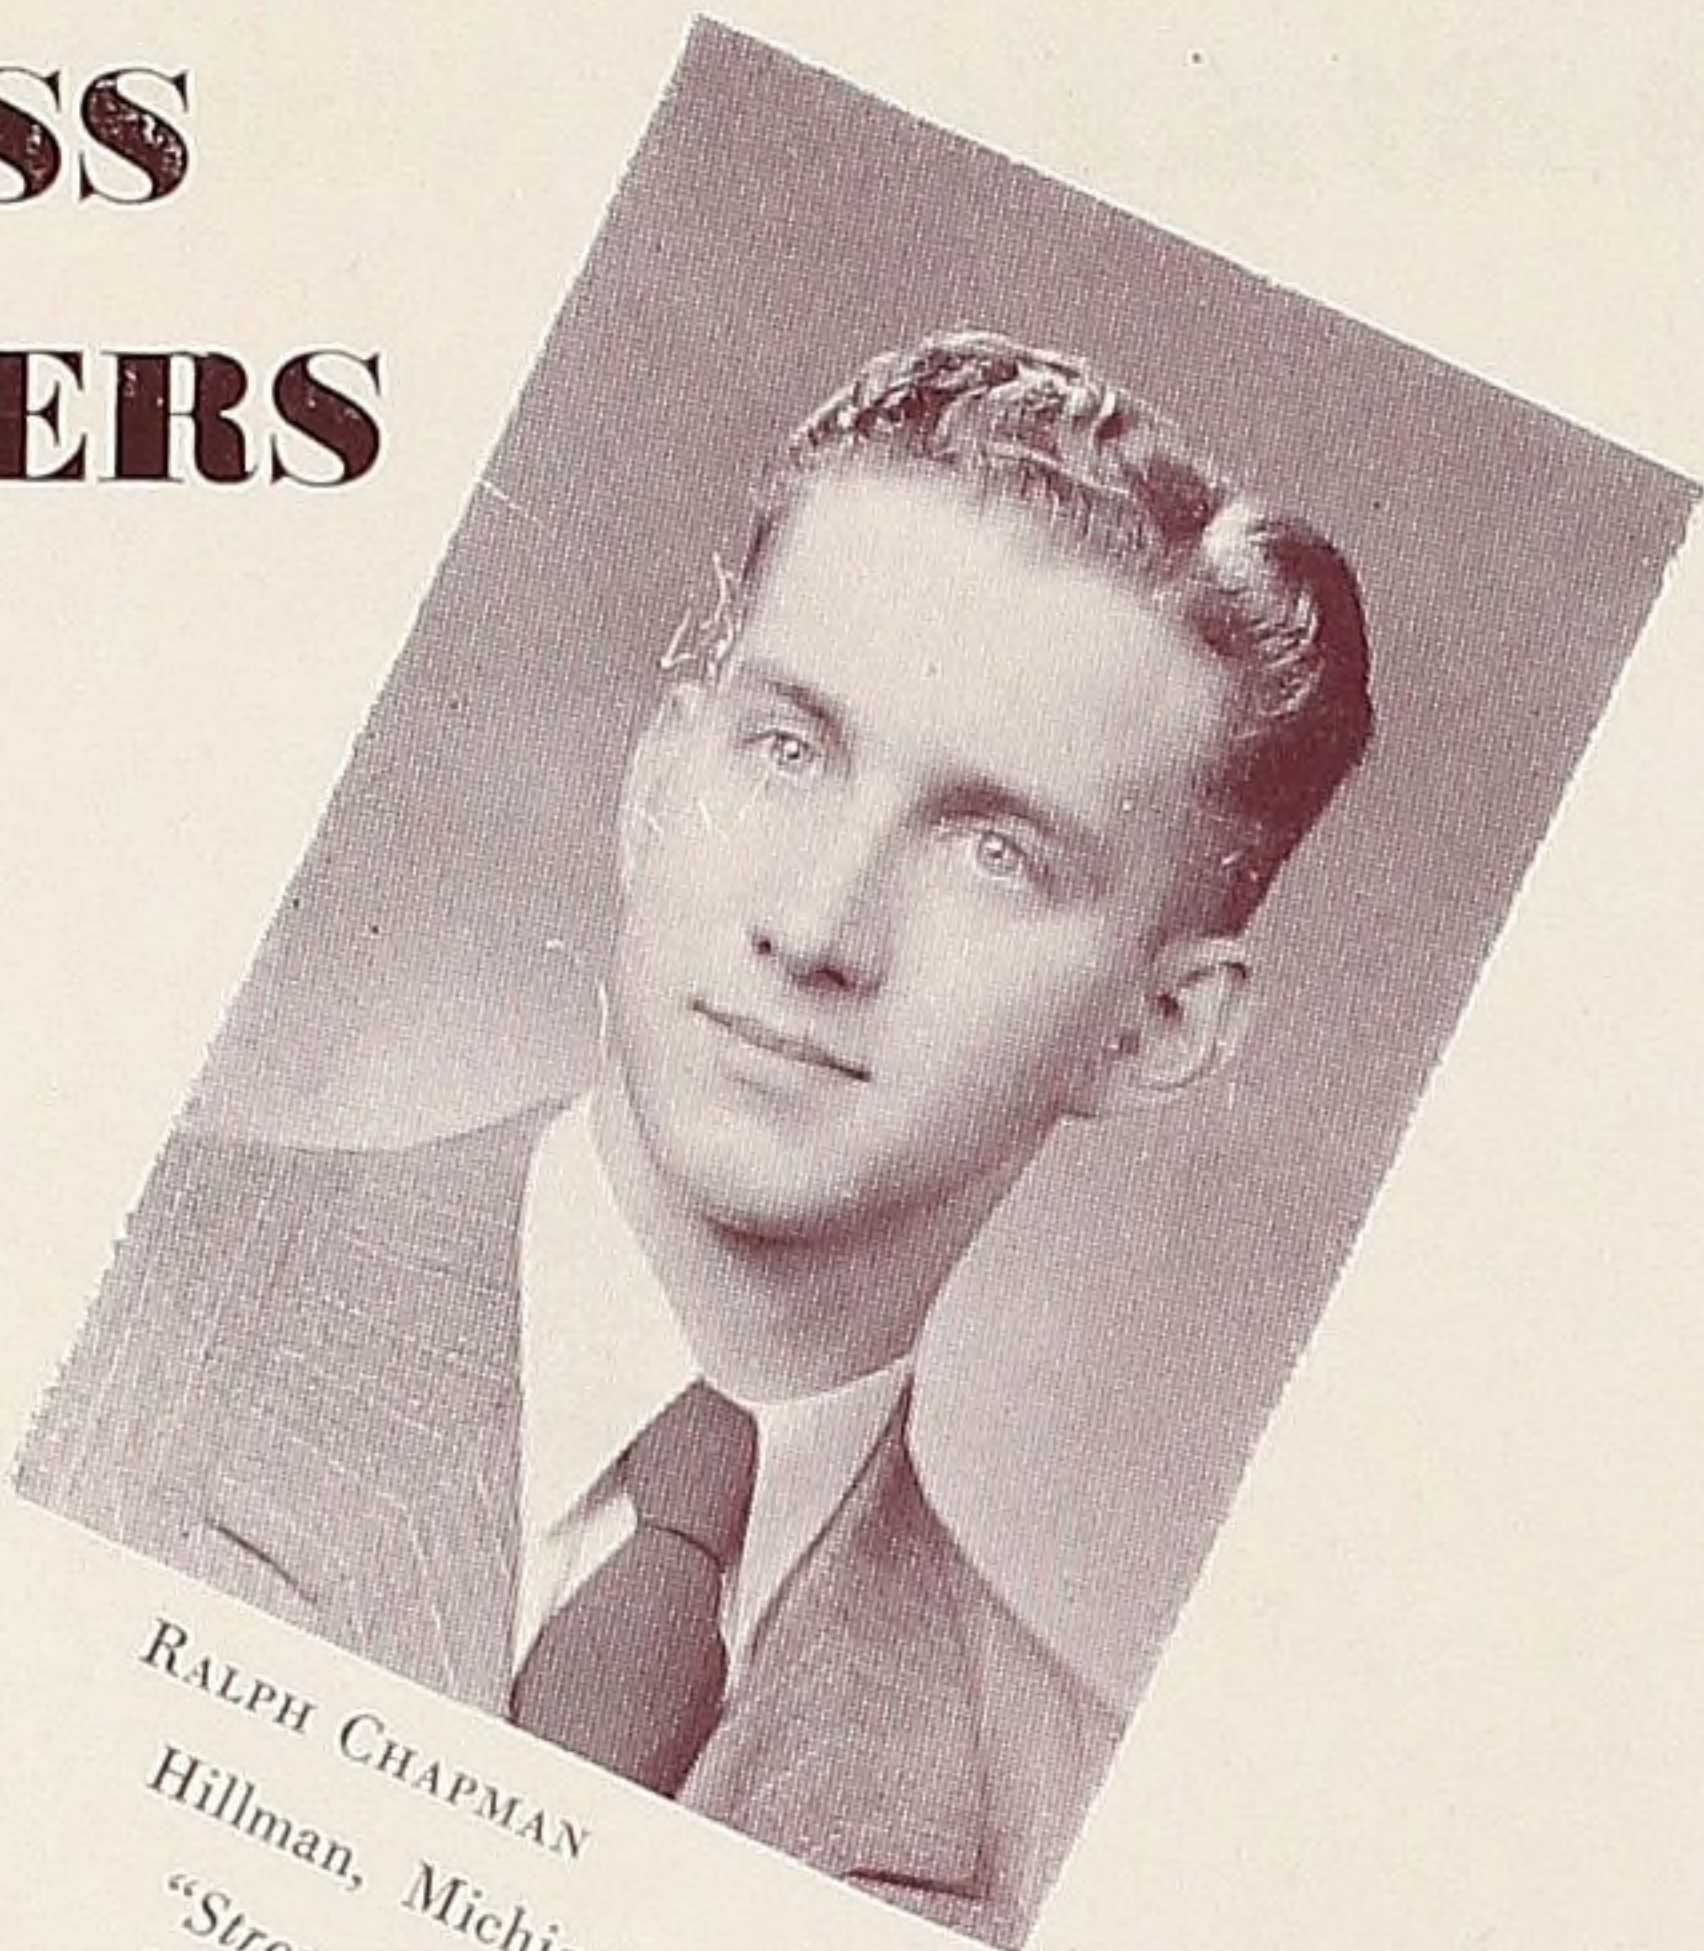

The reality that our days in S. A. are drawing to a close is vivid as Class Night and our cherished banquet approaches. It is not easy to leave a "Quiet cove of the Spirit" (quote—Mr. Spencer), such as this. A current flash has been received stating a quantity of ripening fruit is needed immediately to enter the Senior Products Division for furthering processes. We, representing this fruit, desire to be of humble service to others and refresh multitudes.

The train comes puffing into the Spring Arbor station and comes to a halt. Robert Terman Jr. shakes hands with his father, Rev. Robert Terman D.S., and boards the train. Must be he's off on important business. Oh yes—look a little closer. As he opens his brief case we see that it is full of Re-Dits. Just at that time the conductor, none other than Bob Williams, hollers, "All Aboard!" Bobby Jr. jumps up for there's something familiar about that voice, for he is the only known conductor that yells in A flat minor. To make sure he had really found an old Spring Arborite, he took a Re-Dit and held it in front of the aged conductor. His face lit up, and the boy knew he was on the right trail. A short chat revealed to the old gent that Bobby Jr. was on a tour to take census of all the Sophs of '49. He found out that the conductor's wife, the former Marcille Hockaday, was the main dietician in the dining car.

Boby realizes that he is hungry, so he makes his way to the dining car. As he enters, his eyes fall upon a man sitting at a table with a plate piled high with toast. Sure enough! It's Bob Wickersham, the Psychologist. Just as he is sitting down, in comes a waitress—or I believe it's a waitress behind all those dishes—oh yes, Iris Foster—still juggling dishes for a living. After she takes his order, she begins telling him about some of her classmates that work on the train. Katherine Hopson and Mary Snell are the bakers. They are famous for their Hop-snell pasteries. Ken French and Ida Frye make lush french fries, and hope to have a business of their own soon. John Tolly is the G-Man (garbage man) and is very dependable. As they are talking, Carl and Ted Johnson, the brother preachers, enter the car. They are on their way to hold special meetings for Louis Borshiem, who is now the pastor of a little church. Time soon flies by and the conductor is hollering, "All off for Grand Central Station!" Bobby hands each of the tearful alumni a Re-Dit and bids them goodbye.

When he get off the train he hears a feeble-cry—"Shoe Shine—5¢." He turns to find Lloyd Shue with an established business. Elaine Kasten is his cashier and secretary, and Ernest Hubbard is his bookkeeper. As Bobby is getting his shoes shined, Lloyd tells him about some of his old classmates that patronize his shop. Ruth Brandt and John Palmer were in few minutes ago. They were on their way to the "Reppert Music Hall" to give a concert. Wendell finally left Coldwater and really went places in the music world. He also saw Fleta Rhodes. She is writing a Biography of Mr. Spencer. After he is finished, he turns to catch a cab. Why, if it isn't Harold Trevan—still interested in cars. Harold is working for the Messner and McDevitt Cab Company. It is now a large concern—in fact they keep all three cabs going day and night. As they are driving along, Bob notices a sign, "B. M. P. Style Shop." On questioning he finds that is the Bethel, McCormick and Page Style Shop, and is one of the most famous in the city. Paul Hepler and Don Lawrence give singing commercials for the store. Next to the "B. M. P. Shop" is a Shrub Nursery and Lawn Furniture Store. It is managed by Jean Bush and Ethelyn Davenport.

Upon reaching his destination, he bids the Cabbie goodbye, and enters a hotel. Out pops a bell-hop, none other than Jack Elwood and grabs his bags. As they approach the desk he finds that Dave McKenna is the manager. He hasn't quite made the White House but still has hopes. Dave tells him that Marge and Dick Lehman are staying in the hotel. They brought their basketball team along to compete with Dorothy Farrell's All Star team. Madalene Hovingh and Lila Stephenson are also staying in the hotel. Maddie is writing a book entitled "How to Learn Spanish in Ten Easy Lessons." Lila is a great Brain Specialist and is here for a convention. Faye Cutler and Frances Spoors have both succeeded in getting their MRS Degrees and came here for a rest. We also have some alumni working in the hotel. Ned Philpott is the main chef and is famous for his round steaks, (just plain weiners to us.) Fran Starr and Eleanor Franke are the Receptionists and they have a argument each time a man comes in to see which one takes care of him. Mrs. Cassabaum, the former Betty Cornell is the head cleaning woman. Merilyn Roushey keeps order in the dining room and occasionally carries a dessert to a person from an ardent admirer.

Bobby was tired so he soon made his way to his room. He eased back into an easy chair and turned on the radio. He was greeted by a cheery voice saying, "Hello Ladies. This is Faith Baldwin bringing to you your Charm Program. In the studio today we have Lucille McKee to give you a few pointers on how to have a peaches and cream complexion and the nationally known Harmony Trio—Elaine Beardslee, Bethel Duck, and Armantha Williams." On and on the program goes and at the close we find that it is sponsored by the Dietz Hardware Store. Ken specializes in Lawn Schmowers.

Bobby decides to go for a walk and doesn't get far before he bumps into Jim Taylor, who is home on furlough from China. They sit down and talk about Jim's old classmates. It seems that Cora Jewell is the Gum Chewing Champ of '69 and Ed Smith is the Champion Horse Raiser of the West. Joyce Arnold has an orphanage and is loved and admired by all. Yvonne Cowherd is an Opera Star and has traveled widely. Vi Smith and Eddie Carter are teaching in a country school. They are still afflicted with Sitandgabamaritis.

By this time Bobby is sleepy, and so he decides to retire. As he sinks into dreamland, he smiles and murmurs, "Those must have been the days—back in '49."

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Dear Diary,

September 1945—Today as I was getting registered I stared in amazement at all the students and wondered if they felt as bewildered as I did.

June 1946—My, I'm so glad that school is over and I'm going home for three months. I sure have had fun this year—especially the class party over at Swain's Lake. The Seniors are all buzzing around getting ready for graduation. I wonder if I'll ever see the day when I march up the aisle to get that diploma.

September 1946—It seems good to be back again in good ole' S. A. A lot of the old kids are back and many new ones too.

June 1947—Had lots of fun this year. Never will forget all of our school parties—especially Sadie Hawkins. Talk about the man shortage! When I finally got up enough courage to ask someone—they were all taken. Maybe next time.

September 1947—A Junior at last! This year proves to be exciting. We are looking forward to great accomplishments.

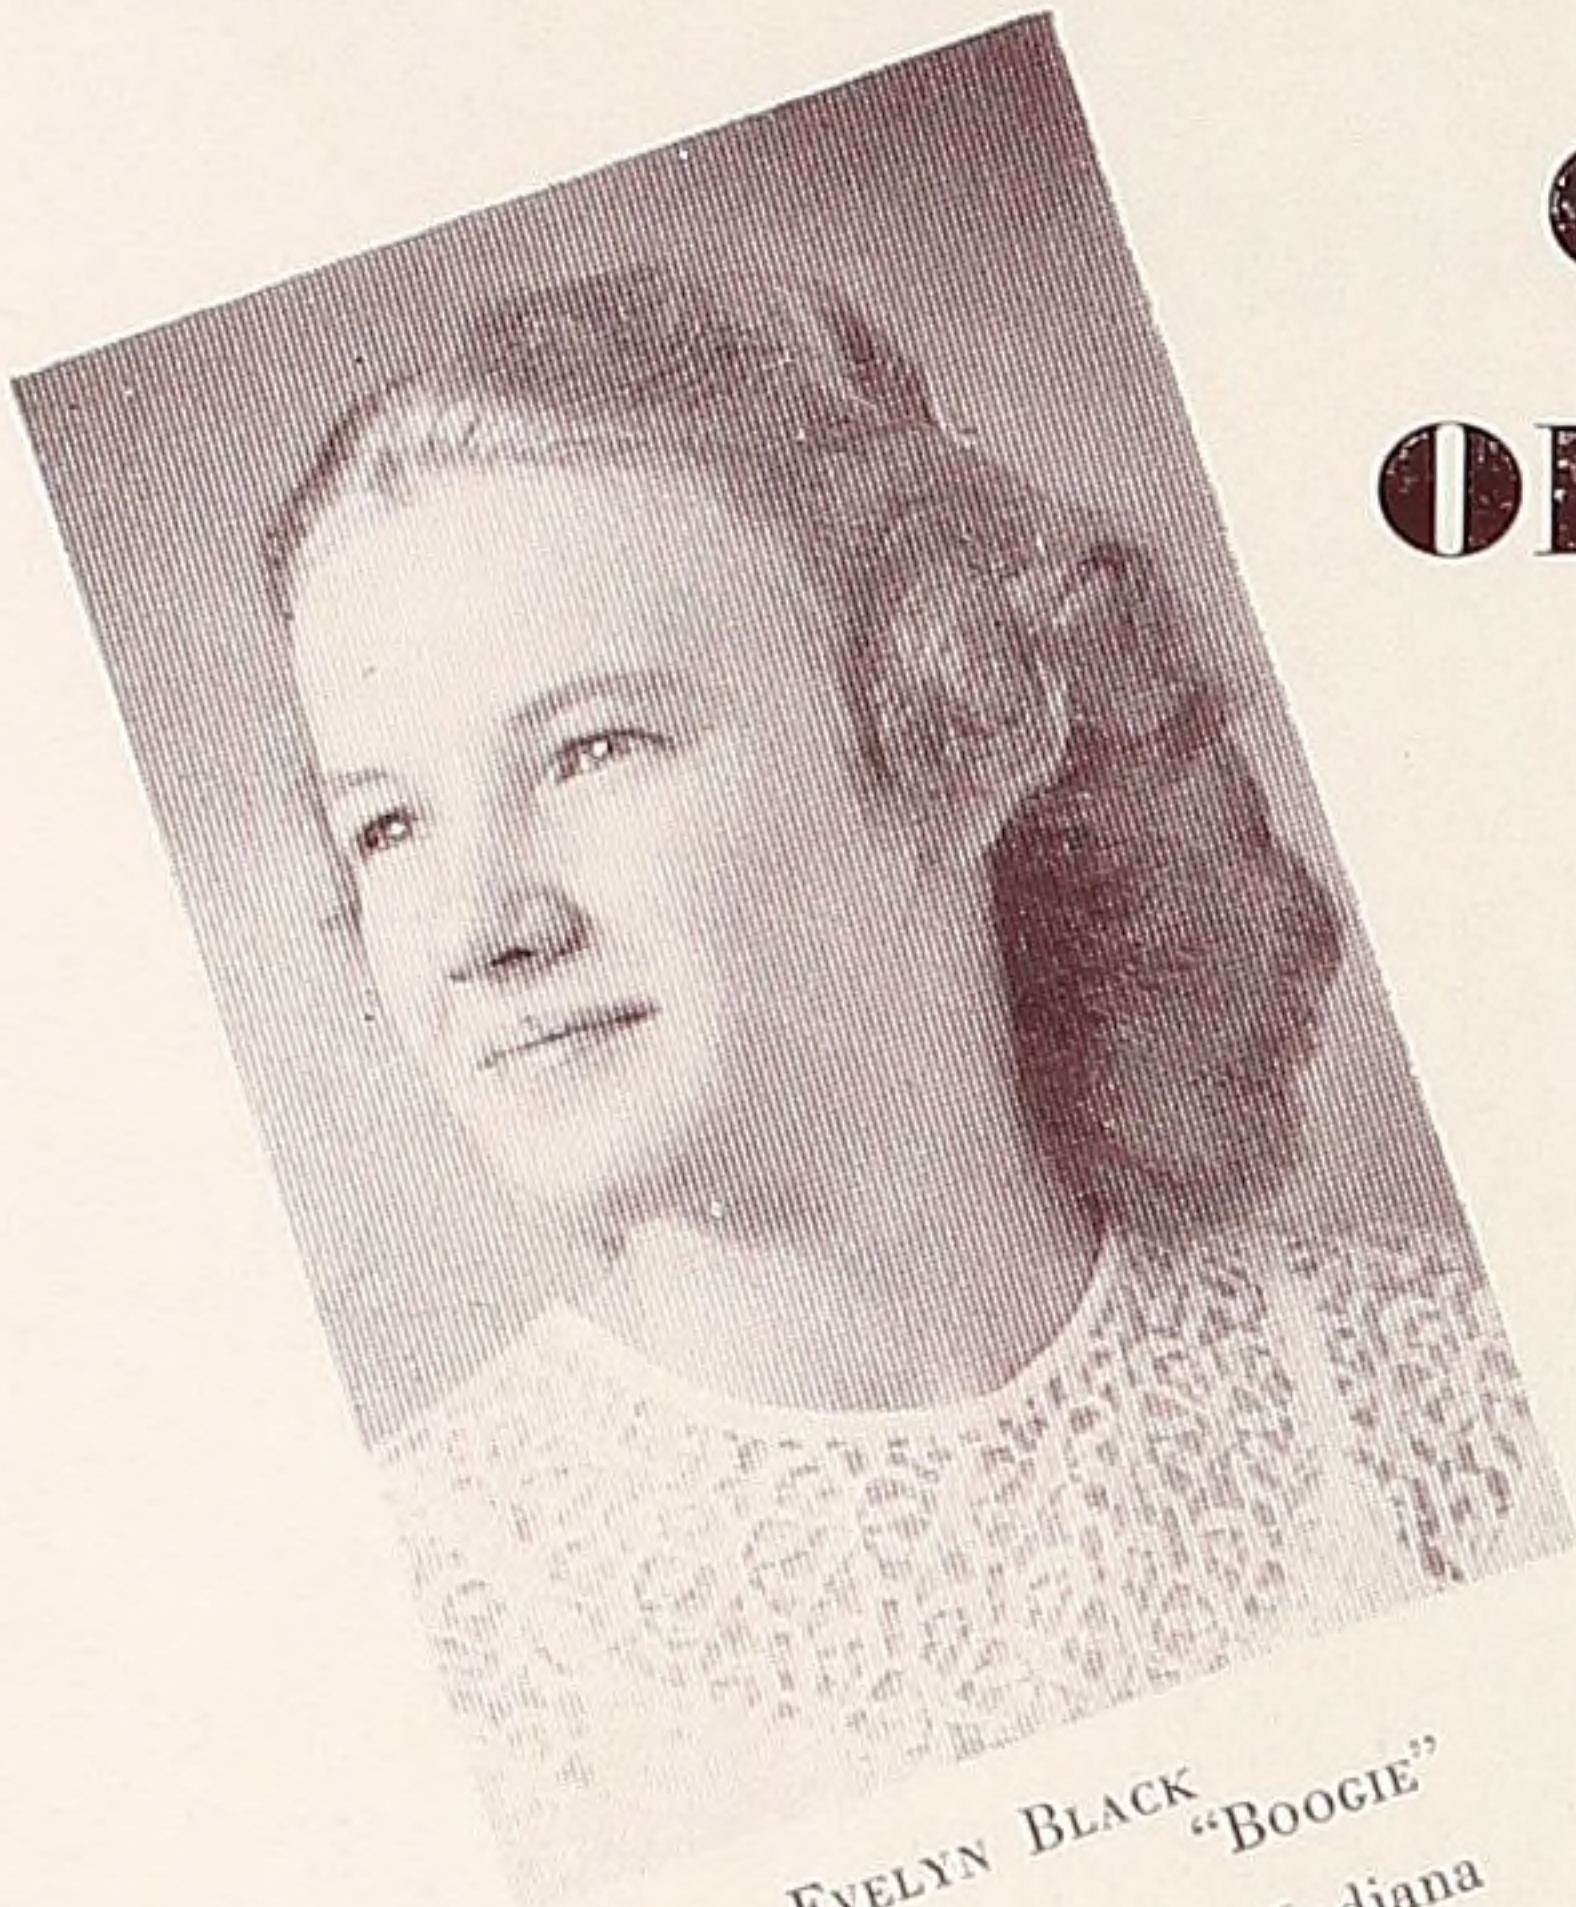

June 1948—Lots of hard work was put into the Junior-Senior Banquet, but it was worth it all when we boarded the ship for an evening of pleasant entertainment. I will never forget Mr. Spencer's speech about "Flummaddidles."

September 1948—Mighty Seniors—finally. Never thought I'd make it. Sure will have to study this year. I'll have to take a few minutes out for the school picnic, though, and things like that. And what a school picnic! The doctor who attended the victims wondered what kind of a party we were having. He simply kept us in stitches.

I will never forget our Skip Hike. Thursday afternoon about 4:00 we left for Traverse City. The first night we pitched our tents at a camp ground near Grand Rapids. Don't you just love to hear rain on the roof at night—that is, a tent roof? After that Taylor gal got settled down sometime toward morning we went to sleep. Next day we were up bright and early and on our way to Traverse City. We arrived about 1:30 p. m., pitched our tents by the lakeshore, and had the afternoon to ourselves. We all returned from our various excursions about supertime—had a hot dog roast and some of us turned in aarly, while others "painted the town red." Next morning we were in a hurry to get started back. One carload was in too much of a hurry. If it hadn't been for psychological tactics, somebody would have been minus five dollars for a ticket. We got back about 6:15, just before supper. A swell time was enjoyed by all. Juniors gave us a super initiation, even though we did have to wait a week for it.

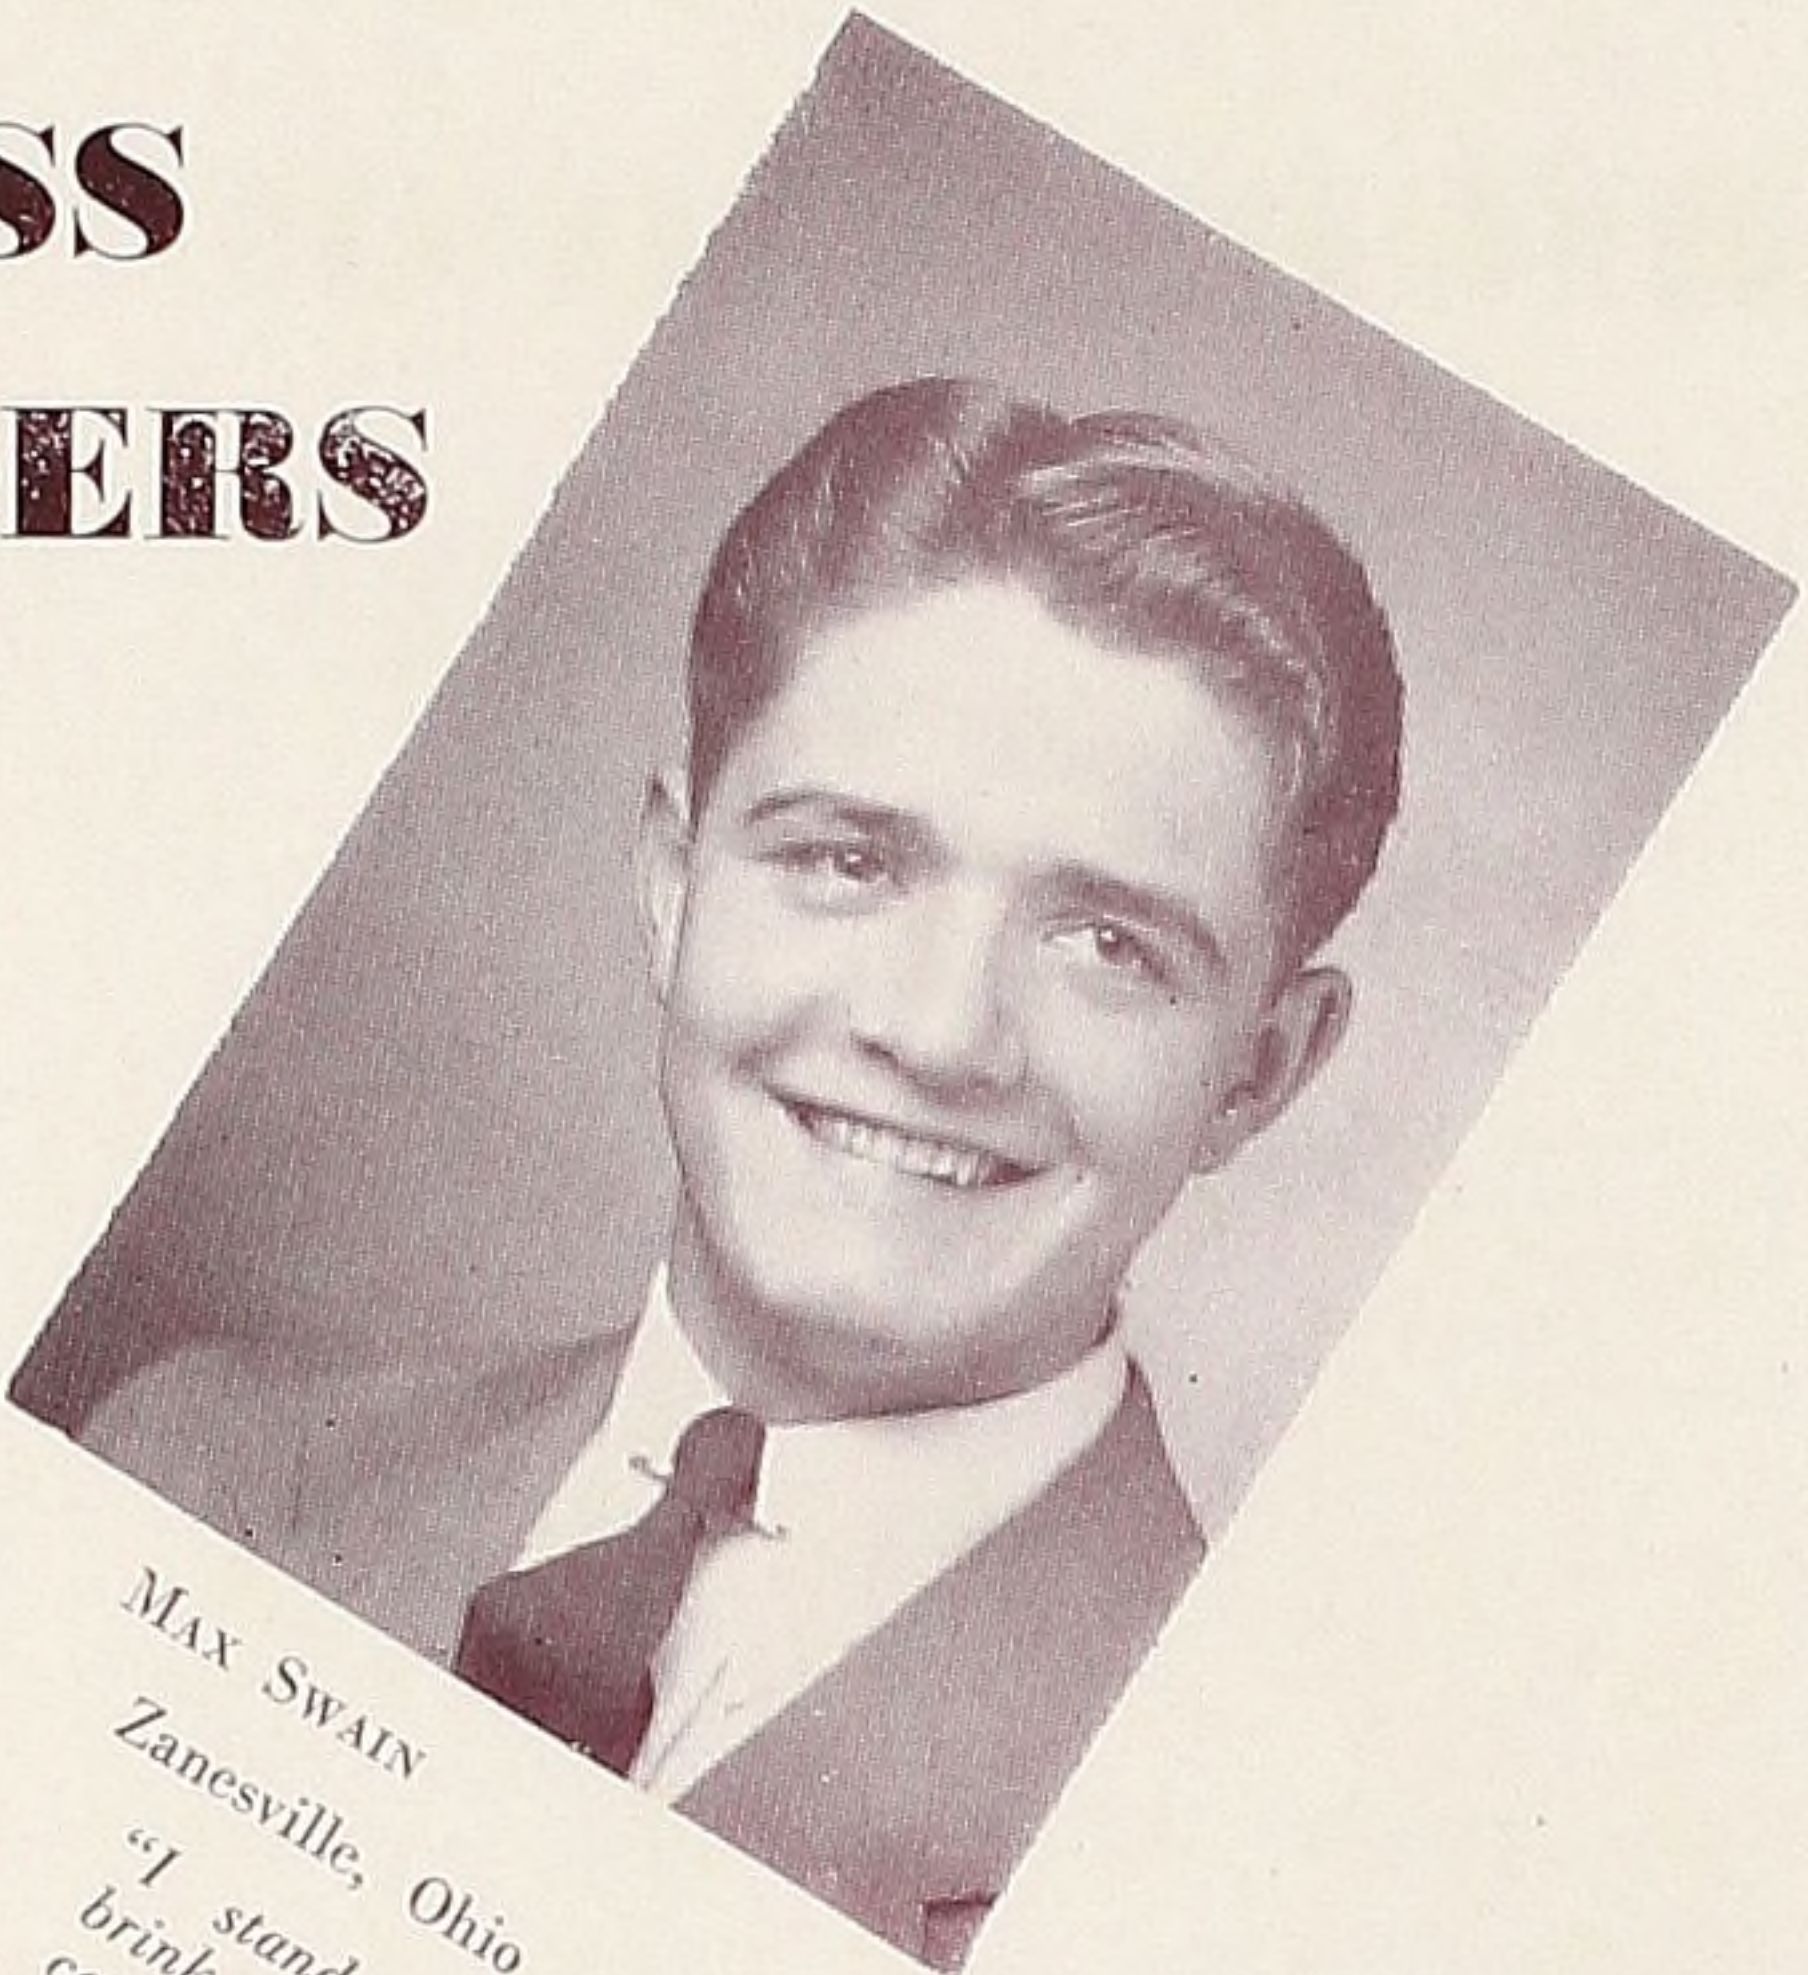

June 1949—The Juniors got in on the work for the Banquet this year. Good work Juniors. I shall never forget all the good times during these past four years. I was happy when I marched up the aisle with my other classmates to get my diploma.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

On awakening with a start caused by the clang-clang of my A. G. STEVENSON electronic alarm clock, I quickly remembered it was the day for me to start on my trip to Parma City, U. S. A. After donning my new ensemble purchased at L. G. HENRY'S General Store, I grabbed eagerly for my telephone and called the SPOOR'S Cab Service. As we sped to the train station, who should we pass but MR. and MRS. TERMAN plodding to church for a clean-up job with their brood of twelve. Mrs. Terman is the former Donna Blair.

Arriving at the train depot, I purchased a ticket from JEAN GREGG, who, I've heard, is secretary to the President of the Co., who is none other than the distinguished RICHARD HANSEN. After getting settled on the train, who should be across the aisle but MISS CHATSON and MISS ODERMAN on their way to apply at Radio City for positions on the "Quiet Piano Hour."

Picking up the Jackson Patriot, I read an editorial by MARY TAYLOR, foreign correspondent, about the recent destruction of Hilliard Hall by mice. It reminded me of those "happiest days" of my life I spent there. However, I had little time for reminiscing, for soon the skyscrapers of Parma City came into view. I anxiously peered out the window to catch a glimpse of the world's highest skyscraper, The SWAIN Building, named after the new President of the United States.

When the train came to a stop in the station, the porter, WARD YOUNG, carried my bags to the waiting limousine of my friend, MRS. DIETZ, who chattered incessantly about the game played the night before. The final game in the mixed basketball tournies between the former CLARA SCHLABACH'S six whiz gal daughters and DICK ADOMATIS'S dribble dazzler sons. I might add, the whiz gals won, thereby receiveing the state trophy (of course, Clara was referee!)

On the way to the swanky residence of the Dietz' we stopped for a coke in the "All-night, ALBRIGHT Restaurant." Looking out the window, I saw some kids skating, namely those of MRS. SIEFKEN, former Betty Newton. The lovely rink was a part of one of the park areas owned by MARIAN PARKS.

Leaving the restaurant, we stopped to get corsages for the evening at SCITTINE'S Floral Shoppe.

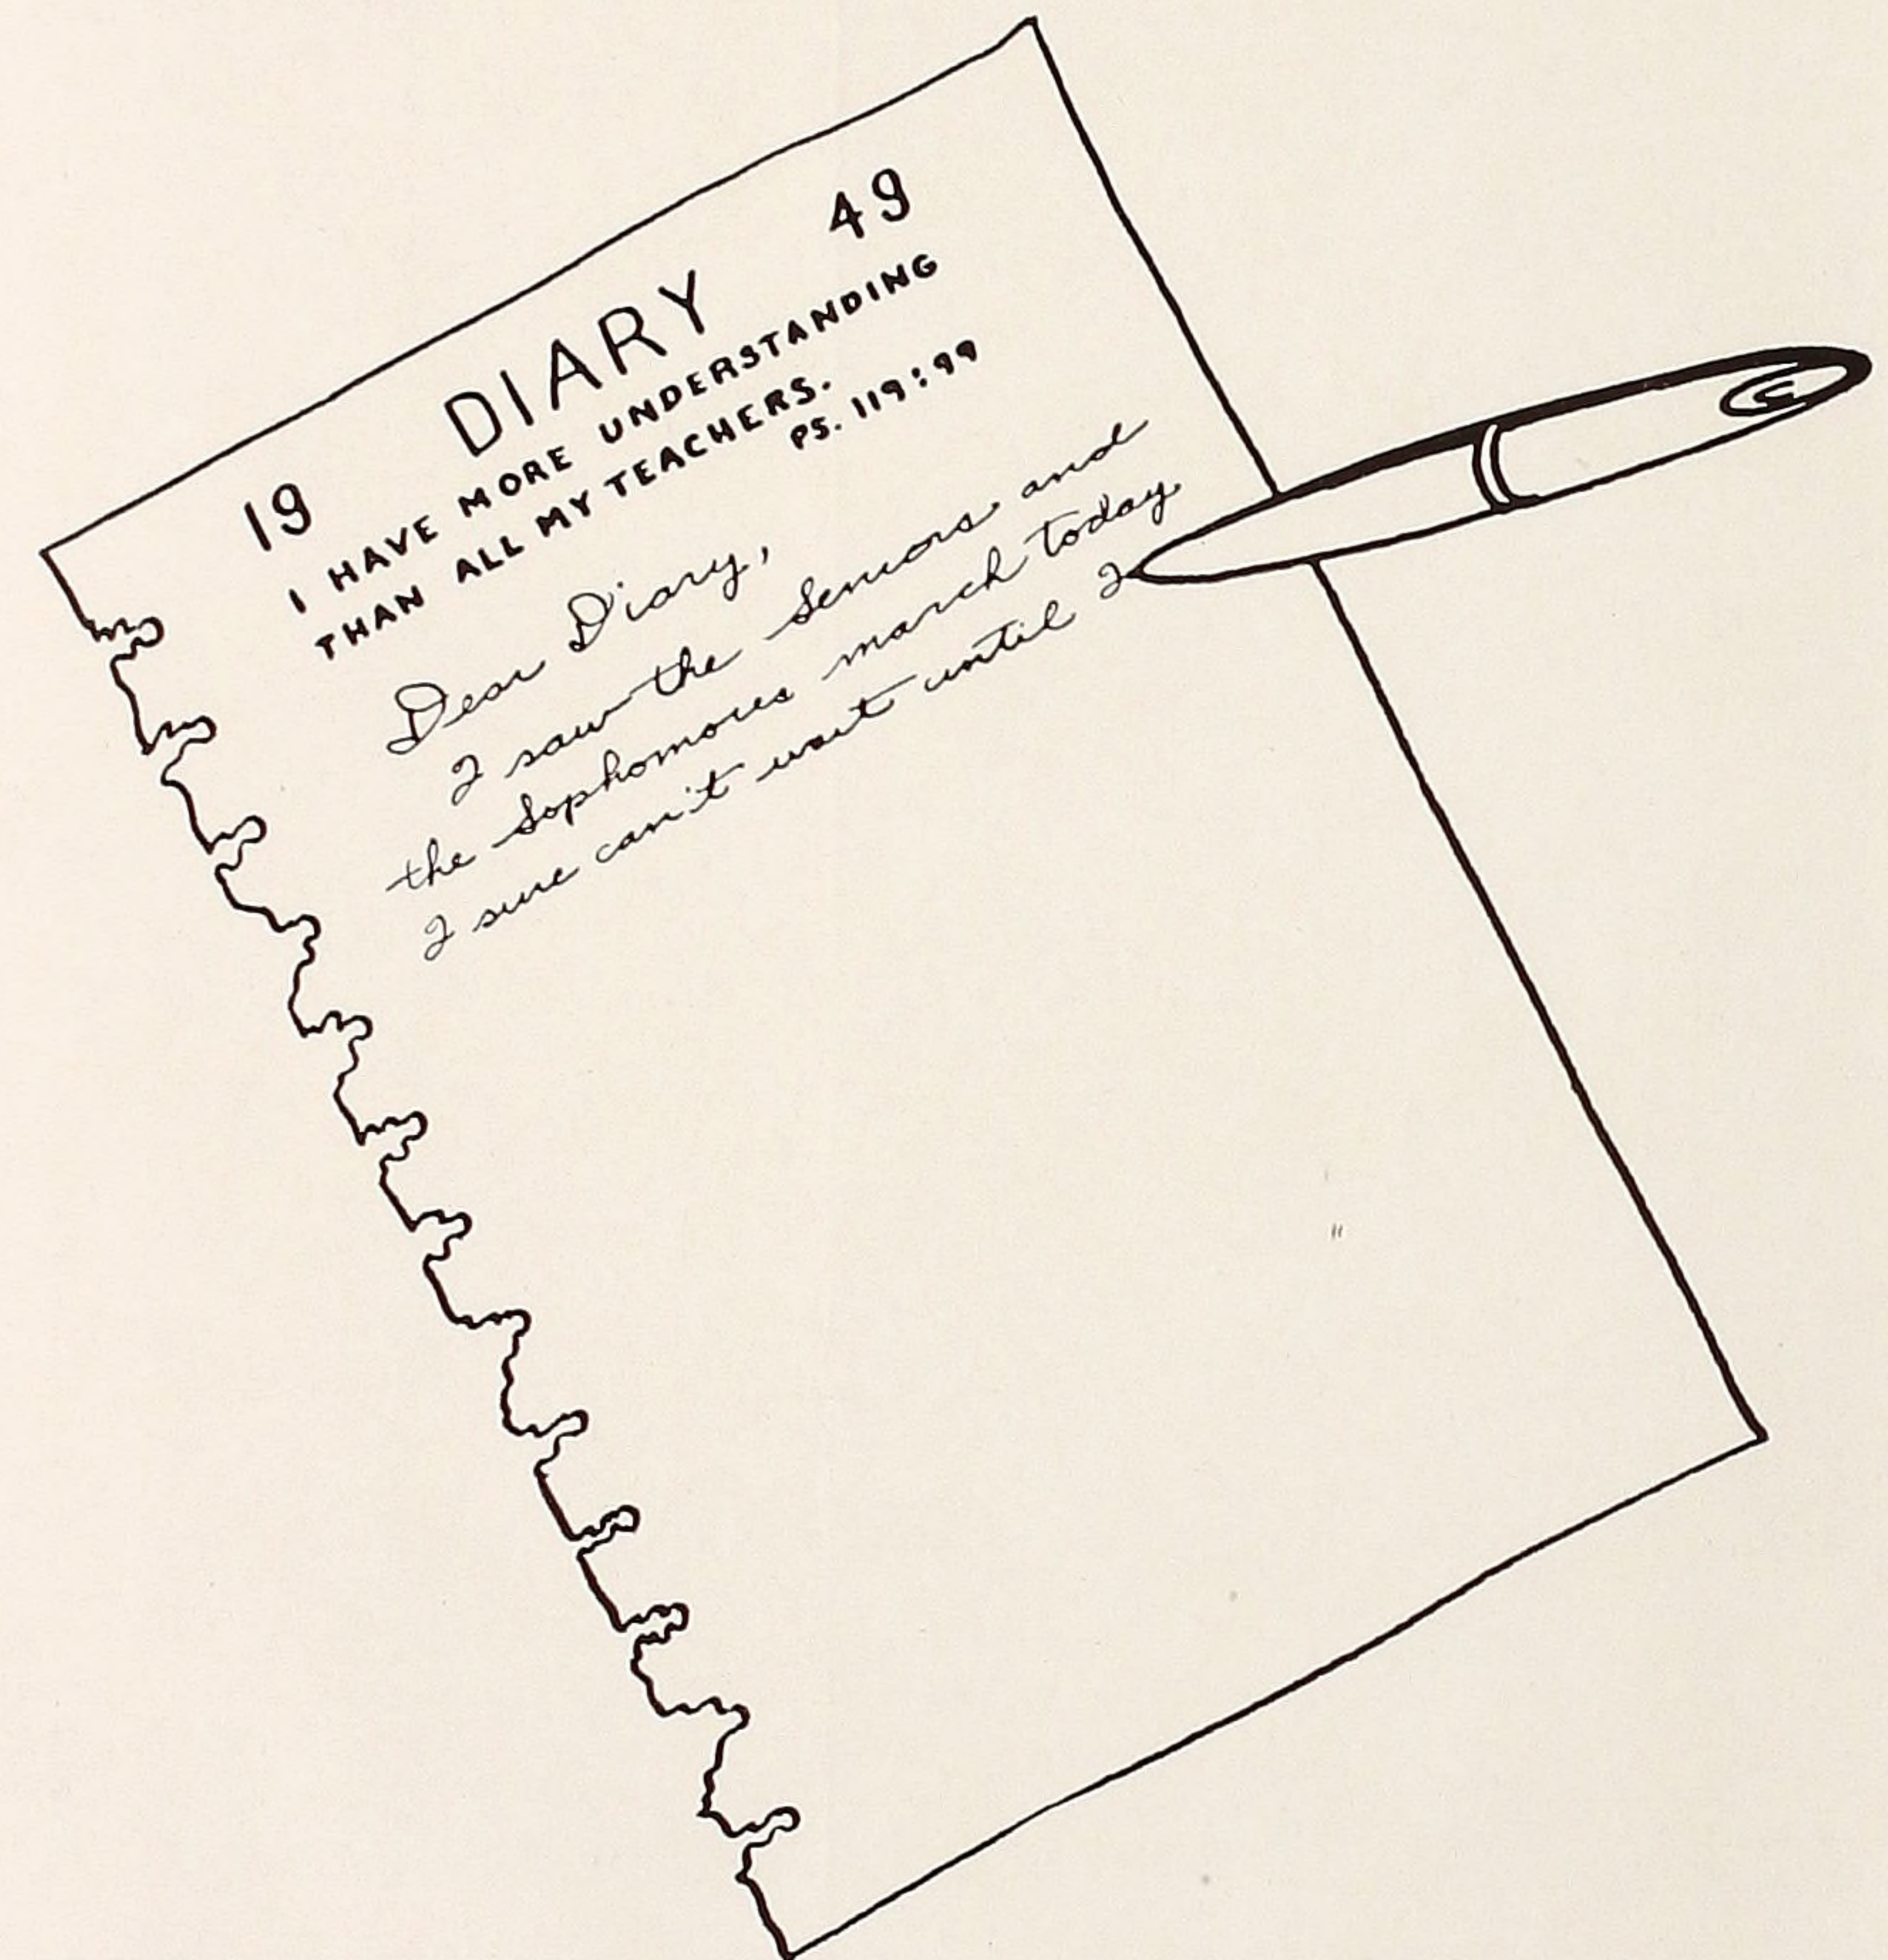

The evening was spent in an opera house where MISS McADAMS performed in a scene from "The Egg and I."

Leaving the opera quite early, we decided to accept MISS BLACK'S (better known as "Boogie" in her childhood) invitation to ice cream and cake made by her maid, ETHEL REED. MISS GORDON, physiotherapist, from the city institution for the complex-minded, entertained us by relating some events of interesting cases. We left early so as to be bright for the next morning, Sunday.

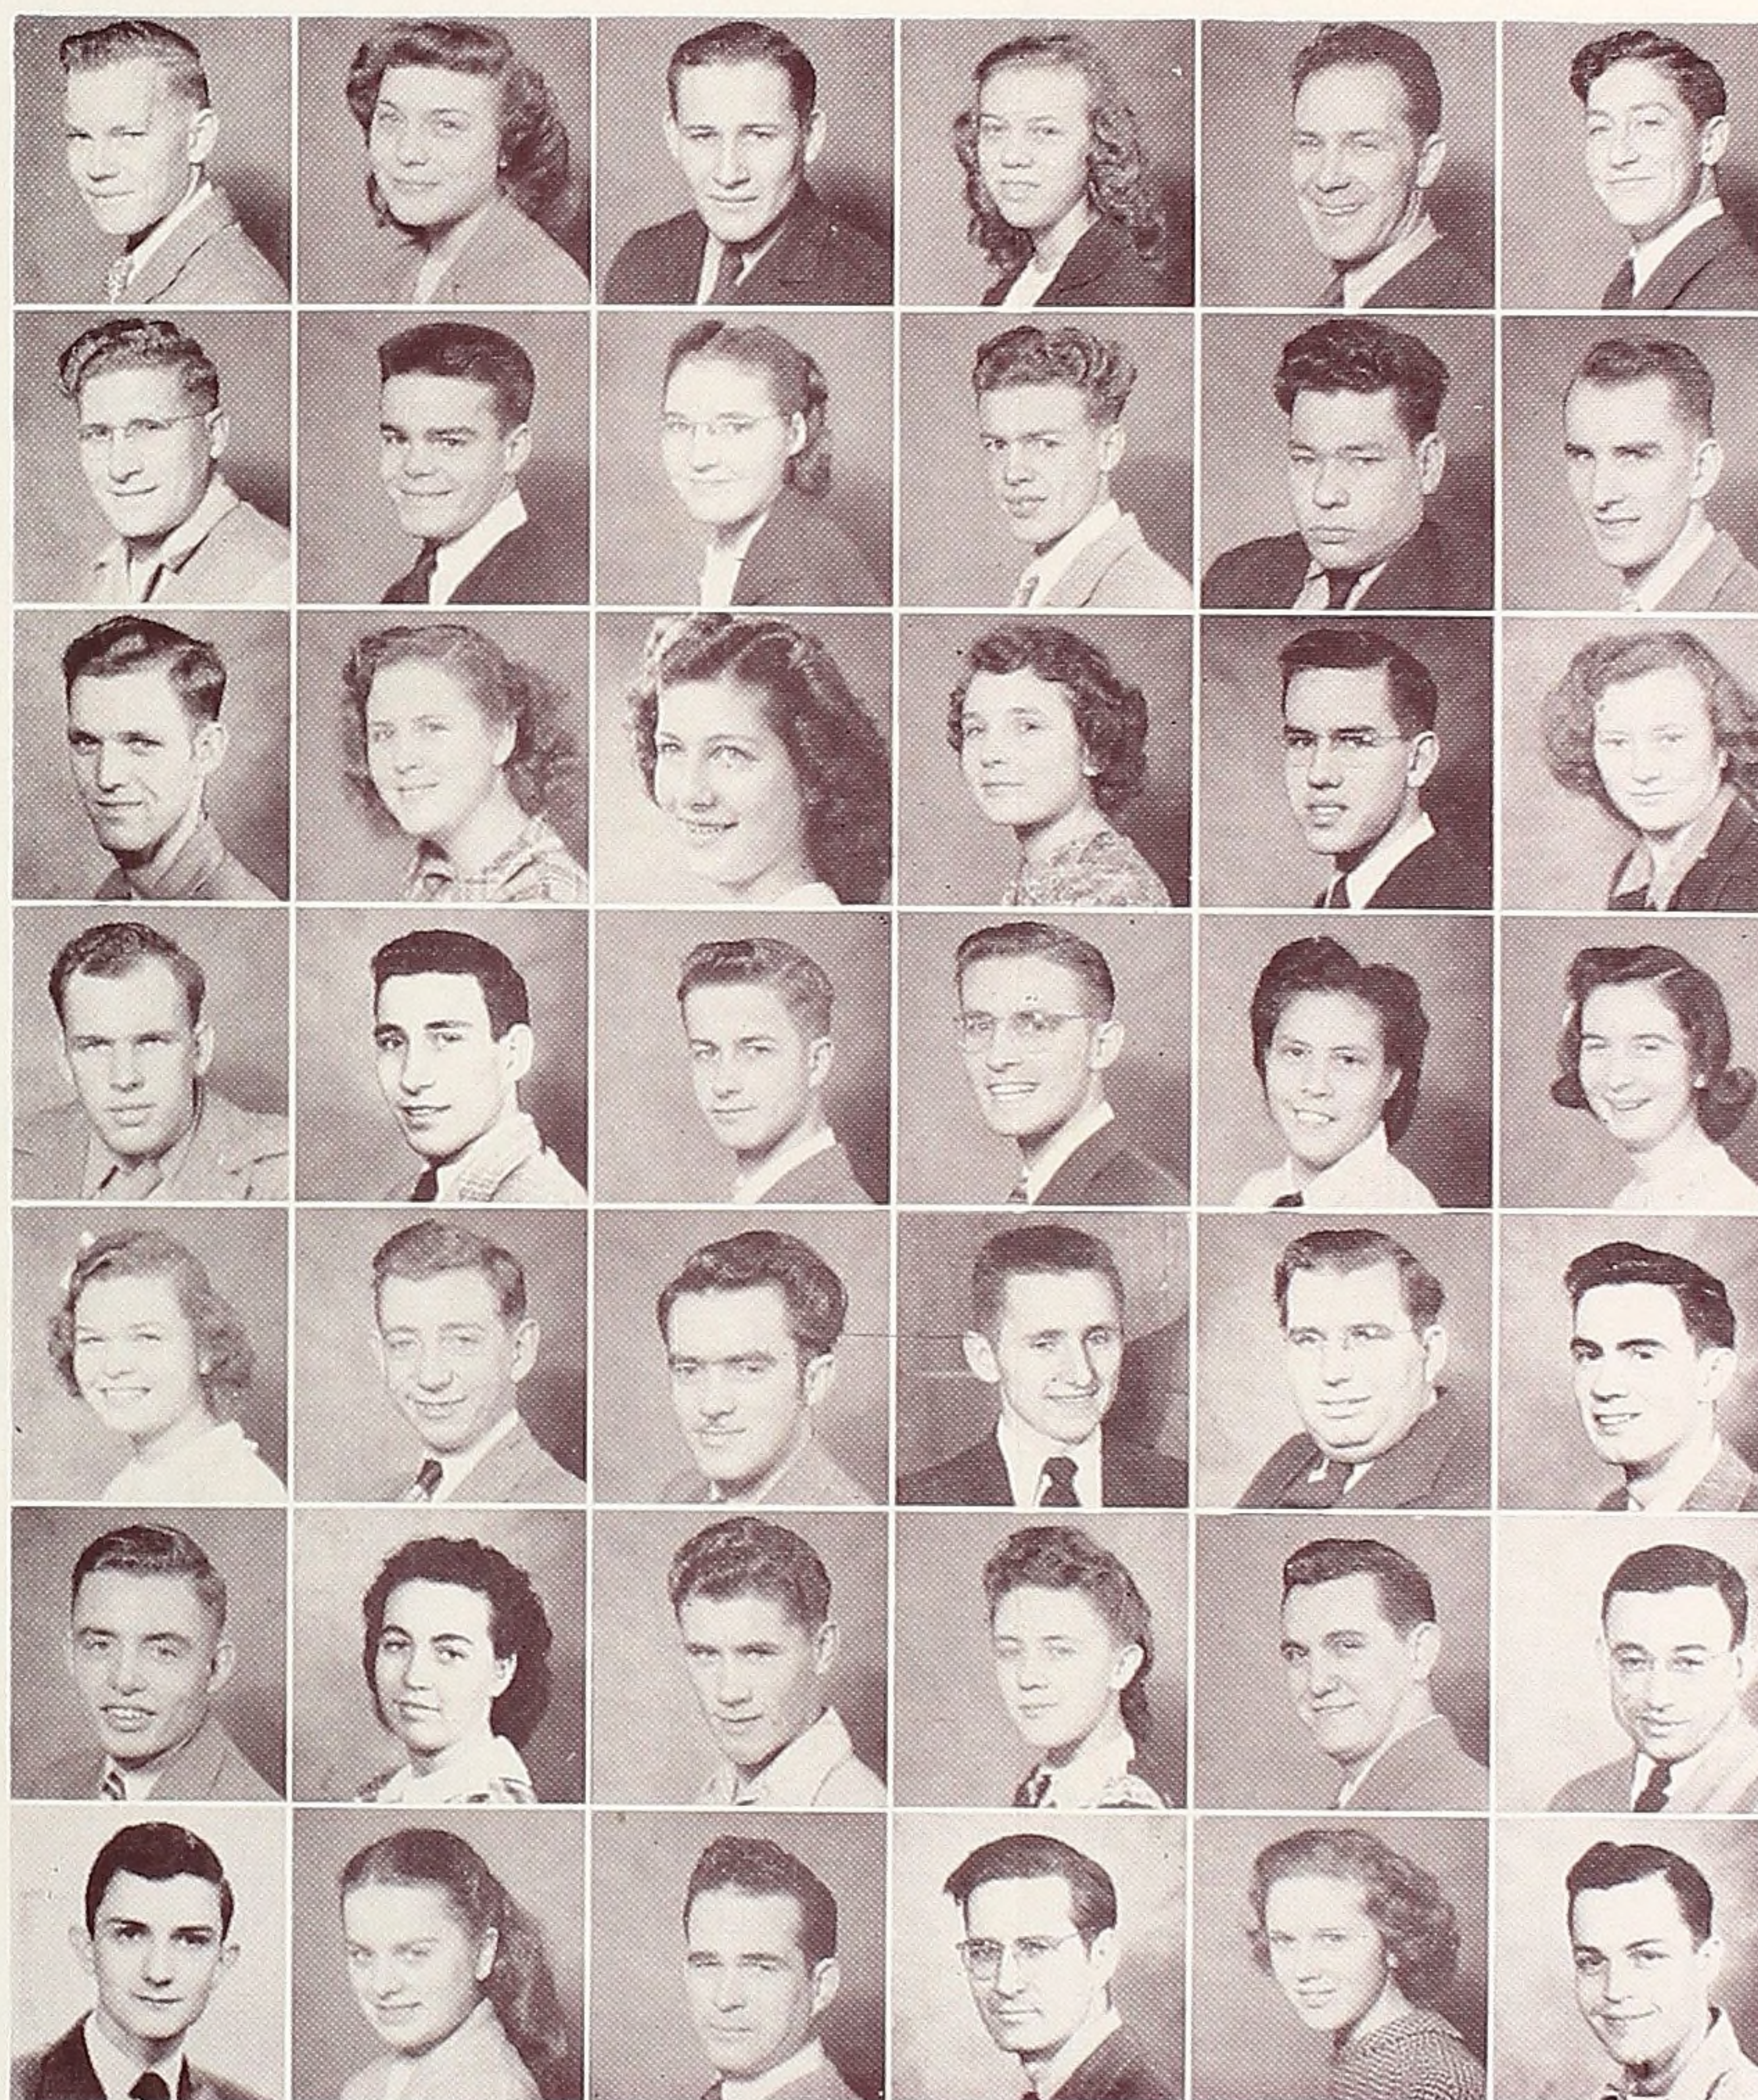

Arising again to the clang-clang of an A. G. STEVENSON electronic alarm, we breakfasted and went to church. Arriving at the church, we were ushered by BR. HYNDMAN, known as a loyal layman. The services were conducted by REV. GRANT SHATTUCK, with the special speaker for the morning being MISS BETTY BALDWIN, missionary on furlough. Special music was offered by a Ladies' Four-tet consisting of the MISSES ZELLER, SHOFF, BAREMOR, and BOADWAY.

What a relief to settle back in my berth on the pullman and relax to think of all the events of the weekend. What changes have been wrought! !

STUDENT COUNCIL

Behind the scene, this group was at work trying to better the student's life by discussing and voting on important school issues. It was made up of two faculty members and one student elected from each of the six classes. This organization has helped to promote cooperation and a feeling of equality between the faculty and the students.

RE-DIT STAFF

Where do you get the campus news? What would we do without the Redit in this respect? More important than the campus news were the articles which gave us food for thought. The students were eager to get one, and they read it through from cover to cover. This year the Redit had a new look, and was a bigger publication than before. It was edited by the Sophomore Class, and came rolling off the press every two weeks. The students appreciated this paper which gave them relaxation in the course of a hard day's work of studies.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

"We do not have much time to learn these songs!" The chorus heard this many times as they met to practice the songs they were going to sing on the tour. But through the able leadership of Miss Thompson, the singers were able to master the pieces, and they had a very enjoyable and successful trip. This group was chosen from the Messiah Chorus which did a wonderful job of giving us the privilege of again hearing the old, but ever new, "Messiah".

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

Spring Arbor not only provides a person with the opportunity of obtaining a secular education, but also of obtaining a religious education. This organization is very active in this respect by sponsoring street-meetings, calling groups, and Sunday-schools. The budding young ministers and song-leaders receive training in the Sunday afternoon services and the bi-weekly chapel talks. The members are consecrated, spirit-filled young people who are willing to go or stay. Their projects have been blessed by the Lord, and each member has been drawn closer to the Lord by taking up his cross.

Thrills were always awaiting the young people who were privileged to work this department. Speakers, quartets, and trios, under the leadership of Mr. Kingsley and Mr. Cryderman, were sent out week-ends to use their talents in the service of their King. They witnessed for Him who helped them so many times in their singing and speaking, and no doubt they have influenced many to consider the continuation of their schooling at Spring Arbor Junior College. The workers have been spiritually enriched with blessings innumerable.

ALL-STAR FOOTBALL

This fine group of players was chosen by the class athletic directors as talented representatives of their respective teams. They are, indeed, fine representatives of not only team workmanship and sportsmanship, but as individual stars in passing, running, punting, and blocking. This group did not play as a team, but we must concede that it is one of the finest groups of football players ever to assemble in Spring Arbor.

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

The College Freshmen, with a record enrollment and an abundance of good talent, formed two first class teams. Team number one came through to take the trophy without a loss or a tie to mar its record. The team, however, which gave them the greatest opposition, allowing them only one touchdown, was the College Sophomores who, incidentally, finished in second place.

After losing to Roberts a couple of times last year, the college realized that they would really have to train in order to be of any competition at all. Several exciting games were played with the high school and other fine teams, but finally came that all-important game with Roberts J. C. Encouraged by the victories of the High School Varsity and College Girls' team, the college went into the game determined to win, although underdogs. The score see-sawed back and forth throughout the game but was finally won by the score of 68-66, as Spring Arbor teams cheered the college on to victory.

GUARD
BILL HUYGHEBART

The Defending District Champions, with practically an entire new team, went into the district play-offs determined to bring back the much coveted trophy. Unfortunately, their frightfulness and inexperience deprived them of a good start, which might have led them to victory. The team, however, made a fine showing at Roberts, defeating them by a very lopsided score. Coach McDonald's prospects are better for next year, and the team should do better.

COLLEGE BASEBALL

It didn't take long after the first sign of spring before the fellows were out on the diamond preparing it for a season of the traditional American sport. After several weeks of training, the fellows looked as neat as the uniforms they were wearing, which, incidentally, were donated to the school by Mr. Shaw of Lapeer. Although many games were played with keen competition, the college came out victorious a good share of the time.

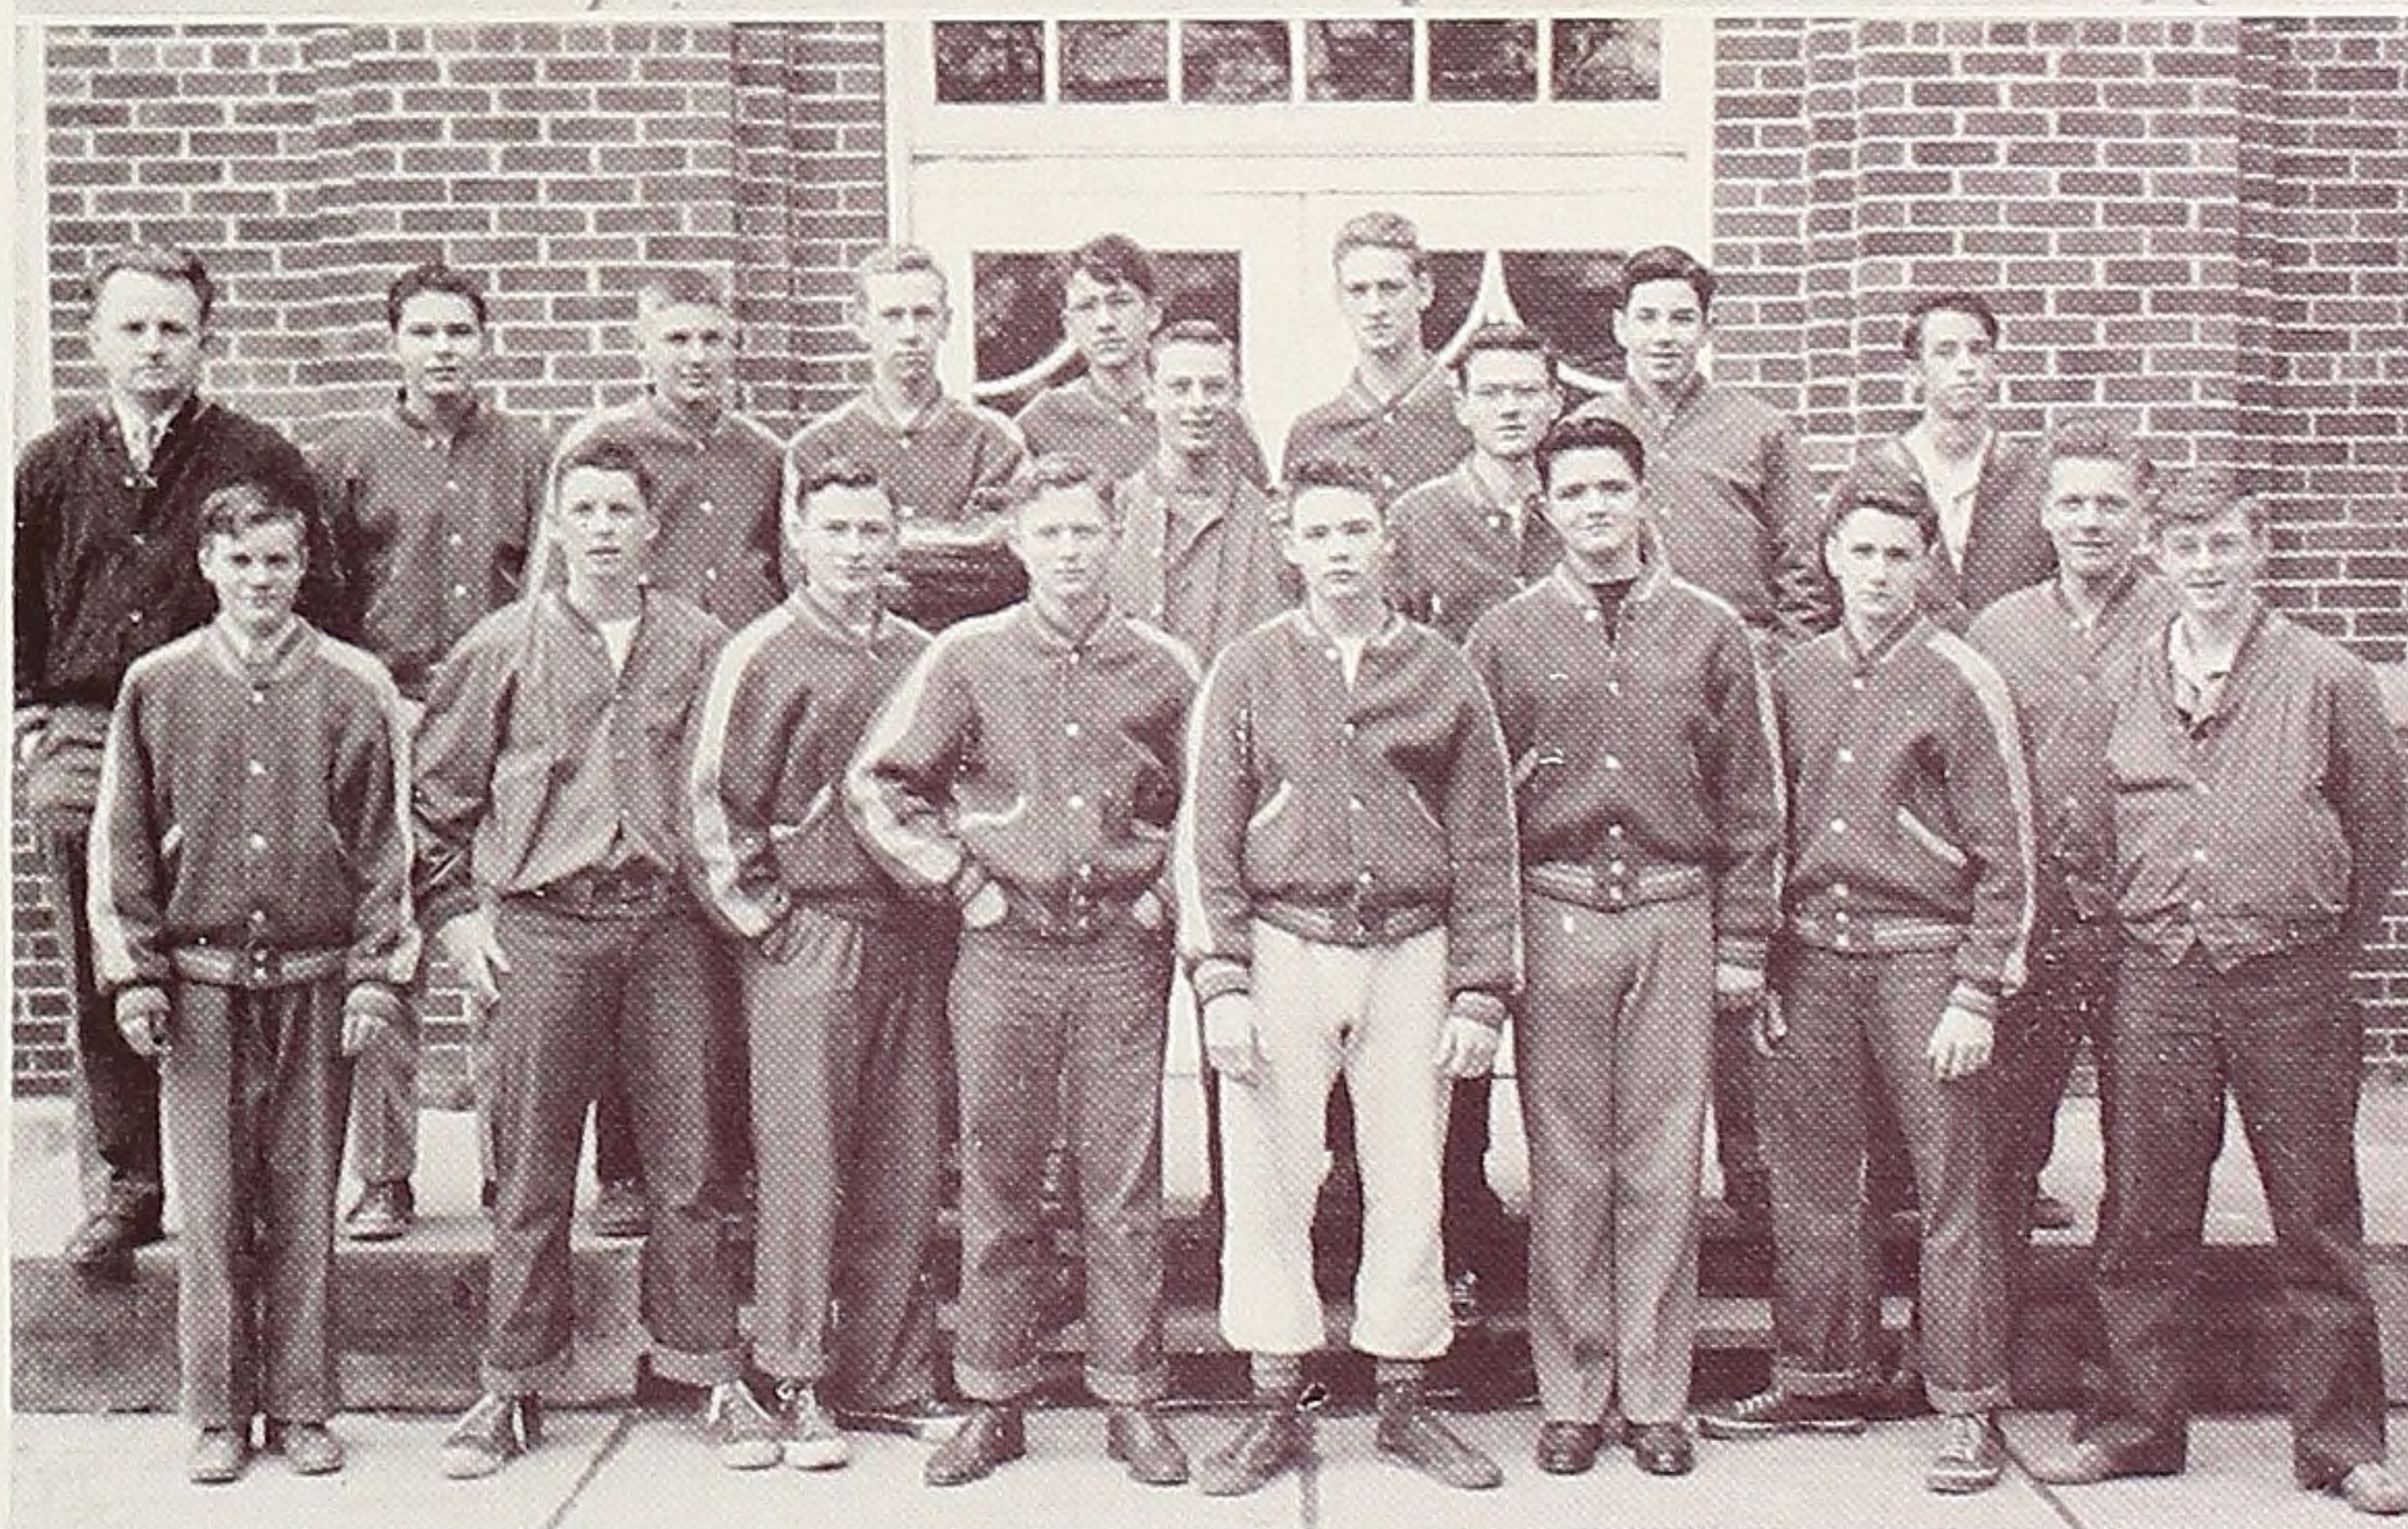

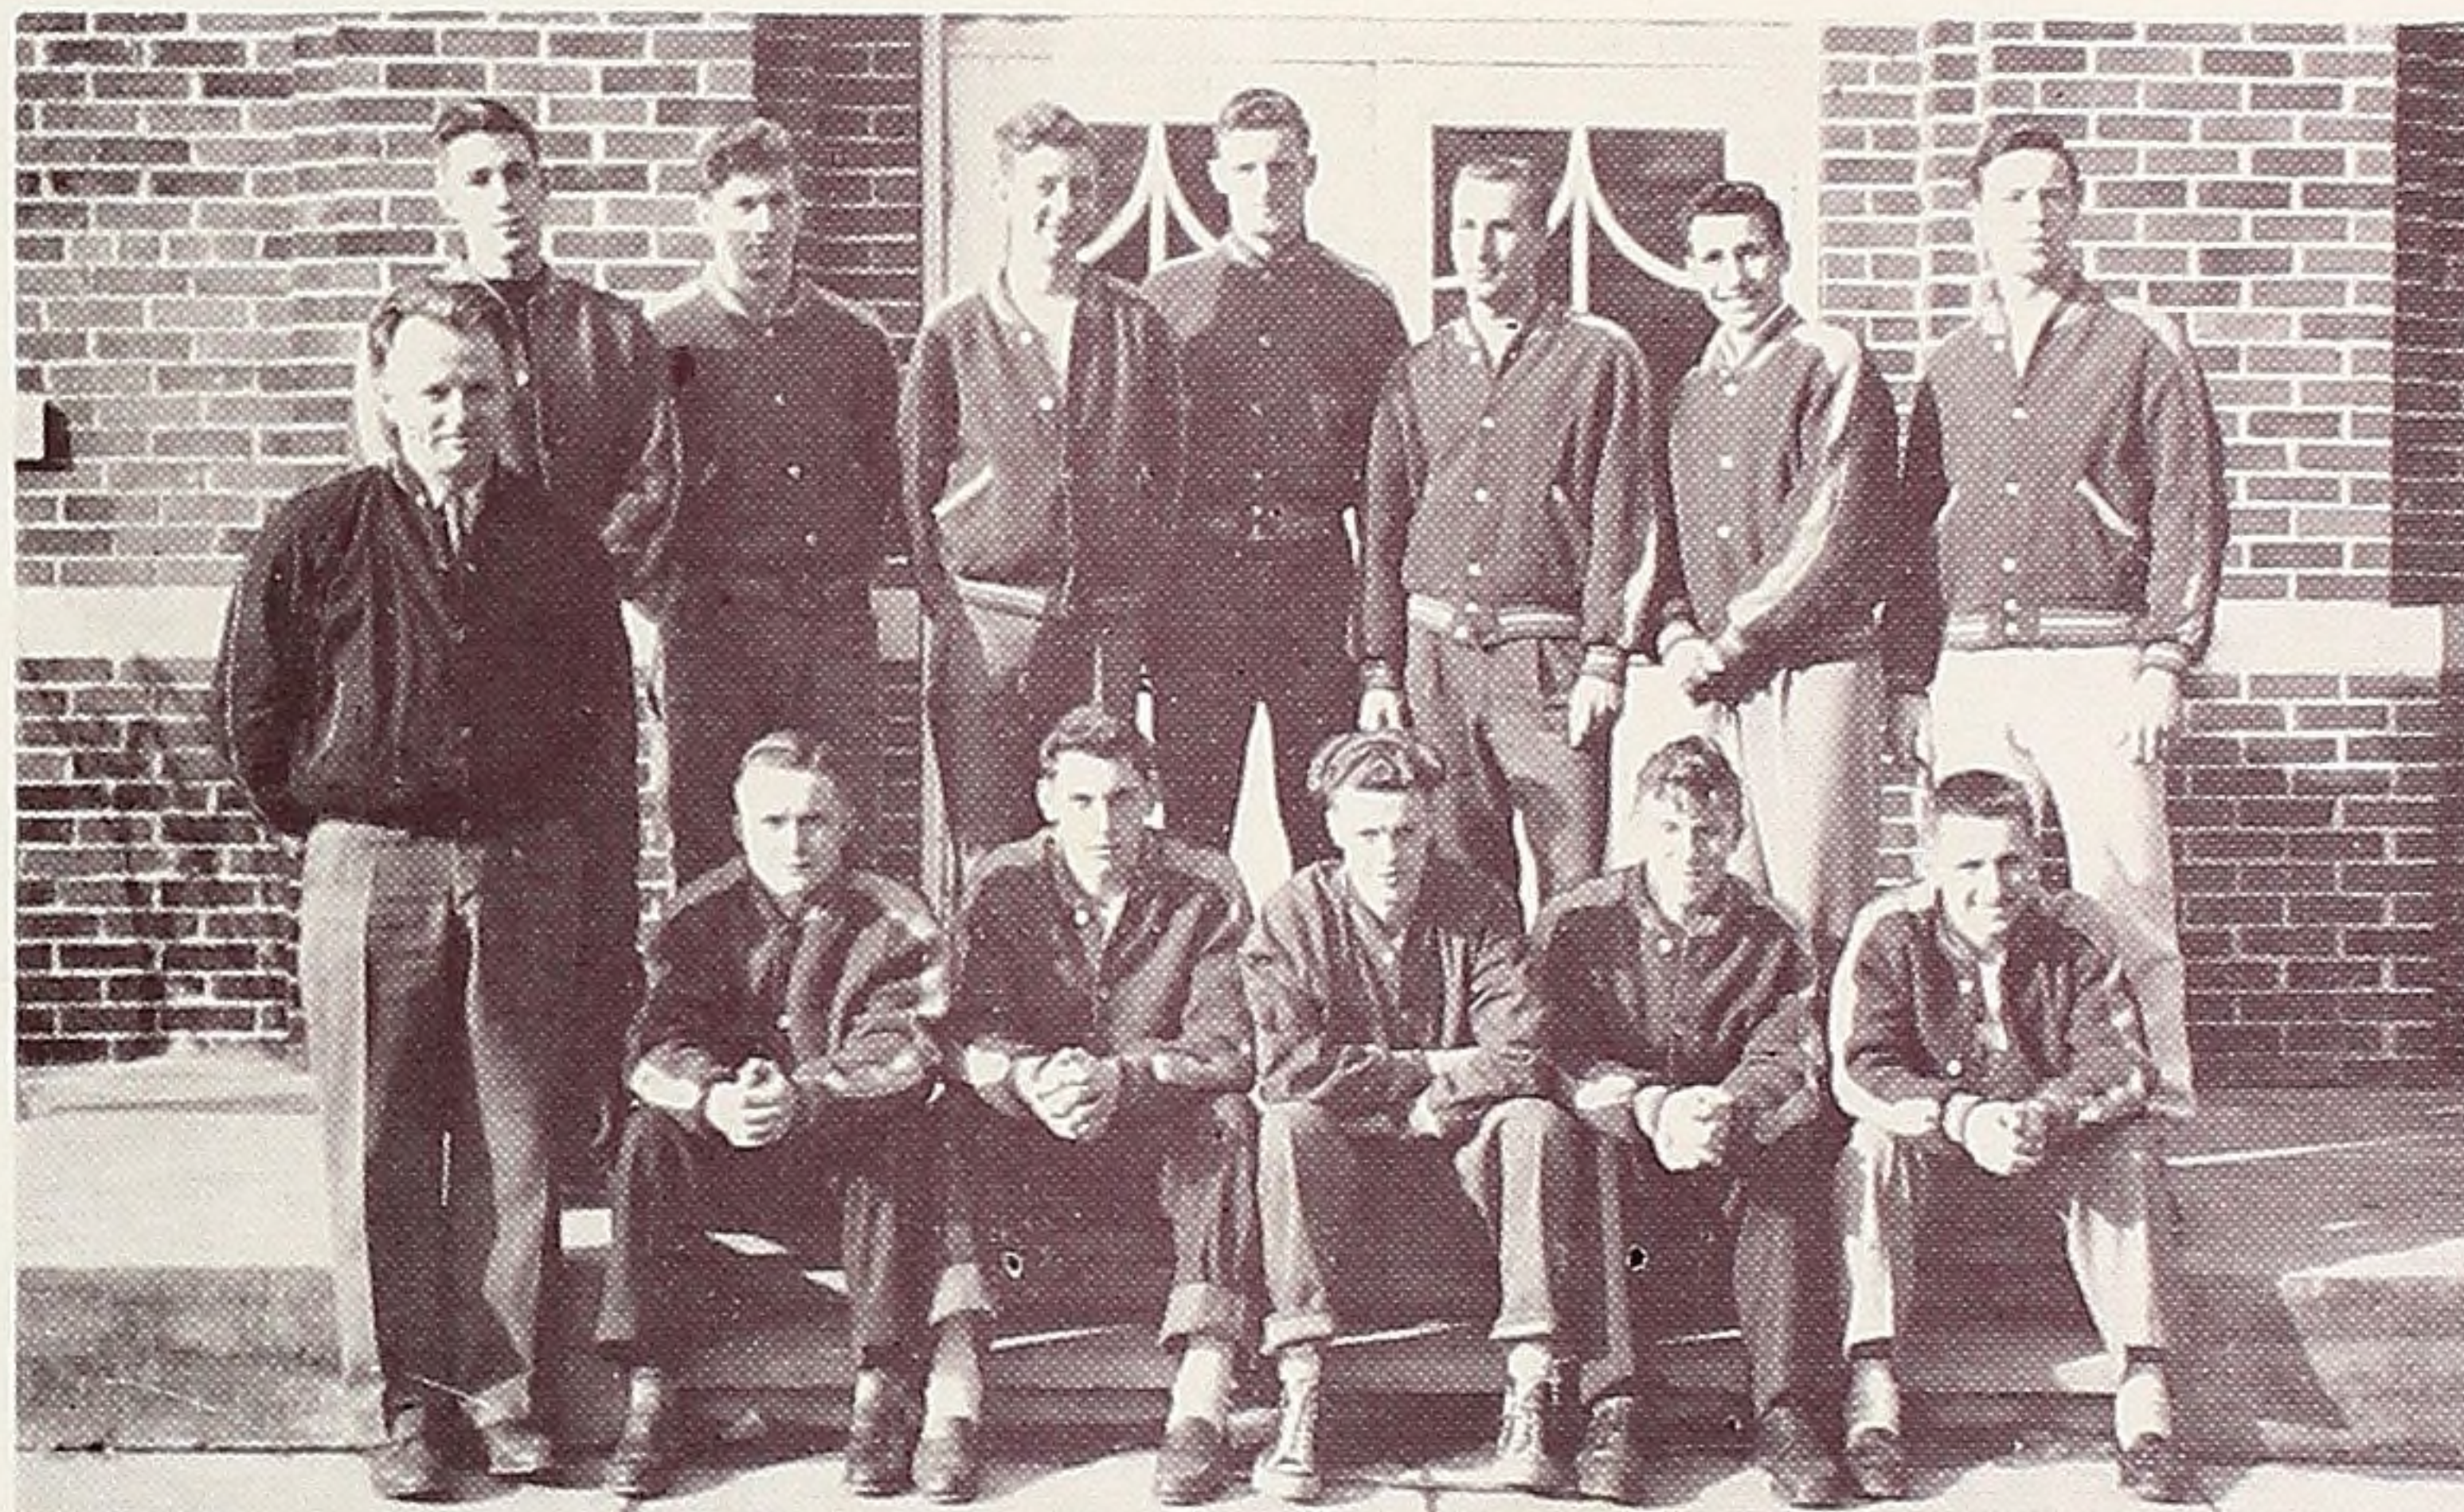

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL

The high school, beginning its second year as a team separate from the college, was determined to make it a successful year. As we were watching the squad, we noticed many new players, nevertheless, a hustling young ball club, which would make any manager happy. We were not a bit surprised when the team, with spectacular fielding and consistent hitting, piled up many victories.

COLLEGE TRACK

Though plagued by the absence of sixteen of its twenty members of last year, the college track team was highly talented in both track and field events. Among the members was Wilbur Williamson, track champion of last year.

Field Day was again held this year, as is the custom at S. A. J. C., with awards going to the individual winners of each event as well as to the champion, both class and individual.

HIGH SCHOOL TRACK

As in basketball, Coach McDonald had to form a completely new team with the exception of one member. Many of the enthusiastic members began their training as early as January, all of which proved worthwhile when tournament time rolled around. Many of these members brought back the much coveted awards.

SPORT SNAPS

COLLEGE VARSITY

An aggressive spirit has taken the college girls a long way this year. With their whole-hearted cooperation and fast plays, they have proved a conquering team. Their victories were increased by a trip to Roberts Junior College. The final score was 34-12.

HIGH SCHOOL VARSITY

This team has played several enthusiastic games of basketball. Sometimes a streak of luck seemed to possess the forwards in making baskets, but then they were there when the emergency called for hard work. Sportsmanship, clean playing, and a fighting spirit has been the aim manifested by this year's team.

COLLEGE GIRLS INTRAMURAL CHAMPIONS

Intramural basketball games aroused high excitement this year with the College Sophomore Class taking first place. After two rounds of games had been played, they came out undefeated. They know what success in any athletic contest requires, and that is "teamwork."

CHEERLEADERS

The enthusiastic cheers of the five girls really helped us in maintaining our school spirit. They have a lot of peppy yells that have guided our players to several victories.

SOFTBALL

Each fall the most exciting games of every school year are played at the All-School Picnic in Ella Sharp Park. This year the College Sophomore Class came out on top.

As the warm breezes ushered in Spring again, the thump of ball meeting bat was heard as the girls enthusiastically prepared for the season's intramural games.

The enjoyment of electric and gas service depends, much like an education, on the degree to which it is used.

Wires and mains, like brain cells and nerve centers, are full of potential energies needing but to be called upon to bring to you new realms of convenience, helpfulness and comfort.

These services are aiding in creating new standards of living, in shortening and lessening domestic labor and through the allowing of more time for relaxation, leisure and recreation, such services contribute to health, and longer and fuller lives.

These advantages, both economic and personal, are yours for but a few cents a day—one of your soundest investments.

GOOD HEALTH

One of the most valuable things a graduate student can have for making a mark in the world is good health. Safeguard yours by seeing your doctor regularly, taking his prescriptions to the Chemist Shop and getting sickroom supplies or surgical appliances from the Surgical Supply Center.
